Trial of James Whalen for the Murder of D'Arcy McGee.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)
OTTAWA, Sept. 8.—The trial of James Whalen resumed to-day. Counsel for Jordan and Pennington stated how their attention was first directed to Lacroix. They brought him to town and he pointed out the spot where he saw a man shoot, and described the particulars of the tragedy. Lacroix was an ignorant Frenchman, and showed that he was extremely unwilling and afraid to come forward as a witness, but that his first statement of circumstances connected with the murder closely agreed with his evidence given yesterday. Whalen testified to Whalen's mysterious and suspicious movements in the Parliament houses on the night of the murder. Mr. J. J. McGee testified to Whalen's visits to his brother's house on the morning of the 22d of January under an assumed name. Mr. Buckley, a messenger in the House, gave evidence tending to show Whalen, he said, he suspected another man whom he had seen lurking around the House. It is believed that Buckley will be arrested himself.

Other witnesses were examined, all of whose testimony, although circumstantial, point strongly to Whalen as the perpetrator of the crime. The court adjourned at six o'clock to meet again to-morrow. The Crown counsel appears to feel wholly satisfied that evidence will be produced to convict Whalen, while the counsel for the defense expect to break it down, and they are equally confident that Whalen will be acquitted. There are said to be seven names on the jury.
Mr. O'Leary defends his challenging of Roman Catholic jurors on the ground, as he alleges, of a well known sympathy on the part of the many Roman Catholics in this neighborhood with Whalen. The refusal of Chief Justice Richards to allow a peremptory challenge of jurors, it is thought by many lawyers here, will furnish ample grounds for a new trial in the event of its being found necessary to do so by a verdict against the prisoner. The excitement has been very great.

The United States storeship Guard arrived to-day from the Mediterranean.
THE CASE OF COMMISSIONER ROLLINS ET AL.
In the case of Commissioner Rollins, and others, to-day District Attorney Courtney produced a telegram from Acting Attorney General Eaton, to the effect that Solicitor Binckley had not been authorized by the Attorney General, or any head of the Department, to assist in the prosecution, and had no right to represent the United States ex-officio as Solicitor to the Internal Revenue office. Mr. Courtney stated he had found Binckley overbearing, insulting, domineering and ignorant of the true method of procedure, and he found it impossible to get along with him. After some discussion Commissioner Gutman decided Mr. Binckley had no status in the Court, and he retired. The examination was then adjourned to the 15th, and Mr. Smith, the only party under arrest, was discharged on his own recognizance.

THE ASSASSINATION TRIAL IN CANADA.
A special Ottawa dispatch to the Herald says: The city swarms with correspondents, detectives, &c. Around the jail a regiment is camped and a guard of twenty men receives Whelan every night. Each man is served out twenty-five rounds of ball cartridges and the prisoner is marched in a queue. The guards have threatened that if justice is not done, they will take Whelan by force and hang him. Public feeling is intense and the moral conviction is strong that Whelan is the murderer. Six or seven head centers of money to aid in the escape are being closely watched. The defense is despondent. Threatening letters have been sent to the witnesses for the prosecution, and one of them was attacked and knocked down with a slung-shot.

EXTRADITION CASE.
The case of William H. Martin, who was returned from Canada under the extradition treaty, charged with the robbery of a messenger of the Merchants' Union Express Company on the Hudson River in May last, was before the Supreme Court to-day. The prisoner, while en route here, was arrested by the Sheriff of Cayuga county on a civil process obtained by the company, and the proceedings to-day were on a motion by the prisoner's counsel for a writ of habeas corpus, on the ground that the company, by abandoning the criminal prosecution, had broken faith with the Canadian government, and in fact acted in collusion with the prisoner. The matter was adjourned to the 16th to allow the taking of testimony.

When the train going west reached that point, about two o'clock yesterday morning, the engine was precipitated to the bottom of the ravine, dragging after it three cowboys, cattle cars and one wheat car, piling them on the top of each other in a confused heap. The last car raised the heap to such a height as to prevent the passenger cars which came after on following. The engine was killed instantly, the fireman was badly bruised and scalded, and his injuries resulted in death.

