The Butchers complain that the people will not yet buy beef, although there is no disease whatever now among the cattle in this section.

He was subsequently released upon giving bail in the sum of one thousand dollars for his appearance. Win. Wolfbranger, of Baldwin township, charged with selling liquor without license, was also admitted to bail.

Sidewalks on Grant Street.—Under the direction of Street Commissioner McFadden the Pennsylvania Railroad Company have constructed brick sidewalks on both sides of Grant street along their property. The walks are twelve feet wide. They were also whitewashed the fence which encloses the lot between Liberty and Grant streets.

A Close Contest.—Charlotte Straut made information before Alderman Strain yesterday, charging Kate Close with assault and battery and for surety of the peace. She alleges that Kate beat her in a very shameful manner, and threatened to take her life. A warrant was issued for the accused arrested and held to bail for her appearance at Court.

Admitted to Bail.—Hamilton Curran, of Natrona, was committed to jail yesterday morning to answer four charges of illegal liquor selling. He was subsequently released upon giving bail in the sum of one thousand dollars for his appearance. Win. Wolfbranger, of Baldwin township, charged with selling liquor without license, was also admitted to bail.

Fatal Mistake.—On the 3d inst., Henry Tritt bought the stock of a clock store at Alliance at Sheriff's sale for $100. While arranging his stock on Thursday, Mr. T. asked a fluid which he supposed to be harmless, but which proved to be the mixture of arsenic, a deadly poison. The unfortunate man was soon after seized with spasms and died on Friday evening.

Coat Stolen.—Charles Lelfel, a resident of Wylie street, made information before the proper authority yesterday, that a man named Flazar, with larceny, had stolen a coat from him, worth ten dollars. The defendant is a denizen of Ohio street, Allegheny. He was arrested and committed to jail in default of bail for his appearance at Court.

Alleged Burglar.—Yesterday Mr. Chas. C. Beer, tobaccoist on Wood street, made information before the Mayor, charging Linn Gibson with larceny. It is alleged that the defendant participated in the robbery of deponent's store on the night of June 12th, 1867, and carried away sundry zinc retorts, pipes, cigar tubes and other articles belonging to a cigar store. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the accused, who it appears is already in jail on a charge of larceny. He will probably have a hearing this morning.

Only a few days have elapsed since Alice was arrested on a similar charge, and compromised the matter by promising to vacate the house.

The Tombs.—We paid a visit to the tombs last night, and were pleased to observe the marked improvement in the general condition. The ceilings and walls have been newly whitewashed, new floors laid and other improvements made. Many of the other improvements are being made. Mayor Blackmore deserves much credit for his attention in this direction.

Taken to Hospital.—A girl about fifteen years of age, giving her name as Jennie Reynolds, who has four brothers, has been lying on the Allegheny Valley Railroad near Negley's Run, was seriously injured by a passing train yesterday morning. It appears that she was sitting asleep near the track with a foot on the rail, when the train passed over the foot, cutting it in a similar manner. The unfortunate creature was removed to Passavant's Hospital.

Allegheny Zouaves.—At a meeting of this well-known military organization, held at the army, Wilkins Hall, last night, the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year: Captain, Martin Beckelhorst; First Lieutenant, C. B. Dronnan; Second Lieutenant, D. C. Rankin; Company cook, Geo. F. Gowen. The Company has adopted the uniform of the original Eleventh, of which its Captain was a member in 1859.

The Attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Mr. William Heston, merchant tailor, No. 60 West Liberty street. Mr. H. has long sustained high reputation as a fashionable tailor and draftsman, and persons favoring him with their patronage cannot fail to be pleased. He has at all times a fine stock of cloths, cassimere and vestings on hand, which he makes up at shortest notice, in the best and at most reasonable prices. Having had a personal acquaintance with Mr. Heston, we commend him in earnest terms to our readers.

Coroner's Inquest.—Coroner Clawson yesterday held an inquest on the body of William Manyan, who was killed by the falling of a derrick in West Pittsburgh, Monday afternoon, the particulars of which we published yesterday morning. The jury returned the following verdict: "That the said William Manyan came to his death by West Pittsburgh, on the 17th day of August, 1868, by the accidental falling of a derrick on the Pennsylvania Railroad. The jury further found that no blame attached to the contractor under whose supervision the derrick was erected."

Burglary in Allegheny.—Vague reports of a burglary in the Sixth Ward, Allegheny, are in circulation, the substance of which, as we could ascertain, are as follows: A Mr. Miller, residing on Beaver Avenue, left home Saturday, leaving his house in charge of his housekeeper, and when he returned on Monday he found that his trunk had been broken open and about $150 abstracted therefrom, and the housekeeper had disappeared. It appears that Mr. M. is a bachelor, and that the only persons about the house were the housekeeper and a blacksmith who boarded with him. The housekeeper has not been heard of and the black money very freely within the past few days. The police are working up the case.

The Lees-Verein.—Yesterday we strayed into the German Lees-Verein on Liberty street, and, thanks to two courteous German fellow-citizens, were able to see all that was to be seen. A long room with books down the two sides, windows at one end and a stair-case and colossal bust of Schiller at the other, tables in the middle covered with periodicals, a bronze bust of Franklin in a bracket, and nothing more. Yet these books and periodicals form the only portion of library of foreign language that we observed in the city. The Lees-Verein is a branch of the German citizens do all that others do in their adopted city and country, they still reserve a pleasant look like this as a monument to beloved Fatherland.

Escape and Capture.—Yesterday morning one of the prisoners in the Western Penitentiary escaped from that institution and succeeded in getting about one square distant before he was captured. It appears that he ran to the store room, which is on the second floor in the front part of the building, it is necessary to come outside of the main door into the lobby, and the superintendent with two of the prisoners was removing the door from the workshop to the store room. The shoes were carried up stairs and deposited in the store room, and the prisoner was being returned to the prison. The prisoner came back very peacefully. He stated that he had not thought of escaping a moment before he started, that the desire for liberty forced itself upon him so strong as he was returning to the prison that he could not help making an attempt to get away.

The Accident on the Oil Creek and Allegheny Railroad.

The following of the terrible railroad disaster on the Oil Creek and Allegheny Railroad is from the Titusville Morning Herald of yesterday:

It seems that No. 8 freight train was going south, loaded with merchandise and oil, and drawn by engine No. 24. The train was twenty minutes late, and was running at the rate of twenty miles an hour for the purpose of making up the lost time. At coming time, the construction train was in the rear and the caboose, with the laborers and their tools, in front. Mr. Poor was the conductor of the construction train, and he and others were at that reaching Houseville they say nothing of the telegraph operator, and in a few minutes past one o'clock the freight No. 8 has passed.

Feeling assured that the track was clear, conductor Poor ordered his train to go on, and in a few minutes past one o'clock the two trains met on a curve near the John Buchanan farm.

John Wilson was fearful, and the terrific collision with which the two running bodies met, can only be inferred from the fact that the caboose, with its occupants, was lifted, as if by the arms of some angry giant, clear off the track and hurled end over the whole train and dropped clear of the engine.

The train two tank cars were thrown bodily into Oil Creek, and the others piled in a promiscuous heap.

Wilson was instantly killed, and the construction train that the most fearful accident was transpiring. Here were men, a moment ago full of life, being whirled in a fearful cage in the air, and the ingenuity of torture, sharp picks, bars, shovels, etc., were crushing, maiming and mangled.

As soon as the engineers of the respective trains perceived their danger, they reversed their engines and with their fire-jumps, a brakeman, was badly scalded.
