

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Daily Prayer Meeting—From 12 m. to 12:30 o'clock at the Methodist Church, Fifth street, next door to Gazette office.

Quiet.—Troy Hill was quiet yesterday. Mayor Drum having placed two policemen on duty there during the day.

Painted.—The boxes of the Allegheny Fire Alarm Telegraph have been painted a dark yellow color to prevent them from rusting.

There were five cases of drunkenness at the Allegheny lock up on Saturday night. Most of them paid their fines on Sunday morning and were discharged.

Slim Attendance.—Owing to the great heat yesterday the various churches in the two cities were rather slimly attended. Several of them dispensed with the evening service.

Abandoned.—The Home for the Destitute which accomplished so much good in this vicinity, has been abandoned for the present. When circumstances require, it is the intention to establish it again.

A Severe Fall.—Yesterday afternoon a lady in the Society was tripped and fell, breaking her leg and otherwise injuring herself. She was conveyed to Passavant's Hospital and her injuries attended to.

Broke Down.—A wagon loaded with barrels broke down on Penn street, Saturday, in front of the office of the Citizens' Passenger Railway. After waiting for some time for a couple of hours the owner finally had it unloaded and removed.

Almost Completed.—The new North Avenue M. E. Church, in Allegheny, is nearly ready for occupancy. When finished it will be one of the grandest churches in Western Pennsylvania. Bishop Simpson is expected to take part in the dedicatory services, which will take place in a few weeks.

Personal.—The many friends of Mr. E. T. Cook, Superintendent of the Young Men's Christian Association, will be pained to learn that he has been lying at his residence on Liberty street, for the past week, seriously ill from an attack of fever. He was somewhat improved yesterday, but his physicians does not yet consider him out of danger.

Inquest.—Coroner Clawson held an inquest on Saturday on the body of Alexander Herman, the boy who was drowned on Thursday afternoon in the Allegheny river. Several witnesses were examined, but no additional facts were elicited other than what we have before published. A verdict of accidental drowning was rendered.

On a Tour.—Wm. Sample, Esq., the well known merchant of Allegheny, is known for Europe on Saturday in the steamship City of Baltimore, of the Inman line. He expects to be absent about a month. We wish him a speedy and prosperous voyage, and a pleasant and enjoyable time ashore, and a safe return, with renewed health and vigor.

A Fugacious James.—James Mahan, of No. 3 Milligan's Row, in the Fifth ward, while on his way to his home on Saturday, was quarreling with her husband, and making divers other hostile demonstrations. Making Taylor issued a warrant for the arrest of James, on an information for surety of the peace.

Committee Appointed.—At a meeting of the Stockholders of the Charters Valley Railroad held at Chambers and Washington streets, Pa., on Saturday, Messrs. J. H. Ewing, Wm. M. Daniels and Wm. Reed of Washington county, George Neil and James Murray of Allegheny county, were appointed a Committee to wait upon J. Edgar Thompson, of the Pennsylvania Central, and report to him the sum of $250,000 has been subscribed toward the building of the road.

Meetings of Conferences.—The Republican Conferences of the Twenty-third Congressional district will meet again to-day at Freeport, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Congress. They held a meeting on Thursday last, but after balloting in the evening, adjourned to meet to-day to try again.

The Republican Conferences of the Twenty-fourth Congressional district will also convene for a similar purpose this afternoon at three o'clock in the Monongahela houses. They were in conference several days last week, and balloted nearly two hundred times without nominating. Perhaps they will have better luck to-day.

Sad Case of Drowning.—Yesterday evening about half past five o'clock a sad case of drowning occurred, the victim being a little boy, five years of age, named Peter Baker, son of Jacob Baker, of Birmingham. It appears that the little fellow went to the well connected with his father's house, on Jane street, and when he came to get a drink of water, while there he fell in. He was immediately drowned. The body was recovered soon afterwards and the head found to be badly bruised. The cause, no doubt, by striking against the sides of the well in the descent. The Coroner has been notified and will hold an inquest to-day.

Railroad Accident.—On Saturday night, about eleven o'clock, William Luke, in the employ of the Monongahela Navigation Company, met with a severe accident, which may perhaps result fatally. It seems that he was walking along the track of the Connettsville Railroad, slightly intoxicated, when a passenger train came along, and he, not hearing or heeding the alarm, was knocked down and had his right arm run over by the cars, mangling and mutilating it in a terrible manner. Drs. Sutton and McCook yesterday amputated the arm at the shoulder, and the injured man was then conveyed to Passavant's Hospital, where he is doing as well as could be expected. He is about thirty years of age, unmarried and boarded at Fort Ferry, Pa.

Supposed Larceny of Silver Ware.—On Saturday a man came to the fruit stand of Mr. Fullpore, in the Allegheny market, and sold to the son of the proprietor a silver napkin ring for twenty-five cents. The young man suspecting that all was not right, informed the police of the transaction and gave a description of the man. Yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock one of the police arrested the man in the First ward, Allegheny. When brought to the office and searched, a quantity of goods was found about him, all of which no doubt have been stolen. The goods consisted of a linen table cloth, three new unopened linen handkerchiefs, half dozen silver teaspoons, half dozen tablespoons, five silver spoons, a call bell, and a small nail brush. The spoons were stamped with the initials "H. K." and the napkin ring was marked "E. M. B.—From Brother." The owner of the articles can be seen by consulting at the Mayor's office. The prisoner gave his name as Patrick McCloskey, and gave several accounts in regard to the goods none of which are very plausible. He was locked up and will have a hearing this morning.

THE COURTS.

District Court—Judge Hampton. In this Court on Saturday, the following business was done: MOTION OVERULED. R. R. McQuiston & Co., vs. the Monongahela Navigation Company. The motion to set aside the judgment was overruled, and the same made absolute.

THE GRABING-MILLER CASE. Judge Williams delivered an opinion overruling the motion for a new trial in the case of Charles Grabing vs. James Miller. Tried some time since. This it will be recollected was the great cotton case, in regard to which so much interest was manifested, before, during and after the trial. The jury found a verdict in favor of Grabing for $40,000, and the defendant's counsel immediately moved for a new trial. The motion was subsequently argued before Judge Williams, who overruled it as stated. James Rees vs. John Morrow. Judge Hampton filed an opinion setting aside the judgment of non-suit, and awarded a new trial.

In the matter of re-petition of Jos. Keeling for a lateral railroad in Lower St. Clair township. The Court appointed Nouben Miller and John Brown as viewers, instead of Wm. Holmes and Isaac Jones.

The balance of the session was taken up by the usual motions, special returns and acknowledgements of deeds by the Sheriff.

Quarter Sessions—Full Bench. In this Court on Saturday the business of the June term was nearly all finished up. Following were the sentences passed: HEAVY SENTENCE. Frederick Baum, tried and convicted of fornication and bastardy, preferred by Margaret Walters, of East Liberty, was sentenced to pay a fine of twenty-five dollars for the use of the grand jury, seventy dollars to the prosecutor for expenses incurred by the birth of the child, the sum of eight dollars to the wife of the defendant, and to give bail in the sum of $800 for the faithful observance and performance of the sentence. The defendant was fined the first jury failing to agree. The second jury convicted and he was sentenced as above.

ILLEGAL LIQUOR SELLERS SENTENCED. The following disposition was made of several liquor cases: Henry Alles plead guilty to selling liquor without license in Oakland township. He was sentenced to pay a fine of fifty dollars and costs. Arthur Ehrenburg, of McKeesport, plead guilty to selling liquor to minors. The Court sentenced him to pay a fine of fifty dollars and costs and undergo thirty days imprisonment in the county jail.

Boatman plead guilty to selling liquor without license and was sentenced to pay a fine of fifty dollars and costs.

A DESSERTION CASE. Some time ago John Melarky had a hearing on a charge of wife desertion. In view of the fact that he did not have steady employment, the Court sentenced him to pay only two dollars a week for the support of his wife. On Saturday District Attorney Duff moved the Court to grant a rule to show cause why the defendant should not pay more money to his wife, it appearing that he had steady employment, and was making full wages. The Court increased the amount from two to four dollars per week.

