-"Aunt Hetty," an aged negress, the oldest inhabitant of Wellsboro, Pa., died last week. She was nearly an hundred years old.

-A young man riding on an Allegheny Valley Railread train thrust his arm out of the window and had it broke as a reward for his foolishness. est te

-Mayor Blackmore, of Pittsburgh, was the heaviest subscriber to the stock of the Chartiers Valley Railroad. He took one hundred shares. -A man participated in a sack race on and died the following night from the effects of over exertion. -J. B. McEnally; of Clearfield, has been appointed Sudge of the 25th Judicial District, to supply the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Judge Linn, -Two lads aged respectively seven and twelve years were drowned while bathing at Scranton. It was the old story one trying to rescue the other and both lest.

-Under the auspices of the Odd Fellows, the corner stone of the new Court House about to be erected in Franklin, Pa., will be laid next Wednesday evening. -Frank Thornton, an ambitious youth attempted to walk a tight rope at Franklin and fell to the ground, a distance of thirty feet, breaking his leg above the ankle. -A'Mrs. Zollinger, of Mansfield, Ohio, is in jail for putting too much; arsenic in biscuit baked for her daughter-in-law. The latter and her brother ate the buscuit and were pretty nearly killed with the dose. -Miss Franklin, a young lady of Bradford, Pa., was in a wagon, when the horses ran away. She jumped out, but her crinoline caught on the step of the vehicle, and she was dragged, with head and body on the ground, a distance of nearly a mile. She was terribly bruised, and died almost instantly after being rescued from the horrible position. -Zanesville was visited by a terrible storm on Wednesday, the most severe that has ever swept over that part of Ohlo. During its continuance some laborers took shelter under a shed which was crected beneath the shade of a large sugar tree. The storm snapped the tree of near its roots and it fell on theshed killing two of the men and wounding, the others, more or less, Barns were struck by lightning and many buildings were blown down in the wicked storm.

Aighten political opinion.

"How he has grown tall !" Leave him to his simplicity and unconsciousness. He will wake up out of them soon enough without. If the family to which he belongs is busy and bustling, keep him out of the way of it as much as possible. Lead him in the "green pastures" and by the "still waters." Ten chances to one, the sensitive, nervous system in him greatly predominates over the organic. His head—his front head particularly--is too large, his stomach too small, his fingers too sharp. Study to change this condition, and work away at him till the predominance is the other way, or until there is developed in him a greate capacity for living a long life than dying an early death. To this end let him be fed regularly, and at physiological intervals, with plenty of simple, nutritious food, avoiding all stimulants—even fiesh meats in his earlier growing years—in both food and drinks. Get him to sleep in the day time and to bed early nights, and let him the fourth at Pottston. He got the purse sleep as long as he will. In short, let him live a good deal as the little pigs and calves do. Do not put fine clothes on him. Let him touch the ground, play on the lap of earth, and keep away from him intellectual and social encitements. (These remarks apply to gris as well as to boya.) If you do not look out, Old America will become so smart and keen and quick that it will "flash in the pan," or so attenuated that it will vanish into thin air, and there will be nothing left of it. - Hochester, N. Y. Express. scene in a Court House.

In the good old times in Kentucky, when "substantial justice" was administered in a log cabin, after a free and casy manner, a suit was brought for the recovery of certain
