GEN. SIEGEL resides at Morrisania, N. Y., and is President of the GRANT and COLFAX Club. Plenty of Germans are "fighting with SIEGEL" this year.

In the Republican procession at Bangor, Me., was a wagon filled with mutilated Union soldiers, bearing the motto: "This is what we owe to the Democratic party."

HERE is another loyal volunteer against the new Democratic rebellion! Hon. THOS. J. TURNER, of Freeport, Ill., who was the last Democratic candidate for Congress against E. B. WASSBURGH, has publicly avowed his intention to work and vote for GRANT and COLFAX.

THE tender affection of the Democratic party for the boys in blue is shown by the fact that, on Monday last, eighty-five workmen, all Republicans but two, and among them four one-legged and three one-armed soldiers, were discharged from the Portsmouth Navy Yard by the New Democratic incumbents there.

IT is proposed to re-organize the Atlantic and Great Western Railway Company upon a new financial basis, capitalizing the past due coupons and certificates of debenture to the extent of about fifteen millions of dollars and increasing the entire bond and share account to about $65,000,000. A proposal of this nature from the Directors has met unanimous approval in England, where the greater portion of the stocks and bonds is held.

MR. SETWORTH, in his little speech at Albany, on Wednesday, announced that he had received from all quarters the most gratifying assurances of Democratic triumph. "The Vermont telegraph has come down that day. Four years ago, at Milwaukee, the same uttering prophet made a speech declaring that 'the people had lost faith in the administration. I believe that we are to triumph in this contest. No man can doubt this who saw what I saw at Chicago.'" The November ballot brought that triumph—over the left—and '68 will report it in the same way.

TWO years ago Chief Justice WOODWARD delivered an opinion, in the case of SHALLENBERGER vs. BRITTON, rd. B. F. SMITH, page 9, to the effect that the legal tender currency was unconstitutional. In this opinion, Judge THOMPSON concurred. In the case of THOTT vs. BONZ, in the District Court of Philadelphia, and reported in the Legal Intelligencer, the same opinion was pronounced by Judge SHARSWOOD. Those opinions, particularly the one first mentioned, was applied by all the Democratic journals of Pennsylvania. Now all these journals are in favor of increasing to an almost indefinite extent a currency which three of their most eminent jurists have pronounced to be in violation of the Constitution. Are they animated by a desire to impinge upon the organic law? or are they controlled by a disposition to swindle the public creditors?

THE DEBT NEARLY HALVED.

Add to the amount of the Public Debt, as officially promulgated April 1st, '65, $2,366,955,077, this amount being the ascertained obligations of the Government, the larger amounts which were at the same date actually due, but not yet ascertained and liquidated, and we can form an exact idea of how much money we owed at the close of the war.

The official Treasury Reports show that we were also owing at that date, in back pay for our soldiers, for transportation and for the settlement of contracts for subsistence and war material, the further sum of $698,546,078, all of which we paid off within the next fifteen months, that is, by the 30th of June, '66. This for the War Department. The Navy Department was also owing for similar claims, the further sum of $76,319,778, which it proceeded to ascertain, settle and pay off within the same period.

We have also paid for bounties, pensions, prize money, reimbursing States, claims of loyal men, and other proper charges of the war, the further sum of $145,912,401. The aggregate of these war expenses, $920,778,252, every dollar of which was due, although not yet ascertained, and existed as part of the National obligations on the 1st of April, '65, must be added to the ascertained debt at the latter date, and the total amount of money which we were really owing was $3,287,735,329.

The Secretary reports our total debt September 1, '68, at only $2,600,900,818, omitting the railroad bonds, the people will see that there has been already paid off the sum of $767,834,810, or one-fourth part of the whole debt of the country at the end of the war.

To deny that, you must hold that a debt is not a debt so long as it is merely a claim; that no matter how just the claim, it constitutes no part of your obligations until you acknowledge your liability. This is not the way a man of sense does business. He reckons his obligations according to what he owes, and justifies and honors his agreement to pay, and it is a debt which he recognizes whether ascertained and entered up in his books or not.

And not only has the Treasury thus paid in three years one-fourth of the enormous debt occasioned by the war, but it has in the same time paid, for interest on that and on the other three-fourths, the sum of $438,494,833. Here, then, has been paid in the three years over twelve hundred millions of public obligations. And who among our citizens has felt any grievous or oppressive burthen therefrom?