SENTENCE FOR LARCENY. George W. Keagle, found guilty of the robbery of $70 from R. Buck in November last, was next brought into Court for sentence. His counsel moved for a new trial and Cochran, made an effort to have the arrest of Keagle set aside, but the Court refused to do so. The prisoner, too, made a statement in which he strenuously denied his guilt. The Court then sentenced him to pay a fine of six cents and to undergo one year's imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary. After the sentence had been passed, Keagle said, addressing the Court: "Before God, your Honor, I am innocent."

NOLLE PROSEQUI ENTERED. A nolle prosequi was entered in the case of Arthur Kirk charged with storing gun powder within specified limits, the defendant to pay the costs.

REWARD FOR A HORSE THEIF. On motion, the Court allowed officer Bowden, Chief of Police of Allegheny City, the sum of $20 for arresting a horse thief named John Christie, convicted and sentenced to the Penitentiary some time ago.

APPEARANCE TO PRACTICE. On motion of John M. Kirkpatrick, Esq., Norval Marchand, of East Liberty, was qualified and duly admitted to practice in the several Courts of Allegheny county.

Mr. Marchand has for a long time been a student in the law office of Messrs. Kirkpatrick & Mellon, of this city, and finished his studies, grasping highly the principles in the well known law school at Albany, New York, over which ex-Senator Harris presides. We feel justified in predicting for him a successful career in the laboring profession upon which he has just entered.

ARGUMENT LIST WILL BE TAKEN UP ON Monday.

Common Pleas—Full Bench. Court met at ten o'clock on Saturday and the following business was transacted: After the usual proclamation Sheriff Cliney appeared and acknowledged a number of deeds.

In the case of Nicholas Link vs. Morris Kogler & Co., a motion was made to take off the non-suit.

A. Roedelheim vs. C. A. Boucher. Affidavit filed and ruled granted to quash proceedings.

The report of the sale of the Union Cemetery of the Methodist Episcopal Church was presented and approved.

Messrs. Kier, Foster & Kier presented a petition for the extension of their Lateral Coal Railroad at Noyles's Run on the Allegheny Valley Railroad, in Penn township. The petition was received and ordered to be filed.

Court then adjourned until Saturday, July 18th.

Aggravated Assault and Battery. Henry Keyser, residing on Washington street, Sixth ward, Allegheny, made information on Saturday evening before Mayor Drum, against Wm. Hollinger, proprietor of an eating saloon in the southeast corner of the Allegheny Market House, for aggravated assault and battery. Keyser alleges that he went into the saloon about half past six o'clock in the evening and asked for something to eat. Hollinger, upon and upon any provocation, picked up and abused him in a terrible manner. Hollinger's statement of the case is that Keyser came into his establishment in an intoxicated state and began handling the things on the table and otherwise annoying him. He was endeavoring to put him out of the saloon, and the jury rendered a verdict in the sum of $300 to answer the charge at Court.

Sudden Death. Alderman Guyan M. Irwin held an inquest on Saturday on the body of a German named Gottlieb, who died suddenly on the farm of Louis Fratch, in Ross township. It seems that the man had been working in the hay field all day, and at 5 o'clock in the evening he left and went to the house to get a drink. After drinking down a quart of beer he fell and lay down in the barn to rest. He had laid there but a very short time when it was discovered that he was dead. A physician was called in who, after an examination of the corpse, said he thought the man died from apoplexy, and the jury rendered a verdict accordingly. He was about thirty-five years of age and unmarried.

Suicide of Jeanie Miller—Coroner's Inquest.