The Hippocampus, a propeller of ninety tons burden, plying between St. Joseph, Michigan, and Chicago, in the peach trade, left St. Joseph on Monday night with about thirty passengers and a bill crew, once which time nothing has been heard of her. As she was due here yesterday, it is feared that she has foundered. The theory is that being on a dark night, the vessel struck the rocks. The following is a partial list of the passengers: Alvin M. Palmer, James M. Bortore, James Trimble, W. Burridge, John Burridge, Wm. Vaughan, W. Hathaway, C. C. Lewis, J. C. Lewis, and Geo. E. Hatch, of Benton Harbor, Mich.; E. M. Hatch, of St. Joseph, and J. Shum, of Bainebridge, Mich.; Joseph Johnson, of his affidavit, and A. P. Whitney, of Chicago.

The crew consisted of captain, H. M. New York and Chicago, and another clerk, J. P. Bloom, of St. Joseph; engineer, Richard Eustis, of Chicago; wheelman, Charles Morrison, of St. Joseph; and five deck hands, whose names are not given. The vessel was from here to search for the wreck.

A dispatch from Benton Harbor, Michigan, this evening, says the cargo of the propeller consisted of eight thousand baskets of peaches, mostly on the main and hurricane deck, and a few on the upper deck. The peaches, which were on the upper deck, were capsized during a squall. The propeller was struck by St. Joseph the same night, reports having experienced heavy weather. The Hippocampus was valued at twenty-two thousand dollars and insured for $15,000.

THE COURTS.

Court of Quarter Sessions.
[Before Judge Sterrett.]

Court met at ten o'clock, Wednesday, and proceeded to business in order.

David Beck, John H. McClure, James D. Kelly and Alfred Askin, summoned as traverse jurors, were excused for cause.
The grand jury appeared and returned a number of bills.

A surety case, partially heard on Tuesday, was resumed, and among the witnesses called was Michael Sweeney, who refused to be sworn until his fees were paid, stating he had been obliged to leave his work and to pay a man two dollars for taking his place. The Court inquired whether he had demanded pay as a witness at the time he was served with the subpoena. Answering in the negative, the Court directed him to be sworn. He proved rather an unwilling witness, answering questions reluctantly. In the course of his examination (Judge Sterrett having taken him in hand) it appeared that he keeps a licensed tavern in the Sixth ward, occupying the rooms for such purpose one as a bar, the remainder consisting of kitchen, dining room, a single other rooms and other requirements under the law. It was plain that the Board of License had been imposed on, Sweeney's statement of the contents of the arrangements of his house differing materially from his affidavit, and that he had represented truthfully in all probability a license would have been refused him. The Court said that although the matter had been irregularly brought up, it was one of which the District Attorney should take due notice. Presenting a petition for a writ of habeas corpus to prevent such imposition upon the License Board. Sweeney was directed to remain in Court, and finally was allowed to depart.

POLITICAL.
Republican Meeting at Millvale.
Tuesday evening a large number of the Republicans of Millvale and vicinity assembled in mass meeting for the purpose of hearing the issues of the campaign directed by the speakers appointed for the occasion. Mr. Thomas McCabe was called to preside and John G. Brown, Esq., selected as Secretary.

The following officers were proposed for a grand club:
President—D. T. Johnson.
Vice Presidents—Josiah Riley, John D. B. and Hugh Woods.
Secretary—James McCance.
Committee on Torchlights, &c.—T. Seebrock, Jesse Riley.
Committee on Meetings and Speakers—Edward Coats, John J. Williams and S. T. Ketter.

All of these nominations were ratified. The Millvale Glee Club were introduced, and sang "Hurrah for General Grant" with due effect.
The Chairman introduced Hon. S. A. Parviance, who delivered an eloquent address. He called attention to the mighty power of the ballot, and to the duty and responsibility of every man in exercising the right of suffrage. He next spoke of discussing the merits of each. He pointed out the many acts of the Republican party, conferring vast benefits upon the people, and then referred to the acts of the Democratic party, through which war had resulted, and also referred to the conduct of Horatio Seymour on the occasion of the New York riots, when he spoke to the infatuated masses, calling them his "friends." Mr. P. then referred to the recent Democratic Convention at New York, wherein red-handed rebels, such as Hampton, Forrest and Prentiss, aided by the blatant traitor Vallandigham, had dictated the policy of the party and made the nominations. The people in the present contest were called upon to say whether loyalty should preserve what loyalty secured, or whether those recently in rebellion against the government should again be placed in power. On the question of taxation Mr. P. spoke at length, showing that the Republican Congress had been the friend of the workingman and farmer. He also discussed the bond question, and exposed the utter fallacy of the doctrine enunciated by Democrats.

