FARM, GARDEN AND HOUSEHOLD.

Hay Making.

It is known by almost every farmer that ch good grass is lost by the slip-shod y that it is made into hay. A radical re- m is needed in this line of farming. Let try to get that nice bright green hay that ells so sweet. We generally have that d ourselves, if the weather gives us half hance.

t is known to the farmer that all grass l clover has a certain quantity of gum, ar, &c., which are lost when allowed to ach, or in other words, washed away by rain. But as long as the grass is fresh rain will have no effect, owing to the x or gum which still covers the whole getable matter. It is when the hay is ut half made that danger comes in this e, and often the whole crop, is injured continually turning. In showery weath- we say never turn more than is really essary, better let it lay a little, for as g as the grass is fresh looking re is but little danger from the s of the elements which make good hay. e have found that the quicker hay can be de, the less it loses that bright, rich co- , and is much less liable to spoil when in stack or bay. Hay as a general thing is much dried. Unless the grass be very ck and heavy, it will generally cure suf- ently when exposed in the swath for two ys. When shook or stirred out, should t remain in this condition beyond the first y, or it will thus lose much of its nutri- e juices. Yet we have cut our grass in forenoon and hauled it in the barn late the afternoon, and never had sweeter y than when cured in this way. We ver put our hay in cocks unless it threat- s rain. The talk of salting and liming y we have never found necessary.

The time we prefer for cutting clover is ien it is in full bloom, just before it be- s to become brown, after it lays about m two to five hours we put it in small cks, and there let it cure, thus cured, it ps its color, and in handling, the leaves e all saved, and not scorched and black- ed up like tea from the scorching effects our June and July sun.

The other grasses we cut just as the seeds beginning to get hard, and we often find t when cut just as going out of flower t the stock relish it better. Yet we pre- to cut it when the seed begins to harden. gives more muscle matter, but less fatten- matter.—Cor. Penna. Farm Journal.

Curculio.

Experiments made by Benj. D. Walsh, ting State Entomologist of Illinois, have l to the conclusion that there are two dis- ct broods of the plum curculio every ar, the first of which comes out in the tle state in the latitude of Rock Island, m about July 19th to August 4th, and e second from August 23d to September th. The first brood is generated by fe- les that have passed the winter in the tle state, and have attacked the early it, laying in the more matured fruit the g from which proceeds the second brood. he second brood of beetles come out late the same season, and the females, at all nts, if not the males, live through the nter, and repeat in the succeeding season e process detailed above. Thus it ll be seen at once the curculio differs m the apple worm or Codling moth— ich is also double brooded—in this, that e former passes the winter in the perfect te, and the latter in the larva and pupa tes. The practical inference to be drawn m this discovery is, that by destroying June or early in July the first wormy it that produced the first brood, the crop curculios for the current year is dimin- ed. We would urge upon fruit growers e importance of testing an antidote re- mmended by Col. Anderson, President of e Horticultural Society. The President ated that he had read, not long since, that e application, by means of syringes or rinklers, of water and vinegar, in the oportion of one part of the latter to nine the former, had been tried in France with eat success, and that he had since tried it egg plants and other vegetables with ppy results; not an insect of any kind d injured the plants since. Whether or t it would have the same effect on the rculio he was unable to say, but thought worth the trial.

Dissatisfaction of the Boys With Farming.

Among the reasons for dissatisfaction with rm life, is the fact that parents fail to inter- t their sons in the farm and its surround- gs. Young people often wish to have ings look well about the buildings with a ug little flower garden, &c. But if they tempt to put things to right they are called f to the potato field in a manner that indi- tes that attention to these home matters is waste of time, and that time spent about ese improvements is fooled away.

Is it strange that we get tired of drilling h corn, all the season? And when the oduce is all sold in the fall, what share or terest have we in the proceeds? When the e boys visit the city or village with empty ckets, and see what other boys have, is it wonder that they determine to leave the rm as soon as possible?

When the farmers will endeavor to en- urage their sons by giving them personal terest in their business as co-partners, or herwise, as merchants do their faithful erks, and allow them the occasional use horse and carriage, and some spending oney, I think they will have less occasion mourn over the uneasiness of the boys, nd will find their sons more willing to re- ain upon the old homestead, and cheer eir declining age. Adopt this course and ere will be less idlers in our cities and nd villages.—Cor. N. E. Farmer.

What is a Hay-Tedder.

