THE Republicans of Carbon and Munroe counties have nominated Captain J. D. LACLERC for Representative.

NOTWITHSTANDING the declination of of Delaware have renominated him for Congress, subject to the decision of the Conference. They have, also, renominated Mr. A. B. LEEDOM for Assembly.

Was it because Mr. SEYMOUR'S letter of acceptance presents such a clear and exhaustive statement of the bond and greenback question, that the New York World officially announces that he will be absocampaign?

THE Republicans of Carbon county have brought out Mr. DANIEL KALBFUS for Condistrict is not good.

Ar the recent commencement at Washington Jefferson College, the honorary degree of D. D. was conferred upon the Rev. JAMES ALLISON, editor of the Presbyterian Banner, the Rev. JAMES McCosn, President elect of the College of New Jersey, and the Rev. ALEX. SWANEY, of New Hagerstown, SINCE GEN. HARTBANFT has occupied the position of Auditor General, the State debt has been reduced more than five millions of dollars. Not even the bitterest partizan has been found to deny his impartial and most efficient performance of his official majority which shall attest their appreciation of his valuable services.

ALL THE BLAIRS, father and two sons, including the candidate, are to hold, it is said, a family council next week, to discuss issue for other living questions of a more political matters. Let us all fervently hope political matters. Let us all fervently nope for the speedy deliverance of the country from this pestilent tribe! THE Union Pacific Railroad, on Saturday last, extended its completed track to a point only two hundred and ninety-two miles east of Salt Lake City. One hundred and fifty miles of this gap are already graded, and the residue will be prepared in advance of the tracklayers, who proceed at the rate of four miles per day, expecting to reach the Lake not long after the middle of October. THE Conferees of the XXIIId Congressional District meet at Freeport to-day, to renew their balloting for the Republican nomination. If a satisfactory result can be reached, we will be happy to announce it to-morrow. The long-continued dead-lock has not only impeded the completion of the Republican ticket in that District, but has an unfavorable influence upon that political harmony and cordial zeal which are every where essential elements in political success.

THE political gamut of the Democracy needs a more precise interpretation. The canvass is hardly a month old, and they have already four or five times changed its | done so much to precipitate upon the coun-"keynote." First, negro suffrage with the try. This occasion now seems nearer at coin payment of the debt; second, the unconstitutional Southern governments and expenditures as contrasted with Radical extravagances; fourth, BLAIR's proclamation of violence and anarchy; fifth, SEYMOUR'S letter and a wholesome abhorrence of violence-each of which has, in its turn, been proclaimed upon high Democratic authority to be the "keynote of the campaign." Contrast all this with the one, simple keynote, as clear as a bugle-call, which GRANT has sounded: "Let us have peace." Its echoes will ring, unchanged, over valley and hilltop, until in November the voice of all the people will be uplifted in unison.

THE New York Express says it is plain enough to all men:

First. That the country always enjoyed domestic peace and prosperity, when the Government was administered by the Democracy; and Second. That it never has had a moment's ccession of their opponents to power. All there is of truth in these averments is explained by the facts that, when the Republicans have been beaten at a Presidential election, they have submitted to the decision of the ballot-box, as is the duty of all citizens, but when the Democrats are beaten they either threaten civil war or actually resort to it. They threatened in 1856, when they expected to be beaten; made war in 1860, when they were whipped; bullied and rioted in 1864; and now, in 1868, are threatening war again in case the popular vote shall not turn out a result to suit them.

THE PUBLIC DEBT, as it appears in the Statement for the 1st of August, amounts to $2,523,534,480 67. But from this gross amount should be deducted the sum of $33,-210,000, for bonds issued to the Pacific Railway Companies, both the interest and principal of which is paid and to be paid by the Companies, and which sum now, for the first time, appears in the Monthly Statement. Making the proper deduction, the statement shows an actual reduction of the debt since June 1st, 1868, of about twenty millions of dollars, the tolal footing up but morning's GAZETTE—Second page: Select $2,490,324,848, which is $194,338,978 less Poetry, Ephemeris, Miscellaneous Reading than it was on the 1st of July, 1865. A MOVEMENT of much importance in its extent, and of equal significance in its bearings upon the state of parties, has recently become perceptible among the naturalized citizens of New York. This movement, Hon. John M. Broomall, the Republicans largely comprehending the Germans, also includes an unusual number of Irishmen, who are forming, respectively, Campaign Clubs, and taking, independent of their old Democratic associations, an open and zealous stand for GRANT and COLFAX. At Chicago, the same disposition has been exhibited by a large number of Irishmen, who have heretofore supported the Democracy, but now declare that they have done with it lutely mum during the remainder of the forever. Nor is it surprising that intelligent citizens, who have sought, in this once favored land, the liberty, equality and peace which were denied to them in the Old World, should wish, at this time, to exhibit gress in the Eleventh District, subject to the most decided mark of their preference Conference. He is a popular young law- for the peace and order and supremacy of yer of considerable talents and eloquence. the laws to which the friends of General The outlook for any Republican in that GRANT are pledged, rather than for the violence and civil war into which the Democratic party would precipitate the people. No class of our patriotic citizens can more heartily respond to that noble sentiment of our leader-"Let us have peace,"-than will those of foreign birth. They came here for peace, with all its resulting blessings under our free institutions, and their votes in November will largely show that they mean to have it.

