Attempted Suicide—A Romance in Real Life—A Young Lady Takes Laudanum— Life—A Young Lady Takes Laudanum Her Lover Arrested and Committed

Yesterday morning about nine o'clock, an incident occurred at the Union Depot. which raised quite an excitement and for the time being relieved the monotony which usually provails at railroad stations. The excitement was caused by a young lady of prepossessing appearance and of a very respectable family, who it appears sought to swallow a large dose of laudanum, just as the cars arrived at the Union Depot, which doubtless would have proved fatal had not one of the passengers ob-served her take it and made the fact known served her take it and made the fact known to the conductor, who had her carried into a room, where the proper remedies were administered and the rash girl saved from death. The young lady referred to is a Miss —, from Johnstown, who for some time past has been visiting a relative in East Liberty. At Johnstown she had formed the acquaintance of a young man, who became very devoted in his attentions, and to whom, it is said, she became engaged. Shortly after her arrival at East and to whom, it is said, she became engaged. Shortly after her arrival at East Liberty a young man of that place, quite wealthy, as we are informed, commenced paying his addresses to her, but with no encouragement from herself. He persisted. and his suit was strongly favored by the girl's cousin and friends. They nrged her repeatedly to marry her new suitor, but she persistently refused. She was not in the least influenced by the "excellent the least influenced by the "excellent match" offered, but remained true to her Johnstown attachment. A few days since the young man from Johnstown came to East Liberty to visit the young lady. She received him cordially, but her friends did nothing of the sort. They turned an emphatic cold shoulder on him; according to the statements made by himself and the girl. He decided to return home vesterday, and the lady appropried that he yesterday, and the lady announced that she would accompany him to the city to see him off on the train. Accordingly the two started for Pittsburgh on the mine o'clock Wallia and the mine o'clock started for rittsburgh on the nine o'clock Wall's accommodation train. Before starting the lady sent a little girl to a drug store in East Liberty for something, and her lover saw her receive a small package which she placed in her pocket, but he states that he knew nothing of its contents. On the way to the city she seemed much cast down on account of the treatment her friend had received at the hands of her relatives, but so far as we could learn said atives, but so far as we could learn, said nothing of an intention of committing suicide. Shortly before reaching the depot, the young man left the seat and stood upon the platform, and just as the train was ap-proaching the platform some of the ladies who sat near the girl, saw her take a small vial from her pocket and quickly swallow the contents. This fact was communicated to the conductor, and in answer to his Supposed Robbery.—Officer Seth Wilmot of the Mayor's police brought in a number of hams last night which he had found secreted in Cecil alley. The supposition is that the robbery of a pork house in the visits that the robbery of a pork house in the visits that the robbery of a pork house in the visits come for and paper, stating that she wished to write some for any all masses to her than the robbery of a pork house in the visits come for any all masses to her than the robbery of a pork house in the visits come for any all masses to her than the robbery of a pork house in the visits come for any all masses to her than the robbery of a pork house in the visits and the robbery of a pork house in the visit to write some farewell messages to her friends. Instead of complying with her request, those in attendance administered copious draughts of warm and salt water, which had the desired effect. When Doctor

Hamilton arrived the proper antidotes were administered, and after working with her until about four o'clock last evening, the until about four o'clock last evening, the effects of the deadly drug were counteracted and the unfortunate girl considered out of danger. She was removed to one of the the larceny of $750. The parties reside in effects of the deadly drug were counteracted and the unfortunate girl considered out upper chambers in the hotel, where she still remains. The romance is not yet ended it appears.

The East Liberty lover, hearing of the affair, came to this city yesterday evening, and the result of his visit was an informaand the result of his visit was an informa-tion before Alderman Taylor by Jas. Bacon, charging James Quinn with administer-ing poison to the girl with felonious intent. Quinn was arrested, and being a stranger in the city, was unable to procure ball, consequently he was committed to jail for a hearing on the 8th inst. There don't ap-pear to be much of a case against him, how-ever, as the facts in the case, from the prosecutor's statement, appear to be about as we have given them.

Ridiculous Attempt at Suicide.

An amusing incident occurred on the St Clair street Suspension bridge yesterday afternoon, in the way of an attempted suicide. A man from Allegheny City, who it appears has been on a protracted drunk for several weeks, very sensibly concluded hat he was not fit to live, and wisely r solved to drown his sorrows and himself at one and the same time by jumping from the St. Clair street bridge into the waters of the Allegheny. Having fully made up his mind to relieve his friends and the community of so great a burden, he re-paired to the centre of the bridge and prepaired to the centre of the bridge and pre-pared to make the fatal leap. He stood the test manfally until he reached the jump-ing off place, when he gave way slightly. He had succeeded in climbing on top of the hand railing and was holding to the sus-pension wires above all ready to make the fatal leap, when he thought it best to in-form some one of his intentions, so that his friends might know where to find him. The gentleman he made the matter known The gentleman he made the matter known to very foolishly selzed him by the coat-tail and prevented him from taking a trip into eternity. When the rash man found that he was foiled in his attempt, he became furious in his efforts to free himself. but notwithstanding the gentleman who held him was much the smallest of the two, it did not appear to require much ex-ertion on his part to keep the would-be suicide on the safe side of the hand railing. He held him until assistance arrived, when the disappointed gentleman We would advise was taken to his home. him to select a less public place when he makes the next attempt, as such demonstra-

Drowned at Sewickly. George Haas, a young man employed by Mr. T. S. Guy, at the Sewickly ferry, was drowned in the Ohio river Sunday afternoon, while bathing. It appears that he met two friends on the opposite side of the river from Sewickly and one of the party proposed a bath. The three then undressed and waded into the water, none of them being able to swim. Haas had waded out some distance from the shore, when he suddenly slipped into a deep hole and was drowned, his companions being unable to render him any assistance. The body was recovered in about half an hour afterwards. Esquire Rudisill, of Sewickly, held an inquest, and a verdict of death by drowning was rendered.