The facts connected with this singular affair are still fresh in the minds of our readers, and we need not rehearse them here. On Wednesday, the day on which she died, the Coroner impanelled a jury to investigate the case, and after viewing the body the inquest was adjourned until Saturday at two p. m. On Saturday, the inquest was held, at which the following testimony was elicited:

Dr. W. K. Hamilton, sworn—On Monday morning, shortly after nine o'clock, I was called to see Jennie Miller at the Union depot; found her laboring under the effect apparently of an overdose of opium; as soon as possible I administered emetics, the effects of the poison having affected her constitutionally; she endeavored to keep her awake by having her walk over the floor, parties assisting her until she was entirely powerless; water was dashed in her face, and she was rubbed; we kept her breathing; from 3 1/2 to 4 o'clock in the evening we could see her without much trouble; about 8 o'clock she was unable to speak, reaction having come on; I then kept her breathing; she vomited incessantly through the night; she died the next day, on Thursday morning, the powers of life failed and she sank rapidly and died about 10 o'clock; the poison was not to kill her by poisoning her blood, and she had congestion of the brain, liver and stomach, which was taken away about two-thirds of an ounce.

Examination resumed—Do not think she had any other disease; did not ask her if she had any other disease; with her former health; did not examine her before or after her death.

James Bacon, one of the young men who had been keeping company with the deceased, testified that the last time he saw her she was at the house of Mr. Lawrence Bitters, the great Stomachic Pain Killer, cured Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Headache, Vertigo, Pruritus, and all the symptoms of a kindred character, as by the heads of Langour, Lassitude, Great Weakness and Mental Depression, they have a most wonderful effect.

Magnolia Water—A delightful toilet article—superior to Cologne, and at half the price.

Burnett's Standard Preparations.—We learn from the first confectioner in this city, that Burnett's Extracts of Fruits and Flowers for fine confectionery, are worthy of the high reputation which they enjoy. The Toilet Preparations of the same name stand high, we are assured, equally high.—Montreal Wanted.

Wanted to Borrow, $65,000, for two or three years; security, first bond and mortgage on real estate property, worth over double the amount. Address, real name and where an interview can be had, "Money," GAZETTE OFFICE.

Baltimore Skirts.—Full size Summer Baltimore Skirts, at 75 cents, at J. W. HAZARD & Co., 69 Market street.

NEW PUBLICATIONS. THE HISTORY OF A MOUTHFUL OF BREAD. By Jean Macé, author of "The History of a Mouthful of Bread," etc. Published by Harper & Brothers, New York. For sale by Henry Miner, Pittsburgh.

We hail the advent of a new era in communicating knowledge to the young people, in the beautiful style of such works as Macé's creations. By this mode children are educated more rapidly and obtain more intelligent knowledge of different studies, than by the old way. Dry and even difficult studies are rendered pleasant also, and more easily mastered. Macé's name is a tower of strength, and is sufficient to command success. This book is of a higher order of this class of works, in which we have presented in a charming style of language, the organization of Men and Animals. It is divided in two parts—first part, Man, and second, Animals. It reads like romance, and young folks cannot fail to be charmed as well as instructed. The translation is excellently well done.

THE WISDOMS OF THE STOMACH. By Jean Macé, author of "The History of a Mouthful of Bread," etc. Published by Harper & Brothers, New York. For sale by Henry Miner, Pittsburgh.

This volume is of the same character of "The History of a Mouthful of Bread." The distinguished author in the latter has shown the wonderful movements of certain functions of the human system, but this work discusses a less mysterious subject, the walking machine. Here we have portrayed in the writer's enchanting style, the relations of the arms, muscles, brain, etc. We look for a large sale of both these publications, as they combine popular elements, as well as valuable instruction.

DEMOCRACY IN THE UNITED STATES. What it has done, what it is doing, and what it will do. By Gerrard Uihlhorn, formerly First President of the Court. Published by Little, Brown & Co., Boston, Mass.

It is rarely that so much thought and argument is embraced in the compass of such a small volume, as the one before us. Every lover of evangelical truth will hail its timely publication, not only for the successful refutation of the teachings of Renan, Shenkel and Strauss, but for the valuable arguments furnished to hand to resist such views as were taught by them. The first discourse is a review of Renan's Life of Jesus! The second attacks and exposes in a very satisfactory manner the heresies of Shenkel and Strauss. The third vindicates the truth of the Gospel. The last discourse is upon mercantile. We hope the work will have a wide circulation.