IN AN EXCELLENT ARTICLE upon the question "For whom should the young men vote?" the New York Beening Post forcibly reminds its readers of the uniform series upholds? of disasters which have attended the persisduties. We are confident, therefore, that tent adherence of the Democratic party to a the people will re-elect him in October by a system of warfare against accomplished facts, and argues that the only way to reform that party, and to secure peace for the country is by beating them once more so decidedly that they shall be forced to accept Reconstruction as a fact, and to abandon that practical character. The Post proceeds:

of the old leaves of significant and a single good bemoeratic quality remainings it is the party of hate, of inhuman projudice; it has blanted itself on injustice and dishonor. During the war is twa ready to surrender the Union; since the war is twa ready to disgrace the nation by repudiating the debt. It denies justice, and boastfully appears to the baser passions of the multitude.

Is that a party with which the young memoration, generous, full of ardor, loving liberty, having faith in maining believing and in the irresistive progress of shis great Union in intelligence, wirtue and wealth, can join?

There is hone of the Republican party; it seems to

If Andrew Johnson has a special weakless for anything political, it is for the Constitution. His favorite role is that of its Defender and Preserver. The present phase of the Reconstruction question promises to open up a broad and inviting field for the exercise of his peculiar abilities in that line. We had occasion to remark, a week or two since, upon the extreme likelihood that, before the close of his administration, he would find it within the line of his Executive duty to repress the new Southern rebellion, which his own inflammatory language and his factious opposition to the law-making department of the government have

hand than, even then, was anticipated. The intervention of the Federal power has algreenbacks for bonds; third, economy in | ready been officially and formally invoked by the authorities of Louisiana, to put down an incipient rebellion which, under Democratic control, threatens peace and order in that State. Mr. Johnson's opportunity is therefore about to present itself, and his policy will be in due time unfolded. He hesitates to comply with the demand of Louisiana. He talks about having a preliminary inquiry, to see if the blacks are not themselves responsible for the disorder. He no doubt denies that, with delay, the trouble shall assume still more gross proportions. He waits until the case shall assume a magnitude which will demand the most imposing and effective display of the Federal authority. He would then be able to invite the attention of an admiring people, to the vigor with which he defends and maintains the Constitution, and the Republic from the peace, never had any prosperity, since the perils which have been brought upon it by "Radical misrule and injustice," He wishes to retire from office, since it is unfortunately too true that he must retire at all, in a blaze of glory, surrounding with its halo the name of Andrew Johnson, the Pacificator and Preserver of the Republic. Hesitating now, he will eventually interpose the strong aim of Federal power in the repression of rebel violence, but he waits for an emergency, which, in its treatment shall magnify not his office but himself. This is a very critical game and requires an adroit player. We trust, therefore, that Mr. Johnson will not over rate his own ability to control it.

THE Mercer Dispatch claims that Mr. HENRY JOHNSON was not nominated for Congress in the Twentieth District; that seven of the Conferees, viz:, three from Crawford, three from Ciarion, and one from Venango, voted for him; but that in so voting they represented no body but themselves. That they constituted a majority of the Conference is not denied, but the objection to their action seems to be in setting aside the contestants, and taking a man not mixed up in the struggle, they exceeded their authority, The Mercer County Republican Commitasserting that the Conferees from that counthe Conference, and justify them in so doing. It is further claimed by the Committee that Mr. Johnson has not accepted the nomination, and that his hesitation is caused by a consciousness of irregularity in the Conference. Simultaneously with this announcement his acceptance appeared in the Meadville newspapers. The Crawford Journal says: "The nomination of Mr. Jonson has not awakened any enthusiasm. It is irrely charged and generally believed that the nomination was secured by unfair means and inasmuch as this style of making candidates must be ended or it will end the party, the people appear determined to put their foot upon it now."

Without intending to interfere in any local contention, we cannot help remarking that the dead-locks which have recently occurred in several district Conferences in the Western portion of the State have not exalted that kind of instrumentality in the confidence of the people.

