The Pittsburgh Gazette.

AT FOUR O'CLOCK.

BY HARRIET PRESCOTT SPOFFORD.

Ah, happy day, refuse to go!
Hang in the heavens forever so!
Forever in mid afternoon,
Ah, happy day of happy June!
Pour out thy sunshine on the hill,
The piny wood with perfume fill,
And breathe across the sighing sea
Land scented breezes that shall be
Sweet as the gardens that they pass,
Where children tumble in the grass!

Ah, happy day, refuse to go!
Hang in the heavens forever so!
And long not for thy blushing rest
In the soft bosom of the West,
But bid gray evening get her back
With all the stars upon her track!
Forget the dark, forget the dew,
The mystery of the midnight blue,
And only spread thy wide, warm wings,
While summer her enchantments flings!

Ah, happy day, refuse to go!
Hang in the heavens forever so!
Forever let thy tender mist
Lie, like dissolving amethist,
Deep in the distant dales, and shed
Thy mellow glory overhead!
Yet wilt thou wander—call the thrush,
And have the wilds and waters hush
To hear the passion-broken tune,
Ah, happy day of happy June!

—Two colored women were found dead in the woods, in Worcester county, Md., on the 6th inst., bearing evidence of having been shot down while berrying.

—Two styles of costume for men prevail at the European watering places, either very tight or very wide and loose; the latter is affected by the thin young men, who don't keep calves.

—Artemus Ward's executors are indignant at the derogatory reports concerning them which have appeared in American papers, and invite the American executors to inspect their accounts.

—Japanese fans are the latest and best things with which to keep cool. We know of nothing else which gives as much wind unless it be the great fan at Dixmont or a Democratic Convention.

—Henry Ward Beecher hits the Chief Justice rather hard when he says: "I have for years, as a leader in public affairs, deemed him, like his greenbacks, as promising more on the face than they are worth in gold."

—Eastern Florida is being laid out in large farms for the purpose of cultivating fruits and early vegetables for the northern markets. Jacksonville, the chief shipping port of the State, is but four days from New York by steamers, less by railroad.

—Greeley said once that every man who spat or chewed tobacco was a hog. We think Brick Pomeroy must have chewed once, as now he is going to start a new paper in New York. Henry Clay Dean is to write for it, and must once have used tobacco too.

—The third annual tobacco fair of Cincinnati was held in Pike's music hall on Tuesday, and was remarkable for the fine display of superior grades of tobacco. $3 per pound was paid for first class, first premium tobacco. Various addresses and speeches with a grand champagne dinner, wound up the affair.

—Squa-ga-na-ba, an old chief of the Ottawa Indians, died recently and a medal was found hanging on his neck which he had worn for fifty-four years, and which was presented to him in 1814 by the British Government for the part which he took in killing and scalping American whites at the River Raisin massacre.

—Planchette, the mystery, is exciting everybody now as much as the hot weather will permit. It is understood to have behaved in a very singular way some weeks ago. When asked "Will Chase ever be President," it answered "Te he!" This may be some very abstruse answer, and we call the attention of scientific men to it.

—A paper giving an account of Toulouse, France, says: "It is a large town, containing sixty thousand inhabitants, built entirely of brick." This is only equaled by a well known description of Albany: "Albany is a town of eight thousand houses and twenty-five thousand inhabitants, with most of their gable ends to the street."

—It is in these hot days that the advantages of Pittsburgh dirt are shown. In beautiful Cleveland for instance, the houses are so bright and clean as to make a glare, unknown to the neighborhood of our dingy buildings, and the lake breezes stir up a dust which adds greatly to the discomfort of the people, and which is unknown in our sandless streets.

—Seven girls went in to bathe in the East river at New York. Four of them got beyond their depth and were being drowned, when the screams of the survivors attracted a young hero only fourteen years old, who, by repeated divings, rescued three of them, but the fourth was drowned. The drowned girl was named Powers, and the boy, who was a perfect humane society in himself, is named Frank Beck.

—One of the poets of antiquity wrote:

"Little Jack Horner sat in the corner
Eating his Christmas pie,
He put in his thumb and pulled out a plum,
O what a great boy am I!"

This was prophetic; in Jack we see the Democratic party, in the pie the Convention; the thumb is doubtfully inserted, long and anxious is the search, and doubtful are the results, but finally, out comes Seymour, and Democracy, all ready, immediately begins to sing, "O, what a great boy am I! to find this plum in such a mass of dough."

American Girls of the Period in Paris.

American women who go to Paris ought to be very circumspect in their behavior. But if the following statement, made in a letter to a Berlin paper by Sigismond Kolisch, is true, some of them don't do any thing of the kind:

There has been considerable talk for several days past, about a flirtation, or something worse, going on between a distinguished personage (the Emperor) and a young American girl. Incredible as it may seem, some of these young Americaines are hankering after the questionable honor of becoming the mistresses of the aforementioned personage. The truth is, the tone of American society in Paris just now is abominable, and the women behave even worse than the men. The latter will shrink from no humilliations in order to gain access to one of the leading clubs, or to obtain invitations to fashionable soirees, but the women almost outstrip the priestesses of the demi-monde in acts of impropriety and defiance of public opinion. When you, nowadays, see at Bois de Bologne a shockingly decollette fair one, you may be sure that she is either from the Rue Breda, or an Americaine. "C'est une Americaine" is now uttered with a shrug by the representatives of good society, and with a sneer which cannot but hurt to the quick all well-wishers to the American Republic.

PAPER HATS.—The last novelty is paper hats, made in exact imitation of fine braided straw hats. The process is so simple that the great wonder is that it has never been thought of before. The pulp is mixed in a large vat, heated by steam and thoroughly mangled by circular teeth. It is then drawn off by a spiggot into a form which has a fine wire sleve to receive the pulp and allow the water to escape. After the water is run through, the wire sleve form is placed upon a block, where, after drying, it is placed under a press and subjected to a pressure of 2,400 pounds to the square inch, coming out a perfect hat in appearance, lightness, durability and waterproof.