We have seen somewhere a Democratic estimate which places the share of the Public Debt falling upon Pennsylvania at $300,000,000, or one-sixth of the amount now standing unpaid. If that be correct, the same estimate must show that Pennsylvania has borne the same proportion in paying off the $1,200,000,000 of principal and interest already discharged; that the people of this Commonwealth have already paid twelve hundred millions of dollars. One estimate is good if the other is. Now let us remark that, whether she has paid more or less, it has not distressed her so much, but that she can pay her share of the remainder quite as easily. Let the Democracy cypher on that!

But let us, while we are about it, look a little closer into this matter. We have stated above only the amount of the war debt actually paid up June 30, '66, and the interest account for the three years, from '65. The fact is, however, that we have continued the liquidation and settlement of these war expenses up to the present year and have not finished yet. The claims for bounties and arrears of pay are not all paid, yet, but we are happy to state that only about ten per cent. of them remains unpaid. These and other extraordinary expenses, the necessary and unavoidable consequences of our efforts to put down the first Democratic rebellion, were summed up by the GAZETTE a month since, upon the highest authority as follows:

War Department.....$2,038,722,928 02 Navy Department.....299,242,129 15 Interest on Public Debt.....67,422,172 83 Total ascertained.....$2,405,387,230 00

This is what the rebellion has so far cost us. As we are now owing only $2,600,000,000, it follows that nearly $1,500,000,000 of the war debt, three-eighths of the whole burden, has been forever extinguished. That tells the whole story and leaves nothing to guess-work.

A CAUTION. We recommend our friends, who have no knowledge of the German language, to be on their guard against a recent device of the opposition. Within a few days, the latter have flooded the city with a four-page German pamphlet, which has been distributed in every public place, at stores, offices and counting rooms, and at the gates of manufacturing establishments, in the hope that the employer, ignorant of its real tenor, would unguardedly hand it over to his German workmen. Numbers of these pamphlets have been left with us for examination, by friends who were suspicious of their real tenor and design, and Copperhead cheek has even had a beautiful illustration in the sending of a sack of them, containing a bushel or two, to our own Executive Committee for distribution! We have a translation of the document, and find it filled with the vilest, and yet the most artful falsehoods, elaborated for the evident purpose of misleading German voters. The questions of the public debt, of taxation, and of reconstruction of the South, are shamelessly misrepresented, the facts concealed, and the most palpable falsehoods are reiterated in a foreign tongue, and for effect upon the prejudices of the German-speaking voters, with an evident confidence in the improbability of any denial or refutation.

We again urge upon our friends not to lend themselves to the circulation of these infamous fabrications, unless they at the same time ascertain their nature and fully explain to their German friends the attempted deception. The pamphlet before us makes no statement which is not capable of the most ample refutation, but, nevertheless, might do mischief if suffered to circulate without reply. Look out, therefore, for all such Democratic tricks and squelch them.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

According to the accounts of the Indian correspondent of a Boston journal, THEODORE PARKER's writings have had quite an effect upon highly educated Hindus, who think their belief in his views involves no loss of caste. But to become a Christian, to attend Church and receive the right of baptism, is to become an apostate, unclean and impure. No man it is said in India can become a Christian without being cast off by his dearest friends—wife, children, father, mother, all hate and curse him; but no consequences follow when idols and Shas-tras are rejected, and the theology of Mr. PARKER is accepted instead.

It is an open question, how long a minister is regarded as a young man. Rev. Prof. TAYLOR, the new Professor at Andover Theological Seminary, in his inaugural address, says men thirty or forty are often still young; some are younger at fifty than others at twenty. If the spirit keeps young, no matter for the years, the preacher himself is still young.

The Old School Presbyterian Synod of Allegheny will meet at Bridgewater, Beaver County, Pa., on the fourth Friday of September, at seven o'clock in the evening. A Convention of the Episcopal Church in Missouri met in St. Louis Thursday week, and elected Rev. Charles F. Robertson, of Malone, New York, Bishop for the Diocese of Missouri, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Bishop Hawks. Bishop Tuttle, of Montana, it will be remembered, declined the honor.

A Minister's wife asks the question, says the Congregationalist, when the minister's salary is fifteen hundred dollars, and a thousand are paid for music; is that a judicious and equitable application of the money raised for parochial purposes? The minister gives seven days' work every week, evenings included, to the church, and chorists give less than seven hours, rehearsals included.

The Memorial Conference of Ohio, at its recent meeting, took action that a brother or sister marrying outside of the Church will be considered not only a transgression against the rules of the Church, but also a transgression against the Word of God. This they must acknowledge and confess before they can be again received into the Church.

Reference was made not long since to the strictness of the Society of Friends, in Philadelphia, in regard to wearing their peculiar garb and style of dress. Within the severity of the Friends on the dress question, it appears, that some time ago the Philadelphia yearly meeting of Friends consented, after much deliberation, that one of their influential members might retain and use in his family the elegant piano which he had purchased. Before that it was customary to "read out of the meeting" any member who kept a piano.

