FINANCE AND TRADE. OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, July 15, 1868. Gold advanced to day from 141% to 142%, market strong; quotations for bonds have again declined in England, yesterday one per cent, and to-day % per cent. This of course will necessiate to increased shipments of coin, and probably we may see bonds come back unless they should decline at some points. The bond market is weak in sympathy with the rise of gold, still there is more denand in small amounts for investment. The stock market is dull and lower, with little doing. Ohio & Mississippi Certificate jumped from 291/2 to 331/4, if quotations are correct. The balance of the list points towards lower rates.

—A prominent banking firm of New York city with extensive western connec-York city with extensive western connections, recently sent circulars to prominent parties throughout the entire west, asking information in regard to the crops, and have received in reply complete details from the principal counties of the States

In the whole west and northwest the prospect for abundant crops was never ex-celled, and there is a large increase in the number of acres planted in the northwest over last year.

The crops are likely to be harvested in good condition, and in the aggregate will be the largest ever gathered. The wheat crop is spoken as promising remarkably well, while corn never looked better. The corn crop is of the most general interest to the country, and one in which our railroads are more dependent than any other for a good business.

It is important for our railroad men to know this fact, that their prospects for a fine fall and winter business cannot be questioned. In the South and Southwest, we are glad to learn that the prespects are also brilliant—which will greatly assist in the recuperation of the Southern country.

After a general survey of the field we think it safe to predict the largost crops

PHTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET, OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,

WEDNESDAY, July 15, 1868. CRUDE-The market was considerably firmer to-day and somewhat excited, and prices have advanced. Yesterday, there were sales of spot oil at 121/c, while to-day, sellers were holding at 131/2 to 14c, and, so far as we could learn, there was but little offering. Sale of 1,000 bbls-early this morning-for September at 13c, and 1,000 for October at 14c, and late in the day the same figure was offered for August alone. This advance is just about as sudden and unexpected as was the recent decline; then it will be remembered the market broke with Antwerp advancing, while now it is has taken an unward turn with ow it is has taken an upward turn with -according to our latest advices Ant werp declining.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil was also much stronger to-day and con-siderably excited, and compared with yesterday, an important advance has been established. The sales were: 1,500 bbls for July at 33c; 1.000 do do at 33½c; 2,000 An gust at 34c; 500 last half September at 34½c; 500 October, last half, at 34½c; 500 August, last half, at 34½c; 500 August, last half, at 34c—total sales reported, seen thousand barrets. This movement was so sudden and entirely unlooked for that nearly every one engaged in the trade was taken by surprise, coming, as it did, right on the heels of a heavy decline. On Monday and Tuesday sales of Crude were made erday, an important advance has be day and Tuesday sales of Crude were made at 12%c, while this afternoon, it was hard to find sellers at 14c.

PITTSBURGH WOOL MARKET.

OFFICE OF PINTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDLY, July 15, 1868. Prices remain about the same as last week. In some districts the Wool is mostly out of first hands, and pretty largely shipped to the eastern markets. In other districts not much has been done, and the farmers being busily engaged with harvesting, it is not likely that much will be sold until after harvest. With a few exceptions, 40c is the highest price paid for fine Wool. 85c We quote:
