DEATH OF THAD. STEVENS.

THAD. STEVENS, the noble old commoner, is no more. Surrounded by his friends, he passed last night into the dark valley of death as calmly as sinks the innocent babe into slumber. America has new cause for mourning, for she has lost one of her most gifted sons and sturdiest patriots. No longer will his brave arm be raised in defense of the defenseless; never again will his heart beat in sympathy with his poor and oppressed fellow-beings; never more will his voice ring out defiance to the enemies of his country and sound the warning when traitors aim at the life of the Government; nor will again his eagle-eye, now dull in death, seek out and detect the stabs made in the name of patriotism at the heart of Liberty. He is gone. His country has no tears too worthy his worth. As all that is left of him will be lowered to the grave, a mighty nation, bowing in submission to the will of God, will be moved to grief and sadness and bewail the loss which has fallen upon them. He lived to see the day dream of his life accomplished. No rattling of the chains of his fellow beings in bondage, no sound of the slaveholder's whip, no yell of the bloodhound in search of human prey, fell upon his ears as his soul fluttered toward life and death. He died knowing that his country was forever free from those relics of barbarism, and that the flag he had adored floated over a one united people cemented together in a pure and holy freedom.

Mr. Stevens was born in Caledonia county, Vt., April 14, 1792. He graduated at Dartmouth College and came to Pennsylvania in 1814, and commenced teaching in an Academy, and while engaged in that occupation studied law, and was admitted to practice. He was a member of the State Legislature in 1833-4-5-6 and 1841, and in 1838 was a member of the State Constitutional Convention and in the same year was appointed Canal Commissioner of the State. He served in the Lancaster county district in Congress in the thirty-first, second-sixth and following sessions up to the present term. The lateness of the hour at which intelligence of his death was received prevents us from writing any more extended notice of the life of this great man, but his history is known to most of our readers, as he figured in such a conspicuous manner in the affairs of the nation as to render his name as familiar as a household word to all American citizens.

MASKING OF BATTERIES.

Some days ago, the Charleston Mercury frankly confessed that word had been sent throughout the Southern States, by Northern Democratic leaders, that the belligerent tone of their orators and journalists was doing harm to SEYMOUR and BLAIR, and must be abated. The citations we made yesterday from those speakers and newspapers show that the admonition was not given a moment too soon, but was in fact delayed too long.

On the 9th inst. the South Carolina Democratic Convention, perceiving there was force in the caution, formally resolved that while the Southern Democrats meant to accomplish all the purposes they had avowed, they intended to do so by peaceful instrumentalities. The hypocrisy of this profession is patent. The threats were too loud, and deep, and earnest, and universal, to admit of that explanation.

WADE HAMPTON appeared on the scene and had the effrontery to charge all his apparent truculence and blood-thirstiness upon the reporters of the press, who had strangely conspired, in various cities, to pervert his meaning. That will not do, Mr. HAMPTON. In ninety-nine cases of every hundred, when a public speaker complains of the reporters, he is moved thereby by finding occasion to deny what he actually said. All newspaper men know this to be a fact, and so do most individuals of the general public.

Mr. HAMPTON spoke in a number of places, and democratic journals concurred substantially with Republican ones in the reports made of his addresses. The Charleston Mercury itself reported him as broadly for a fresh rebellion, as any other newspaper. Was that journal in conspiracy against him? In making such a statement, even inferentially, he disgraces himself. He knows he is falsifying, and so does everybody else.

THE LOYALTY of the Democratic leaders was impeached during the war; but many charitable Republicans could hardly be persuaded that the charge was just. But those leaders have themselves proved the justice of the accusation in the extreme alacrity with which they received some of the bloodiest of the rebels to party fellowship, and even gave them the privilege of dictating the platform of the party. In the New York Convention no man had greater influence, or wielded more power than WADE HAMPTON, one of the fiercest enemies the country had during the rebellion, and no man was more honored, petted and lionized than FORANER, the butcher of the unarmed garrison of Fort Pillow. It is folly now for any man, be his condition in life what it may, to pretend to be loyal to his government who supports that party and that ticket. A man known by the company he keeps. Let honest men come out from among them.

THE ALLEGHENIANS have respectfully addressed a request to the candidates for Assembly, among whom they have but a single representative, (Hon. JAMES L. GRAMM), that a pledge be given that the question of consolidation, so far as their city is concerned, be waived at the next session of the Legislature. There is nothing more in the request than justice and honor demand, and we hope the candidates will at once settle all anxiety on the part of our Allegheny friends by entering into the promise. The consolidation question will hardly revive unless the people of Allegheny declare that it should. Any project pointing to the coercion of our sister city into Pittsburgh will never meet with any public favor, and it never should.

