ing from present indications, we feel pretty well satisfied that Pittsburgh within the next three months will send considerable oil to most, if not all, of the leading Western markets. We hear it intimated that our western railroads are disposed to do what is right in the matter, by carrying oil at a figure that will enable Pittsburgh to successfully compete with other points, and by so doing they will not only benefit the oil interest of this city, but they will also help themselves.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS. OFFICE CF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, September, 12, 1868. The general markets have been rather quiet during the past week, and devoid of anything that is really new or important. Some articles in consequence of a temporary scarcity have stiffened up and appreciated in value, while others, with a supply in excess of the demand, have depreciated. Upon the whole, however, there have been no verv important changes in values, and as a general thing, the demand for almost everything has been confined mainly to supplying the immediate wants of the local

GENERAL REVIEW.

The Crude market during the first five days of this week was dull and neglected, the sales being unusually light, and prices have steadily declined throughout. To-day, however, the market was more active; the reported sales reaching about twenty-four thousand barrels, though prices were about the same as on Friday. The receipts of Crude for the week foot up 20,670 barrels; against 21,795 bbls, last week and since January 1st, 742,212 bis. The exports of Refined were 17,120 barrels, against 15,699, barrels; last week, and since January 1st, 459,617 barrels, against 435,855, for the corresponding time last year. REFINED.

The market continues very quiet and rather weak, though there seems to be no further decline, confipared with the closing quotations of Friday evening. Spot oil, in the absence of sales, may be quoted at 29; last half of September at 29 to 29½; and we heard of the last threat months—October, November and December—being offered both at 29 and 29½.
