CONSECRATION.

Interesting Ceremony.—Consecration of Very Rev. T. Mullen, of Allegheny City, as Coadjutor Bishop of the Erie Diocese.

To fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of the able and pious Bishop Young of Erie, Pa., the Pope of Rome several months ago appointed Very Rev. T. Mullen, of Allegheny City, over that diocese. This selection was heartily endorsed by both clergy and laity, as no Catholic priest in this section of country possesses higher order of learning or more liberal and generous nature.

He was fairly idolized by his congregation, and in all elements of society, amongst Catholics and Protestants, he has been regarded as a man of great power and sterling worth and integrity. That his consecration as Bishop in St. Paul's Cathedral yesterday should have attracted a very large audience was not strange, as he is a man of high rank and of high position.

The out and out who was the master of the ceremony, there were numerous presents to pay personal tribute to the recipient of the high ecclesiastical honors of the Church. But even this precious occasion, such occasions, the managers of the Cathedral saw proper to charge an admittance of one dollar, a donation to the orphan and destitute.

The services commenced at half past ten o'clock, and continued until two. His Grace, the Bishop, officiated as Consecrator, and was assisted by the Bishop-elect, the Bishop of Philadelphia, and the Deacons of Honor on the occasion were Rev. E. Garland, of this city, Henry Cook, David H. Johnson, J. M. Robitzer, Robert Fowler, E. S. Morrow, William Fowler, J. A. Wills, George W. Bridgman, James Munn, W. J. Caskey, William Lloyd, B. J. Leonard, Wm. Lloyd, John McMenn, William Dithridge, Robert Coward, Matthew Smith, George Wolf, John A. Schanley, &c.

Mysterious Disappearance.

Saturday evening a well known resident of Allegheny city mysteriously disappeared under circumstances which lead to the belief that he has been fully dealt with.

It appears that about nine o'clock on the night mentioned, Mr. William Plankerton, a butcher doing business in the market, left his stall, market being over, and started to get his horse and wagon, which were at the stable connected with the California House, on the south-east corner of the Diamond.

He seems to have gone to the stable, as he was seen by the hostler, who he ordered to feed the horse. He then sat down by the stable for a few minutes and acted as if sick. The hostler put several questions to him to which he gave no answer, which caused the man to go into the tavern and speak to the proprietor, Mr. Fisher, asking him to look out for the man who was with the horse.

Mr. Fisher started out a few minutes after, but met Plankerton, who had returned through the house and passed out from the barn going towards Ohio street, since which time nothing has been heard of him.

When he was last seen he was wearing a dark coat and trousers, and was carrying a bundle under his arm. He was seen to enter a house on the corner of Ohio and Washington streets, and was seen to leave the house about ten o'clock.

New and Useful.

Hon. Simon Drum, Mayor of Allegheny has earned the grateful thanks of all his keepers, house-owners and house-builders, by his invention of convenient, simple, safe self-fastening, adjustable (right or left) and durable shutter hinges, much superior to any rival invention in the market.

This hinge is easily adjusted to the slant requiring but half the labor of other hinges and therefore justly in great favor with carpenters. Mr. Drum is also the inventor of Drum's Patent Sash Pulley. This pulley is without a flange, its bearing is directly on the casing, presents a much neater finish, can be fitted in half the time, will bear a much heavier pressure than flanged pulley, and for this reason is preferred by all house carpenters who have seen it. Every owner or occupant of a house will appreciate the great economy of these two simple and useful improvements, and will be glad to know their evident superiority to all other pulleys and sash pulleys.