Rev. Dr. Prime of the New York Observer, is represented as having said at a public meeting, in New York, that the system of mission-chapels has failed, and that not one self-sustaining church had ever been produced thereby. This is certainly a mistake. The Doctor should not take New York as a fair sample of the success of mission-chapels generally.

The New York State Sabbath School Teachers' Association, at its recent session in Elmira, recommended the holding of an International Sunday School Convention at Newark, N. J., the Convention to be held not later than the first of January. The Association resolved that a Training Class be organized in the city of New York during the coming winter. The subject of a Normal College was discussed, but finally referred to the first meeting of a National Institute or Convention.

The Unitarian (Catholic) speaking of the baptism of Hon. Thad. Stevens, in his last moments, by a Sister of Charity, says, "whatever may have been his predilections for the Catholic faith, he died a son of Pius IX, and as baptism expunges all sins which are on the soul before its administration, his salvation is certain."

The building of the Baptist Theological Seminary, now rapidly going up in Chicago, is to be of brick, two hundred and fourteen feet long, forty-eight feet wide and four stories high, and will contain one hundred and eighty rooms for students, besides a boarding department and four residences for professors. It will cost about sixty thousand dollars. It is expected that the rents of its residences will endow one professorship. Great efforts to endow this institution liberally are being put forth.

The New York Independent urges Congress to lay as high a tax on sermon paper as on whisky—in conformity with Napoleon's rule, that vices should be taxed high. It thinks as a general thing, that the life which dwells in a minister's manuscript is like the voice which dwelt in Balaam's ass—it required a miracle to make it speak.

W. A. Ingham, Esq., of Cleveland, Ohio, has generally agreed to educate Ernest G. Wesley, a young man, converted in Buenos Ayres, for the mission work of that country. This young man is a native of England, aged twenty-one, for two years a resident of Buenos Ayres, and a descendant of Samuel, and Susannah Wesley, of Epworth.

The trumpet used at Sing Sing camp meeting is made of solid silver. The old silver trumpet, whose clavier call still rings as clear as ever through the camp-ground, is twenty-six inches long, and is of elegant figure, and great purity and sonority of tone.

A gentleman in Yonkers, New York, is building a two hundred thousand-dollar Baptist church, as a memorial to his deceased wife.

The Universal Catholic thinks the late address to the Pope in Latin, in full rhythm as Virgil's Hexameters, and that the bull of the Immaculate Conception, written by Father Perrone, is the most "epitaphed literary task of mortal man for a thousand years."

An Episcopal clergyman, Rev. Mason Gallaher, declared recently in Detroit, that he regarded the principle established in the Five ladies were recently ordained deaconesses in the First Christian Church of Philadelphia, Elder David Walk, pastor. The State street Congregational Church, Brooklyn, New York, tried the experiment some years ago of setting a Methodist over the congregation. The experiment has not worked well. The Cincinnati Gazette says there was too much Methodism for the Congregationalists, and too much Congregationalism for the Methodists. The result is the church is in a very feeble condition, and will probably expire.

Oregon advised on August 25th say that Colonel Price held a talk with delegations of the Wallapai and Mohave Indians at Fort Mohave, which resulted in an agreement that all tribes assemble in twenty days for a grand council, meanwhile hostilities are to be suspended on both sides.

The Wallapai Indians are ardent foes of Colonel Price is satisfied that no more outrages will be committed. Parties of miners have had to go to the mountains for safety. Sen. Run, chief of the Wallapies and originator of the late war, promised to attend the council. Parties from Prescott report a meeting a large band of Indians, with Sen. Run at their head, who acted friendly. They said they were tired of war.

GENUINE Glycerine Toilet Soap. MANUFACTURED BY PETER SQUIRE, 317 Oxford Street, London.

This Soap has been, by a peculiar process, freed from the excess of alkali almost invariably found in the preparations, and at the same time has been made to take up a large quantity of Glycerine (60 per cent.) which renders it soft, lathering, and especially gives it its soothing quality—softening the skin, and the unpleasant roughness which the use of the ordinary Soap produces. It is especially adapted for delicate skins, and is the only soap that can be used in the bath, and is so much in vogue. It is the most agreeable Shaving Soap that can be used, leaving the skin soft and comfortable. The Soap is sold in Glycerine Soap boxes, and in Glycerine Soap bottles. It is only necessary to apply the soap to the surface and the genuine will be distinguished by the sweet taste. Agents.