THE MODERN REPRESENTATIONS OF THE WRITERS OF JESUS. By Gerrard Uihlhorn, Edited by Dr. Gerhard Uihlhorn. Published by Little, Brown & Co., Boston, Mass.

It is rarely that so much thought and argument is embraced in the compass of such a small volume, as the one before us. Every lover of evangelical truth will hail its timely publication, not only for the successful refutation of the teachings of Renan, Shenkel and Strauss, but for the valuable arguments furnished to hand to resist such views as were taught by them. The first discourse is a review of Renan's Life of Jesus! The second attacks and exposes in a very satisfactory manner the heresies of Shenkel and Strauss. The third vindicates the truth of the Gospel. The last discourse is upon mercantile. We hope the work will have a wide circulation.

THE MODERN REPRESENTATIONS OF THE WRITERS OF JESUS. By Gerrard Uihlhorn, Edited by Dr. Gerhard Uihlhorn. Published by Little, Brown & Co., Boston, Mass.

It is rarely that so much thought and argument is embraced in the compass of such a small volume, as the one before us. Every lover of evangelical truth will hail its timely publication, not only for the successful refutation of the teachings of Renan, Shenkel and Strauss, but for the valuable arguments furnished to hand to resist such views as were taught by them. The first discourse is a review of Renan's Life of Jesus! The second attacks and exposes in a very satisfactory manner the heresies of Shenkel and Strauss. The third vindicates the truth of the Gospel. The last discourse is upon mercantile. We hope the work will have a wide circulation.

THE MODERN REPRESENTATIONS OF THE WRITERS OF JESUS. By Gerrard Uihlhorn, Edited by Dr. Gerhard Uihlhorn. Published by Little, Brown & Co., Boston, Mass.

It is rarely that so much thought and argument is embraced in the compass of such a small volume, as the one before us. Every lover of evangelical truth will hail its timely publication, not only for the successful refutation of the teachings of Renan, Shenkel and Strauss, but for the valuable arguments furnished to hand to resist such views as were taught by them. The first discourse is a review of Renan's Life of Jesus! The second attacks and exposes in a very satisfactory manner the heresies of Shenkel and Strauss. The third vindicates the truth of the Gospel. The last discourse is upon mercantile. We hope the work will have a wide circulation.

THE MODERN REPRESENTATIONS OF THE WRITERS OF JESUS. By Gerrard Uihlhorn, Edited by Dr. Gerhard Uihlhorn. Published by Little, Brown & Co., Boston, Mass.

It is rarely that so much thought and argument is embraced in the compass of such a small volume, as the one before us. Every lover of evangelical truth will hail its timely publication, not only for the successful refutation of the teachings of Renan, Shenkel and Strauss, but for the valuable arguments furnished to hand to resist such views as were taught by them. The first discourse is a review of Renan's Life of Jesus! The second attacks and exposes in a very satisfactory manner the heresies of Shenkel and Strauss. The third vindicates the truth of the Gospel. The last discourse is upon mercantile. We hope the work will have a wide circulation.

THE MODERN REPRESENTATIONS OF THE WRITERS OF JESUS. By Gerrard Uihlhorn, Edited by Dr. Gerhard Uihlhorn. Published by Little, Brown & Co., Boston, Mass.

It is rarely that so much thought and argument is embraced in the compass of such a small volume, as the one before us. Every lover of evangelical truth will hail its timely publication, not only for the successful refutation of the teachings of Renan, Shenkel and Strauss, but for the valuable arguments furnished to hand to resist such views as were taught by them. The first discourse is a review of Renan's Life of Jesus! The second attacks and exposes in a very satisfactory manner the heresies of Shenkel and Strauss. The third vindicates the truth of the Gospel. The last discourse is upon mercantile. We hope the work will have a wide circulation.

THE MODERN REPRESENTATIONS OF THE WRITERS OF JESUS. By Gerrard Uihlhorn, Edited by Dr. Gerhard Uihlhorn. Published by Little, Brown & Co., Boston, Mass.