CHIEF JUSTICE CHASE has instructed a Grand Jury, in West Virginia, that the new fourteenth article is a valid portion of the Federal Constitution. The reasons which led to this instruction appear in the telegram which we quote elsewhere. It will naturally strike the reader that the Chief Justice, probably in view of the revolutionary protests and threats in which the Democracy have indulged themselves, has improved the first opportunity to declare the legal and binding adoption of the amendment, conveying to the people a significant intir ation that its provisions will be judicially enforced. It is not surprising that he should hold this opinion, as the legal validity of the amendment is admitted by all except the ultra Democratic partizans, but an especial significance is to be attached to this early and decisive declaration from Judge Chase. Do we need to remind our readers that the SEYMOUR, BLAIR and HAMPTON programme expressly includes the nullification of this fourteenth article which the Chief Justice

Ar a meeting in Cincinnati, a few days since, of the opponents of short-span railway bridges over the Ohio, a detailed report was presented by Captain Ross, the delegate who had been sent to Washington to obtain the intervention of the Federal authority. The results reported by him afford an encouraging promise that no more obstructions in the way of free navigation will be permitted. We quote a single paragraph:

The fact is well understood by the railroad and bridge companies that all work on all bridges with a main span of less than five bundred feet must stop now and forever; and it is also well understood that any company desiring to build a bridge with a main span of alw houserd feet can; go on who thou tinterraption. As the matter stands now, the bill is succeeded in the speaker's table, and had Congress remained in acasion one hour longer it would have been reached and passed. I am satisfied, if there is a quorum present in September, it will become a law, but not without stress quasatified. paragraph: a quorum present in September, it will iaw, but not without strong opposition.

BLAIR AND ARMY CONTRACTS.

The Democratic candidate, an ardent Free-soiler in '61, soon after quarrelled with FREMONT in Missouri and in duetime turned his political cost, and now holds the second place in the Democratic party. We append some correspondence of BLAIR's, which explains the cause of his dissatisfaction with the Republican party. It seems that FREMONT and his officers couldn't see the way clear to give BLAIR and his friends all the fat contracts they desired. We commend these letters as good reading for Democrats, who hear a good deal from their newspapers about Radical Corruptions. The history of their cwn candidate comes nearer proving the truth of these charges than anything else we have seen.

[Can it be that the support given to Blair
by the rebel sympathizer, Lewis V. Bogy, in 1868, is the return for the above letter to his brother in 1861? The coincidence is worth noting.]

He is about busted up financially, and is very much in need of something of the kind to help him through. some of our friends have had contracts [referring probably to Neal, Elleard, Bowen, et al.,] and done pretty well. [Ben Farrar was made United States Subeasurer by Blair, and when the latter was under arrest, he repaired to Farrar's house, where he received his friends.]
One of the names given of the Safety Committee is that of John How, an ex-Mayor of St. Louis, then a good Republican, and now a good Conservative friend of Jeneral Blair. The intimacy between them was and is of the strongest kind. Everything that John How did received Blair's approval, and vice versa. He was, and is yet, a leather dealer, but seems to have conceived the idea that it was proper and legitimate to go into army contracts quite extensively. So he joined Mr. Walter S. Gurner, of Chicago, in a proposition to General Fremont, August 19, 1861, to furnish twenty thousand army coats, twenty thousand sand flannel shirts, seventy thousand pairs of socks, thirty-five thousand infantry shoes, and other articles in proportion. General Fremont referred the proposal to McKinstry, who declined it on the ground that it was too large an order to be given out withou advertising for proposals, whereupon the would-be contractors applied to General Fremont to order' McKins-Vindication, page 21.] It will be noted that Blair's name does not directly enter into this contract controversy, but, to say the [Vide least, do not his strong friendship for John How and their notorious intimacy render it probable that his silent acquiescence was intended to be more potent than direct personal help? When the would-be contractors asked Fremont to order McKinstry to give them the $750,000 contract, was Blair's name used as an inducement? The record does not inform us; but it must have been an extraordinary speciacle for Blair to write such letters for such small fry as Jim Neal and others, and retuse his assistance to his greater and more influential friend John How. It is a startling fact that as soon as bonds that taxes. Seymour says the bonds thave gone into the hands of innocent holders, who, to a vast amount, are compulsory owners. NASHVILLE, August 8 -- Mayor Allen and a committee of citizens have investiga-ted the charge of a plot to burn Nashville and other towns. It appears that the matter was urged upon colored men by John Carper, an old Union man, who is regarded as a monomaniac. No legal proof was elicited. The committee recommended an inquest to ascertain Carper's sanity.