The hay-tedder is a hay-shaker worked y horse power, and affording (like so any of the modern farm implements) a omfortable spring seat for the man who perates it. It has a revolving reel, armed ith fingers of spring steel, which tosses the ay—from the swath or behind the mow- g machine—in such a manner as to air it nd dry it much more rapidly than it can e done by the old way. Old farmers who ave tried it say they would sooner part with their mowing machines than with heir hay-tedders. By the aid of both and f the horse hay-rake grass may be cut at ine o'clock, after the dew is off, and be put n the barn in good condition by four in the fternoon on any fine day. In settled dry eather it is well to cut the grass just before ight, and to shake it out in the morning nd keep it moving all the forenoon. After inner it may be hauled in time to allow he team to be used to cut again for the next lay.

Green Manuring.

There are several plants which are avail- ble for green manuring, of which the com- on or red clover seems best adapted to our limate. It soon reaches its growth, has a arge amount of leaves and stems, and its oots are large and fibrous, and run very leep. Rye also forms a very good crop for reen manuring, but requires more time han clover, is more expensive, and derives nore of its substance from the soil.

In Europe, buckwheat, vorage, rape, retch and turnips are used for that purpose. Johnson writes, "That in no other way can the same crop convey to the soil an equal amount of enriching matter as in the leaves and stem."

One great advantage of green manuring is that these vegetable substances, when turned under, decompose rapidly, and soon benefit the crop. Another is, that grain manured in this manner never falls to the ground through weakness of the straw, but no matter how heavy the head it retains its erect position.

But we must not attribute all the benefit derived, to the leaves and stalks, for the roots in some cases contain as much bulk and nourishment as the leaves and stalks. It has been estimated that the weight of the roots left in the soil by a sod four years old was equal to one-twentieth more than the weight of the grass grown the fourth year.

Washing the Stems of Fruit Trees.

The bark of fruit trees lives for several years. In the apple we do not know exactly, but we believe about six. Annually a new bark is formed next the wood, and consequently the outside bark of a six-year old tree was formed six years before. After six years (about this) the bark dies and forms what is called rough bark, and this rough or dead bark remains on many years, getting thicker and thicker from the under side, with each year's accumulations.

Writers on tree-washes make no distinction between the different stages—hence apparent contradictions are common, which the reader cannot reconcile. For instance, a correspondent of the Canada Farmer says he nearly ruined his orchard by washing the trees with soapsuds as strong as he could make it, and putting on about half a pailful to the tree, and a neighbor killed his trees entirely by putting soap grease upon them to keep sheep from gnawing the bark.

This was, no doubt, put on young, smooth, live bark, which it would no doubt injure. He who had recommended it had no doubt tried it on old trees with rough bark, to which it would be a benefit.

Measuring Boxes and Barrels.

A barrel contains 10,752 cubic inches. A box 24 inches long by 16 inches wide and 29 inches deep, that is on the inside, will hold just a barrel.

A half barrel—Make a box for this 24 inches by 18 and 14 inches deep. This will contain 6,376 cubic inches, or just half a barrel.

A bushel—This has 2,150 2-10 cubic inches. A bushel box will be 16 8-10 inches square and 8 inches deep.

A half bushel—A box 12 inches long by 11 2-10 inches wide and 8 inches deep will hold half a bushel.

A peck—A box 8 inches by 8 4-20 inches square and 8 inches deep is a peck.

A half peck—Is 8 by 8 inches square and 4 2-10 inches deep, or 298 2-10 cubic inches.

A half gallon—This contains 134 4-10 cubic inches. A box 7 by 4 inches and 4 8-10 inches deep has just that quantity.

A quart—4 by 4 inches square and 4 2-10 inches deep.

QUINCES.—The quince seems to flourish best on a rather stiff, moist soil, in somewhat sheltered locations. We have often seen trees or bushes loaded with fruit, growing beside brooks or around small ponds. We know of no reason why the cultivation of this fruit should be neglected; for there is always ready sale for it. The plants are easily grown from cuttings, and soon come into a bearing state. They may be planted six feet apart in the row, with rows ten feet apart. The trees are quite long lived, and usually healthy and hardy. The worst enemy to the quince is the borer, the same plan may be adopted for the destruction of the borers in the quince as in the apple. Fruit growers having a soil suitable for this fruit should certainly devote time and space to its cultivation; for at the prices for which it has been selling, no fruit will pay a better profit.—Am. Jour. Hort.

