A LETTER from Mr. W. C. THRASHER. of Parkman, Ohio, declares that the report of the existence of any epedimic diseases among the cattle of that region, to be absolutely unfounded.

THE OPPOSITION manifests its usual audacity of assurance in claiming a triumph of rebellion and violence in the Legislature at the recent election in Colorado. The fact of his State. Gov. THE Republicans of Bradford county have re-nominated CHAMBERLAIN and WEBB for a third term of service in the Legislature. The Senatorial Conference in the Bradford district was held on Friday, without result. The contest is a triangular one between LANDON, OSTERHOUT and JESSUP.

THE Democrats of Wayne and Pike counties have nominated the Rev. W. M. NELson for Representative. He has been out of the Legislature the last two years, but was in the preceding four years. The Republicans of the same countles have named as his competitor the Rev. J. K. PECK, Presiding Elder of the District, and Mr. NELSON'S superior, ecclesiastically and otherwise.

MR. THERON E.STRONG is the Republican candidate for Congress in the 12th district. in opposition to Mr. G. W. WOODWARD. He has fine capabilities and attainments: was originally a Democrat, but joined in the Republican movement in 1860; was the Republican Elector for President and Vice President for the 12th district in 1864; and is cousin to Judge Strong of the Supreme

The popular enthusiasm for GRANT is irresistible; he will sweep everything before him." Yes, and not only in Maine but in almost every other State.

"Every man here knows, and every intelligent man throughout the country knows, that this Government cannot, and never will pay the principal of these bonds in gold as long as gold is worth as much more than greenbacks, as it is to-day. [Loud cheers.] If this Government cannot make its greenbacks worth more than seventy cents on the dollar, it cannot pay these bonds in gold. There is no use in shutting your eyes to that fact. If you are to meet the question and remove the difficulties which sur ound it, you will say these greenbacks will be made as good as gold, and then there will be no question as to the payment or vour bonds.

This is a plain declaration and from high Democratic authority that the Government will not pay the bonds at all while gold is at a premium, but will first bring the currency up to the same value as gold; and then "there will be no question" about it, since nothing is left to dispute about. This is unusually sound doctrine for a Democrat, have an army under my command whipped but it is a very remarkable repudiation of the New York platform. The Democracy need peace.

authorizing him to countenance such action. It is also announced that the President has assured the Legislative Committee from Tennessee of his determination to sustain the civil authority in that State, and the necessary orders, to be sustained by an adequate force, have already been issued therefor. Mr. Jounson seems indisposed to increase the certainty of the defeat of SEYMOUR and BLAIR by any palpable collusion in the rebel crusade against the Constitution and laws. I struck upon a plan which I thought would give me a foothold on the east bank of the Mississippi before the enemy could offer any great resistance. But the difficulty of the last one and a half miles next to Carthage makes it so tedious that the enemy cannot fail to discover my plans. I am doing my best and am full of hope for complete success. Time has been consumed, but it was absolutely impossible to avoid it. An attack upon the rebel works at any time since I arrived here must inevitably have resulted in the loss of a large portion of my army, if not in an entire defeat. once, fools are deceived many times. In 1860 and '61 the ears of the people of the United States heard from the men of the South many threats. They said if Abraham Lincoln was elected they would secede, and that one southern man would put to flight ten northern mudsills or working-men. The hunker politicians of the North said these were idle threats, that they did not mean what they said; but the sequel proved that they were in earnest and that they meant to execute their threats. On the other hand, Gen. Bowie, a distinguished Maryland Democrat, declared at Baltimore, when ratifying the Servicion is and Blair nominations, that he was in favor of taxing the bonds "because they were the means for carrying on the most unholy war in history; because he could read upon at their face a contribution to an unholy and wicked purpose."

And yet another eminent Democrat, Mr. McKelvo, will afford that I was not thought equal to it, the of bonds and currency alike, by repudiating the interest and swamping the principal. He also considered the war, which created the contribution to an unholy and wicked one," but the sample of the contribution to an unholy and wicked purpose."

The objections of the Democracy to the reconstruction policy of Congress wore, that it placed the negro on an equality with them, and he feared there were some weak-kneed Republicans affected in the same way. He held that if God created the negro to be a Democrat, the Democrat could not help it; and if he did not, then the negro to be a down-trouden, unfortunate creature, humanity demanded that he should be raised from his low estate, and the party is trying to make that the place of the contribution to an unholy and wicked one," but the same of the same than myself. The Democrats say that we, the Republican party, have degraded white labor by bringing it in competition with ne-gro labor. This proposition he said was false, and was only intended to catch votes. it was true: but was not the competition greater and more degrading when they were in slavery, and fed and clothed by their masters in the most economica manner.