It is rarely that so much thought and argument is embraced in the compass of such a small volume, as the one before us. Every lover of evangelical truth will hail its timely publication, not only for the successful refutation of the teachings of Renan, Shenkel and Strauss, but for the valuable arguments furnished to hand to resist such views as were taught by them. The first discourse is a review of Renan's Life of Jesus! The second attacks and exposes in a very satisfactory manner the heresies of Shenkel and Strauss. The third vindicates the truth of the Gospel. The last discourse is upon mercantile. We hope the work will have a wide circulation.

THE MODERN REPRESENTATIONS OF THE WRITERS OF JESUS. By Gerrard Uihlhorn, Edited by Dr. Gerhard Uihlhorn. Published by Little, Brown & Co., Boston, Mass.

It is rarely that so much thought and argument is embraced in the compass of such a small volume, as the one before us. Every lover of evangelical truth will hail its timely publication, not only for the successful refutation of the teachings of Renan, Shenkel and Strauss, but for the valuable arguments furnished to hand to resist such views as were taught by them. The first discourse is a review of Renan's Life of Jesus! The second attacks and exposes in a very satisfactory manner the heresies of Shenkel and Strauss. The third vindicates the truth of the Gospel. The last discourse is upon mercantile. We hope the work will have a wide circulation.

THE MODERN REPRESENTATIONS OF THE WRITERS OF JESUS. By Gerrard Uihlhorn, Edited by Dr. Gerhard Uihlhorn. Published by Little, Brown & Co., Boston, Mass.

It is rarely that so much thought and argument is embraced in the compass of such a small volume, as the one before us. Every lover of evangelical truth will hail its timely publication, not only for the successful refutation of the teachings of Renan, Shenkel and Strauss, but for the valuable arguments furnished to hand to resist such views as were taught by them. The first discourse is a review of Renan's Life of Jesus! The second attacks and exposes in a very satisfactory manner the heresies of Shenkel and Strauss. The third vindicates the truth of the Gospel. The last discourse is upon mercantile. We hope the work will have a wide circulation.

THE MODERN REPRESENTATIONS OF THE WRITERS OF JESUS. By Gerrard Uihlhorn, Edited by Dr. Gerhard Uihlhorn. Published by Little, Brown & Co., Boston, Mass.

It is rarely that so much thought and argument is embraced in the compass of such a small volume, as the one before us. Every lover of evangelical truth will hail its timely publication, not only for the successful refutation of the teachings of Renan, Shenkel and Strauss, but for the valuable arguments furnished to hand to resist such views as were taught by them. The first discourse is a review of Renan's Life of Jesus! The second attacks and exposes in a very satisfactory manner the heresies of Shenkel and Strauss. The third vindicates the truth of the Gospel. The last discourse is upon mercantile. We hope the work will have a wide circulation.

THE MODERN REPRESENTATIONS OF THE WRITERS OF JESUS. By Gerrard Uihlhorn, Edited by Dr. Gerhard Uihlhorn. Published by Little, Brown & Co., Boston, Mass.

It is rarely that so much thought and argument is embraced in the compass of such a small volume, as the one before us. Every lover of evangelical truth will hail its timely publication, not only for the successful refutation of the teachings of Renan, Shenkel and Strauss, but for the valuable arguments furnished to hand to resist such views as were taught by them. The first discourse is a review of Renan's Life of Jesus! The second attacks and exposes in a very satisfactory manner the heresies of Shenkel and Strauss. The third vindicates the truth of the Gospel. The last discourse is upon mercantile. We hope the work will have a wide circulation.

THE MODERN REPRESENTATIONS OF THE WRITERS OF JESUS. By Gerrard Uihlhorn, Edited by Dr. Gerhard Uihlhorn. Published by Little, Brown & Co., Boston, Mass.