FRENCH METHOD OF RAISING TOMATOES.—As soon as a cluster of flowers is visible, the stem is topped down to the cluster, so that the flowers terminate the stem. The effect is, that the sap is immediately impelled into the two buds next below the cluster, which soon push strongly and produce another of flowers each. When these are visible, the branch to which they belong is also topped down to their level; and this is done successfully. By this means the plants become stout dwarf bushes, not above eighteen inches high. In order to prevent their falling over, sticks or strings are stretchen horizontally along the rows, so as to keep the plants erect. In addition to this, all the laterals have no flowers, and after the fifth topping, all laterals, whatsoever, are nipped off. In this way the ripe sap is directed into the fruit, which acquires a beauty, size, and excellence, unattained by other means.

TOADS FOR GARDENS.—A correspondent of the Lamoille News Dealer says he successfully defends his vine patch by laying boards between the rows, in such a manner as to afford shelter to toads in the day time, and leave it undisturbed, so that they will make their home under it, which they will do in great numbers. At night they sally out and devour every bug, and grow fat as aldermen. He says he has a dozen or more of these little philanthropists making their home under a single board not more than six feet long.

TO DESTROY INSECTS ON FRUIT TREES.—A writer to the London Journal of Horticulture says that either common alcohol or methylic alcohol (wood spirit,) as a wash, will destroy the wooly aphis and other insects on fruit trees more effectually than soft soap, sulphur wash, or any other compound generally used for that purpose.

CURE FOR FOUNDERED HORSES.—Take a lump of alum the size of a walnut, powder it and dissolve in warm water. The horse must be drenched in this liquor and it will throw him into a profuse perspiration, and he will soon be as well as ever, it should be done as soon as you ascertain his condition.

THE State Guard says: We have never witnessed an equal amount of interest shown in a State Fair, to that already exhibited for the fair to be held in the suburbs of Harrisburg, in September next.

Most Bitters of the present day that are loudly puffed through the newspapers as having great curative properties are vile compounds and base impositions, containing no medicinal virtues whatever, and are really very poor whisky beverages, and, instead of acting as a stimulant and tonic, have a tendency to weaken the stomach by entirely destroying the coating. The public should therefore be very cautious and purchase none but Roback's Stomach Bitters, which have stood the test as a remedial agent for many years, and are really as their name indicates, a stomach bitters and not a beverage. They combine the properties of the best tonic and a stimulant—a laxative, an efficient and anti-bilious agent and the best stomachic known to the world, and when taken in conjunction with Roback's Blood Pills, are the safest and surest preventive against all bilious derangements, thoroughly regulating the whole system and giving tone to the digestive organs.

They are highly recommended as an invigorating tonic to mothers while nursing, increasing the flow of milk, and for convalescents, to restore the prostration which always follows long-continued sickness, they are unsurpassed. No household should consider themselves safe from the ordinary maladies without these invaluable medicines. They can be obtained of any druggist.

MEDICAL.

A GREAT CURE OF ASTHMA.

I feel myself under obligations to you, as well as a duty I owe to others who have been like sufferers with myself, in order that they may know where they can get cured. I had been subject to violent, continued attacks of ASTHMA for more than six years, and had been to great expense and to various medical men of experience without obtaining any permanent relief, or relieved at all. I was so bad that I never knew what it was to be free from the disease. I had to sit up in bed every night for weeks and weeks, without any prospect or hope of cure. My condition was such that I felt life a burthen, and when I got an attack I felt in danger of suffocating every moment. So terrible had been my suffering that my mother says that she has seen me so near suffocation that I was nearly black in the face from the desperate efforts made to get breath. In the cold winter nights, many a night with the doors and windows of the house thrown wide open, in order to hinder the apparent danger of strangulation. In this condition, on the 13th of October, 1866, having heard of DR. KEYSER'S skill in curing this disease, I called on him, in company with my husband, Joseph Meyeral, but I must confess with a great deal of doubt as to effecting a permanent cure. DR. KEYSER examined me carefully, and my lungs all over, with his LUNG SOUND, and told me that with care I would get well. I persevered with his medicines for over a year, and am to-day in vigorous health, and totally FREE FROM THE ASTHMA, and its terribly disagreeable attendants. I have had, once in a while, a slight attack of the disease, but I regard my health as entirely re-established, and if I do have any attack, a few doses of the Doctor's medicine immediately relieves it. I cannot feel too thankful for the exemption from a disease which used to cost me whole weeks and months of loss of sleep, besides suffering which none but those who are subject to this disease can fully appreciate or describe.

NANCY MEYERS,
MARY MOUNT JOY, (her mother,)
GEORGIANA FISHER.
Birmingham, Dec. 9, 1867.