He closed his address by a most eloquent appeal to the people to rally to the polls in October and November and vote for the grand party of the Union Republican party, the party which had saved the country from dissolution and anarchy, and in whose hands the control of the government should reside in the present crisis in public affairs. The Glee Club were again called upon and after singing "Hurrah boys, with Grant," the meeting adjourned with repeated cheers for the Republican National State and county candidates.

Republican Meetings.
The following political notices were crowded out of yesterday's paper:
On Saturday night one of the most brilliant political meetings ever assembled in Wilkensburg was held. Able and patriotic addresses were delivered by Hon. F. C. Shannon, J. F. Slagle, Esq., and Gen. Wm. Blakely. The attendance of ladies and gentlemen was very large, and much enthusiasm was manifested.

At McKeesport on Monday evening Messrs. Glenn and Lambie addressed a very large meeting of Republicans assembled in Market Square. The gentlemen ably discussed the issues of the hour, and were listened to with much interest.
According to call the Republicans of Scott and Robinson townships met at Mansfield on Monday evening. Col. Russell Errett presided with Messrs. Jacob Little, M. B. Brown, J. K. Cubbago, J. H. Reilly, John Anderson, Samuel Glass, J. W. Edmondson, and J. C. White. Dr. J. H. Dick and William McClure are Vice-Presidents, and Messrs. Glenn, Bingham, and William Clark, Jr., are Secretaries. Speeches were made by Hon. J. M. Kirkpatrick, A. M. Brown, Esq., and Miles Humphreys, Esq., and patriotic songs were sung by Pope, the campaign minstrel. The meeting was one of the most successful ever held in the history of the county.

At Green Oak on the same evening a large Republican gathering was addressed by Messrs. Thomas Howard and John S. Lambie.
At Oakdale station, on the Pan Handle Railroad, Tuesday night, Messrs. Thomas Howard and A. M. Watson addressed a very large assembly of Republican voters.

Grant Hussars.
Pursuant to adjournment the Grant Hussars held a meeting last evening at No. 51 Fifth street. The meeting was called to order at 7 1/2 o'clock, and Andrew Cox in the chair. The Artillery Committee reported an offer from Major Knapp of the guns which would be necessary for the organization. The applications for membership footed up nearly six hundred, with others coming in rapidly.
The Butchers' Guild was represented by Mr. Wm. Hosack, and a number of other organizations in the county.
A committee, consisting of Messrs. J. B. Johnson, John A. Wilson and J. P. Logan, was appointed to confer with a similar committee from the Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention, to push enlistments.

Andrew Cox and H. M. Kwon were appointed a committee to procure a flag for the Hussars' headquarters.
Mr. J. B. Johnson was added to the Committee on Finance.
The meeting then adjourned to meet this evening at 7 1/2 o'clock, at the same place. A full attendance of all interested is especially urged for to-night.

A pretty accurate description has been obtained by detectives of the man who recently availed himself of the little girl, Mary Marman, in Philadelphia, a few days since, and every effort is being made to arrest the scoundrel. Mayor McPherson has offered a reward of five hundred dollars, and it is thought he will surely be shortly after his meeting with the woods in the evening. The post-mortem examination showed that the little child had been smothered in a horrid manner. What then beaten on the head with a blunt instrument and thrown into a brick pond. Detectives think the villain who committed the crime is the same who murdered the Joyce children, near Boston, some years ago.

The particulars of the murder of two white men at Thompson, Georgia, by a negro, shown to have been unprovoked. The negro split open the skull of one with an axe while his back was turned. The colored people in the neighborhood captured and hung the murderer.