THE PRIMARY ELECTION.

We again remind the Republicans of this city that the Primary Election will be held on next Saturday, and that it will be conducted on the "Crawford County System," that is, the candidates will be selected by direct vote of the constituency, and not through the intervention of delegates. If this system shall be found to work well and acceptably in the present instance, it will doubtless be continued, and the application of it extended, whereas if unsatisfactory nominations shall result, it may be abandoned and the old caucus method be restored. The voters have it entirely in their power to say who shall be the candidates, and whoever among them shall refuse or omit to turn out and exercise his privilege, or rather perform his duty in the premises, will be effectually estopped from reasonable complainings thereafter.

The Candidates to be selected are for Mayor, Controller and Treasurer. The municipal consolidation that has been accomplished, partial as it is, added materially both to the relative and intrinsic importance of these three offices, and made it of increased consequence that due care be exercised in designating proper persons to fill them.

While the duties of the Mayor have been augmented by the extension of territory and the consequent increase of population, the dignity of the office has not been raised proportionally. A sub-division of the labor devolved on the incumbent is absolutely necessary, and besides insuring greater efficiency of administration, will produce other beneficial results. It is time the Mayor ceased to be mainly a Police Magistrate; and this our citizens will abundantly find before they have experienced many years longer.

The expansion of the city limits and the improvements following necessarily thereupon, have caused the posts of Controller and Treasurer to be magnified very greatly. The importance of these stations will steadily augment with the increase in population and wealth.

It has been observed that those citizens who grumble most sorely over the unwise or mal-administration of municipal affairs are commonly the ones who do least, or perhaps nothing to have the right men put into places of honor or responsibility. Carrying out the ideas of the division of labor which they put into practice in ordinary business pursuits, they wash their own hands of politics by surrendering the management thereof to professional politicians, and finding matters do not go in accordance with their views of expediency or of right, they become discontented, and fall to denouncing managers. If their disquietude induced them to go back and take up the burden of citizenship they cast from their own shoulders, altogether careless as to who appropriated it, or to what end it was applied, the temporary affliction would end propitiously.

The choice for a candidate for Mayor seems to be narrowed down between JARED M. BRUSH, JAMES ROSS, and CHARLES JEREMY; for Controller, between THOMAS AS STEELE and R. J. MCGOWAN; and for Treasurer, between WILLIAM A. TOMLINSON, A. J. COCHRAN, A. J. ALLENDER and WILLIAM LITTLE. There is good material here for each of the places to be filled; as good as can well be desired. True, the names of other citizens might have been brought out. Whose fault is it they were not? It devolved on citizens who thought other names to be desirable, to first secure the consent of the owners of them and then to bring them before the electors. Failing in that, they have no body to reflect upon but themselves. But, to what end multiply names? What is needful is not more names to select from, but a concentration upon the best offered, particularly when the best, as in the present case, are as excellent as need be. Let us make this point emphatic. What is necessary is for those citizens who have deepseats in the proper administration of the city government to concentrate their votes at the Primary Election on the best man for each of the three offices; and to see that none but Republicans vote at the Primary Election of the party. This done, such a result will be reached as will ensure not only success, but a wise and just administration.

THE PERILOUS CHARACTER of the emergency which made necessary the application of the Governor of Louisiana for the intervention of the Federal authority to maintain the law in that State, has been fully sustained by the officially reported facts showing the existence of revolutionary secret organizations among the rebels, expressly for the purpose of outrage upon Union citizens. The danger has not diminished, and while the President temporizes and hesitates, the rebel designs gain in audacity and completeness of detail. As late as on the 4th inst., it transpired at New Orleans that a plot was on foot to create a disturbance, using "colored Democrats" as the stool pigeons, when inflammatory speeches should provoke aggressions from the Republicans of the same race, whereupon the organized Thugs of the city should, as a whole, take part in the affair and commence the systematic slaughter of all the prominent white Union men. This plot has been exposed and steps have been taken, effectually it is hoped, to prevent its consummation. It is evident that throughout Louisiana, as in other Southern States, the reinspired rebels are fully prepared, and awaiting only the signal for a general carnival of murder, ravelling in atrocity that which rendered the streets of New Orleans with blood two years ago.

Campaign exigencies have evolved no less than a fleet of General Grant. He will need them all if he expects to live long. He is President of the United States, and his name is on the ticket.