The case of Mrs. Meyers, recited above, is one of more than ordinary importance, because of the violence of the attacks, their continued length, and the great prostration of all the vital powers attending the disease. Any one who knew her during the time she was a sufferer from the disease of which she was cured, and will look at her now, the very picture of robust health, cannot but admit that the cure is one of more than ordinary character, inasmuch as we hear of Asthma every day of our lives, being a disease of an incurable nature. Let those who doubt investigate for themselves.

SIGHT RESTORED.

The case to which we allude some weeks ago, of Christiana Fisher, of Beaver county, is now entirely confirmed by the appearance of Miss Fisher herself, who to-day called on DR. KEYSER in person, to thank him for his kindness and skill in restoring her to ENTIRE AND PERFECT SIGHT. Miss Fisher has been nearly blind for four months. She was so blind that she could not distinguish any object so as to make out what it was. The case is remarkable, as hundreds of cases like her's are doomed to never-ending darkness, on the flimsy pretext that there is no cure, and nothing can be done. She was under DR. KEYSER'S treatment for two months, and before she applied to him, through her brother, Simon P. Fisher, slight hopes were entertained of her ever getting her sight. Her case is well known in the neighborhood where she resides, and has been regarded as one of extraordinary recovery. We, the undersigned, knew of the cure of Miss Fisher, and bear willing testimony to the fact above stated.

DR. KEYSER—This is the list of names that I have to your advertisement of the cure of my sister, Christiana Fisher. They were all willing to put their names down, and were very much astonished to see that you brought her sight so soon. My mother sends her thanks to you; she says you are one of the greatest men in the world." She says if we had not come across you she believes her child would not be living at this time. We all join in sending our love and respects to you.

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION, RESULTING FROM PLEURISY, CURED.

Statement of GEORGE FORD, carpenter, of No. 16 Sampson street, Allegheny City:

I took a violent attack of pleurisy, in May, 1866, which left me with a cough lasting all summer, wearing away my strength and gradually undermining my health. During this attack of pleurisy I had several physicians of the highest reputation in the city. After I had partially recovered from the pleurisy, I was advised to go into the country, which I did, and when there I called in a doctor, who told me my lung was affected, and that if something were not done soon I would die of CONSUMPTION. I lingered on from this time until about the middle of June, my cough and lung disease gradually growing worse, and I weaker every day, and almost despairing of ever getting well. In this state of despondency, and knowing the general belief of the incurability of Consumption, and having heard of cures made by DR. KEYSER, and seeing his advertisement in the newspapers, I was induced in October last to call on the Doctor at his office, 120 Penn street, and had him examine my lungs with his "LUNG SOUND." He told me the upper lobe of my left lung was very much diseased, but he thought with great care and the perseverance in the use of his medicine, I would get well. At the time I called on Dr. Keyser my pulse was over one hundred and thirty beats in a minute, and I was generally prostrated, and had to cough night and day. I commenced the Doctor's treatment in October with a feeble, broken constitution, and continued it faithfully until the present time. The Doctor's medicines helped me from the very start, and I could gradually feel myself getting stronger, and my cough and expectoration lessening. I have gained greatly in flesh, and consider myself well; all the rattling of my lung has ceased, and my general health is in every way good. All my relatives and friends know of the advanced stage of my disease and my extraordinary recovery. One of the medicines given me by DR. KEYSER was a medicine called LUNG CURE, which I took in connection with the other treatment.

GEORGE FORD.
PITTSBURGH, March 30, 1868.

ANOTHER CURE OF CONSUMPTION.

Statement of John G. Wigham, of Turtle Creek, Allegheny county:

I was discharged from the United States army in January, 1866, on account of a wound in the head, from a shell, and a disease which the army physicians pronounced CONSUMPTION. I had a terrible cough, and fell away in strength and flesh, and was unable to do anything. Shortly after my return from the army, I made application to a physician of my neighborhood, and afterwards to another in Pittsburgh of high reputation, whose remedies I used faithfully for five months, without any benefit whatever, but rather grew worse, and settled in flesh and strength every day. In August, 1866, my mother took me to DR. KEYSER, of 120 Penn street, whose skill in such cases like mine had been highly spoken of, and put myself under his treatment. The Doctor examined my lungs very carefully with his LUNG SOUND, and told me that my left lung was badly diseased at the upper part, but if I was careful he thought he could cure me by following his directions closely, which I did from that day to this. I gradually improved under DR. KEYSER'S medicines from the first week I commenced to take them, and my general health has improved, and my chest, where it was sunken away, and where it pained me, has become full and strong and free from pain. I can now do a full day's work, and take great pleasure in giving my testimony in favor of DR. KEYSER'S treatment and medicines.