It is rarely that so much thought and argument is embraced in the compass of such a small volume, as the one before us. Every lover of evangelical truth will hail its timely publication, not only for the successful refutation of the teachings of Renan, Shenkel and Strauss, but for the valuable arguments furnished to hand to resist such views as were taught by them. The first discourse is a review of Renan's Life of Jesus! The second attacks and exposes in a very satisfactory manner the heresies of Shenkel and Strauss. The third vindicates the truth of the Gospel. The last discourse is upon mercantile. We hope the work will have a wide circulation.

THE MODERN REPRESENTATIONS OF THE WRITERS OF JESUS. By Gerrard Uihlhorn, Edited by Dr. Gerhard Uihlhorn. Published by Little, Brown & Co., Boston, Mass.

It is rarely that so much thought and argument is embraced in the compass of such a small volume, as the one before us. Every lover of evangelical truth will hail its timely publication, not only for the successful refutation of the teachings of Renan, Shenkel and Strauss, but for the valuable arguments furnished to hand to resist such views as were taught by them. The first discourse is a review of Renan's Life of Jesus! The second attacks and exposes in a very satisfactory manner the heresies of Shenkel and Strauss. The third vindicates the truth of the Gospel. The last discourse is upon mercantile. We hope the work will have a wide circulation.

THE MODERN REPRESENTATIONS OF THE WRITERS OF JESUS. By Gerrard Uihlhorn, Edited by Dr. Gerhard Uihlhorn. Published by Little, Brown & Co., Boston, Mass.

It is rarely that so much thought and argument is embraced in the compass of such a small volume, as the one before us. Every lover of evangelical truth will hail its timely publication, not only for the successful refutation of the teachings of Renan, Shenkel and Strauss, but for the valuable arguments furnished to hand to resist such views as were taught by them. The first discourse is a review of Renan's Life of Jesus! The second attacks and exposes in a very satisfactory manner the heresies of Shenkel and Strauss. The third vindicates the truth of the Gospel. The last discourse is upon mercantile. We hope the work will have a wide circulation.

Out of Jail and in.

It is said that there is time to laugh and a time to cry. Patrick Leonard must have realized the truth of this old proverb on Saturday, for it seems that both occasions occurred in one short day of his life. Patrick having been discharged from jail, where he had been waiting a term for larceny, thought he at least ought to smile to express his joy at release, and he accordingly did so. But strange to say, however, the smiling was just the reverse of making him good humored; in fact it made him quite bad humored and caused him to commence an onslaught on officer J. H. Behson, which resulted in his arrest on an information for assault and battery preferred by the officer before Alderman Lippert. A hearing was had in the case, and Patrick was compelled to take up his old quarters, which he was exceedingly loath to do. For Patrick.

Manchester Reading Room. This institution, for some reason, has not been very well sustained thus far. We cannot account for this state of affairs, as it has a central location, is large, pleasant, airy room, and on its tables may be found daily quite a number of the leading journals from all parts of the country, besides all the best weekly publications, illustrated, literary and political, and all the popular magazines of the day. Our Manchester friends should not be so slow to support such a noble institution as not to languish. It is worth the hearty support of all, and we hope that before long we may be able to chronicle it in a flourishing condition.

Onward, right onward. Into the valley of death. But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in the large poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia. This is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia. This is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia.

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in the large poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia. This is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia.

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in the large poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia. This is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia.

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in the large poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia. This is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia.

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in the large poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia. This is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia.

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in the large poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia. This is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia.

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in the large poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia. This is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia.

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in the large poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia. This is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia.

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in the large poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia. This is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia.

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in the large poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia. This is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia.

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in the large poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia. This is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia.

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in the large poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia. This is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia.

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in the large poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia. This is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia.

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in the large poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia. This is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia.

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in the large poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia. This is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia.

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in the large poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia. This is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia.

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in the large poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia. This is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia.

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in the large poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia. This is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia.

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in the large poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia. This is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia.

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in the large poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia. This is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia.

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in the large poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia. This is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agonies of dyspepsia.

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in the large poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy men, who are rushing to untimely graves, followed by the agon