The speaker referred to the rebel rule in Maryland, and said it was not probable that rebels were more mild further South. In Maryland he said that the negro had no rights that men recognized. The judges juries and officers were all rebels, and the poor negro was in a worse condition than when he was in slavery. In referring to the financial question, the speaker said the question was not whether we should pay the debt in gold or in green-backs, but it was whether we should pay it at all or not; and if the Democratic party succeed this fall it never will be paid. If the South regained a controlling influence in the Congress of the United States they could not speak of high taxes, because they paid none, and they would double them by pensioning Southern soldiers and widows and by paying for the slaves who had been liberated

It did not become the Democrats, who had forced this upon the country and compelled then to incur the debt to crush out the rebellion, to talk of high taxes.

General King, of Maryland, being called for, was introduced by the Chairman.

General King said: When the pistol of Wilkes Booth flashed in the theatre at Washington City and stopped the beating of the kindest heart that ever throbbed in ranam Lincoln straight up to Heaven to dwell among the stars, the third act of this rebellion began After failing in the attempt to destroy the Government by open rebellion, the rebeas sought to ovorthrow it by cowardly assassinating the President.

The war, he said, was forced upon the Northern people and the South had been congulared, and the south had been congulared.

The war, he said, was forced upon the Northern people and the South had been conquored, and had it not been for that miserable tool, Andrew Johnson, who was forced upon the nation by the act of an assassin, peace and quietness would now reign throughout the land.

The speaker said that the same issues were presented in the approaching contest, to be decided by the balfot, that were fought for south of the Potomac, and if we fail to for south of the Potomac, and if we fail to elect Grant all the noble lives lost and the millions of treasure expended in that contest will have been speut in vain.

The financial question was here taken up and discussed in an able manner. The speaker held that the public debt had been reduced two hundred and fifty millions in addition to paying the interest on the whole amount since August 1st, 1865, and in addition to this they were compelled to support an army of sixty thousand men to take care of Southern Democrats. The Democracy, he said, charged the Republican party with squandering the people's m ney. This he said was fa se, as the actual expenses of running the government were not as great as they were during Buchanan's adminis-tration, notwithstanding the country had

Brown made a stirring, characteristic speech. After a brief allusion to the Union and rebel candidates, and a graphic description of New York Convention, the M. jor discussed the issues of the campaign in a fearless and intelligible way. Hon. Russell Errett followed with a strong and convincing speech. He first urged the importance of a full vote in October, as an overwhelming majority then will encourage the Union men throughout the land, and add much to the glorious to jumph of the Union cause in November.

He then proceeded to give an elucidation of the XIVth admendment and the reconstrn-tion acts. Both speakers were attentively listened to throughout, not one of the audience leaving till the meeting was closed.

A splendid campaign song was sung by Prof. Slack in his good style, after which the meeting adjourned.

In Saturday's Gazette we had a brief article under the head of "Where are the Postoffice Detectives; in reference to which W. H. McKelvey, Postmaster of Allegheny, writes an article so personal, and as we claim so unwarranted article, that for the present we withhold it from the public, belleving that upon a critical re-perusal of our article of Saturday he will fail to find a single word of blame or censure of the Postmaster or Postoffice in Allegheny. Side. Chest, Limbs, Joints, Neuraigis in the Face, Head, Pains of any kind, deep seated or otherwise, acute or chronic, and especially cat.rrh, to call at any drug store and ask for a bottle of Dr. ASH-B-UGH'S "Wonder of the World," and if you do not wish to pay 50 cmts for it before knowing that it will cure you, ask the druggist or his clerk to allow you to uncork a small bottle, piace 10 drops in your hand, inhale some and then apply the balance to the locality affected; then jeate candidly whether you are relieved or not in three minutes. It cures almost instantly, acting directly upon the nervous system, invigorating, exhiterating, surprisingly but picasanity affecting the mind. Use ten drups as above, and you will say, truly, "Wonder of the World," and never will you consent to be without it. "No Cure, No Pay, "our motto. For sale wholesale by J. C. TILTON, No. 10% ST. CLARS STREET.
