The Old Third Ward Democracy yester-day elevated a great tall role on Tunnel street, on the top of which they placed a noble specimen of the hero of the barnyard, supposed to have been one of Mr. Barr's own raising. Improvement. We noticed yesterday that the staunch "Fayette" of the old line of Brownsylle Mail packets had been thoroughly renovated and painted throughthoroughly renovated and painted through-out, changes which very greatly add to her appearance. THE GRAVEYARD QUESTION.

Meeting of the Lot Owners—Report of the Committee—Resolutions Authorizing the Committee to Obtain an Injunction

Against the Commissioners. When we made our last report of the meeting of the lot owners in the Methodist graveyard, Eleventh ward, we were led to pelieve, from the representations of one of the Commissioners present at the meeting, and the propositions made by the lot owners, that the difficulties would be arranged without further trouble; but it appears that our conclusions were incorrect, and from statements made to the Committee since that time, it would seem that the Commissioner alluded to, who at all the meetings pretended to be in sympathy with the lot owners, is as much if not more to blame for the failure to come to an understanding than either of the others.

The Committee appointed by the lot owners, after making several attempts to settle with the Commissioners, all of which were unavailing, called another meeting on Tuesday night of last week but owing to the small number of persons present the meeting adjourned to convene last night, at the Eleventh Ward School House. At eight o'clock last evening, a large number of persons having assembled at the School House. the meeting was called to order by Captain Andrew Miller, on whose motion Mr. Aaron Floyd was called to the chair, Mr. James McKean officiating as Secretary.

The minutes of the preceding meeting were read and adopted.

The Chairman cal ed upon the Committee for their report. Capt. Miller, one of the to effect any definite arrangements with the Commissioners. He said the whole secret of the affair, so far as he could ascertain, was occasioned by a disagreement between the Commissionsers. When the law was first passed Mr. Kincaid had undertaken to run the affair-himself, but his brother Commissioners would not agree to let him have full control, and put money in his own pocket, and consequently they resigned. He, Kincaid, then obtained the appointment of those who are now acting with him, and they, without consulting Mr. Kincaid, undertook to conduct matters themselves. The committee had labored to effect some arrangement, but had signally failed. After all other propositions had failed, he had proposed to the Commissioners that the lot owners would remove their own dead, and give up their titles to the lots, if the Commissioners would have the ground divided into lots and sold, and after the actual expenses had been paid the lot owners should have the residue of the money. To this proposition two-thirds of the Commissioners had agreed; but afterwards refused to be bound by the agreement, giving as a reason for so doing, that their attorney had informed them that it could not be done. But upon further investigation he discovered that it was because there was no money in the operation.

After detailing at length his interview with Mr. Vankirk, one of the Commissioners, he said there was but one thing left to do, and that was for the lot owners to apply to the Court for an injunction, and restrain them from any further action in the matter until a settlement is obtained.

The report was accepted.

Mr. King moyed that the Committee be authorised to apply for an injunction against the Commissioners, restraining them from removing any more bodies from the grave vard until a settlement is obtained.

The motion was adopted.

Mr. Devore moved that each lot owner be required to pay to the Committee the sum of three dollars, and those not having the money to pay should give their certificate as security.

The motion was adopted.

The Chairman moved that a Committee on finance be appointed who should also be authorized to collect the assessment made, and also to make a record of the names of the lot owners.

The motion was adopted and the Chair appointed Benjamin Deval. James McKain and George Wilson as the Committee. On m tion, Mr. Robert King was added to the Committee.

Mr. White moved that all persons having that Murdoch assumed the role of prosecumade single interments in the graveyard one dollar each. The motion was adopted.

In accordance with the above resolutions. about fifty dollars were paid into the freasury.

Mr. Henry presented the following reso-

The resolution was adopted.

The motion was adopted with a rising On motion of Mr. Chaperon, a Committee of three was appointed to obtain testimony. The meeting then adjourned.

Unparalleled Raliroad Progress. The Pacific Railroad hastens toward comletion. No peaceful enterprise of ancient or modern times was ever prosecuted with such energy and persistence. The two mountain ranges of the Continent have been successfully crossed, and within a year we shall have unbroken communication between New York and San Francisco. At the latest dates there remained only a gap of five hundred and twenty miles between the Eastern and Western portions. The line is being extended from both directions as fast as labor and means can orade tions as fast as labor and means can grade and lay the track, the Central Pacific Com-pany having put down six miles in a single day. By the close of this year, it is thought, the gap can be reduced to less than three hundred miles, possibly to less than two hundred.

Thus far, the Central Pacific Company have sold their own First Mortgage Bonds, as fast, or faster than they received the cor-responding United States Bonds on the as fast, or faster than they received the corresponding United States Bonds on the road built, and in some cases it has been necessary to issue Certificates calling for the former, as soon as the Company could deliver them. It is not improbable, therefore, that the whole of their First Montgage Loan will be disposed of before the through connection is made, and, perhaps, before January next. The advantages of these Bonds, as well as much information concerning the Road, is set forth in our advertising columns of this fasue. lumns of this issue

An Independent Thief. Yesterday morning about ten o'clock a niddle aged man, well dressed and having he appearance of a gent eman, entered Mr. Theures' merchant tailoring establishment, at the corner of Tunnel street and Fith avenue, and inquired the way to East Liberty. Mr. Philip Yost, who was the only person in the store at the time told him that the street cars ran there. The old gentleman was about to leave the store when a wome man steeped in and street

Court of Quarter Sessions. [Before Judge Sterrett.]

Court met at the usual hour on Monday and transacted the following business:

BURGLARY AND LARCENY. Simpson, three lads, were placed on trial for burglary and larceny. J. N. Jordan. residing and keeping store at No. 243 Webster avenue, testifi d that on the night of the 18th of August his store was broken into and robbed of some five dollars in fractional currency and nickel cents, a box of cigars and a number of base balls. The hieves entered the store over the transom at the front door, which it seems was un fastened. Mr. Jordon identified some of the base balls exhibited, but would not positively say that a box of cigars, also shown, was his preperty. Policemen testi-fied to the arrest of the defendants and to finding in the possession of one of them the box of cigars exhibited. After they had been locked up in the tombs they were taken out and searched, but nothing likely to have been stelen found with them. The Captain of the Police remarking that he observed one of the boys with a base ball, a further search led to the discovery of five base balls and a number of old coppers tied n a rag concealed in the ventilator of the cell occupied by the prisoners.

No witnesses were offered for the defense.

It was contended the charge of burglary was not sustained, the store having been entered, it appeared, without any breaking. The Commonwealth did not insist upon a conviction on the burglary count. The evidence in the case, while it strongly indicated guilt, did not conclusively establish it. Verdict, guilty of larceny, and recommended to the mercy of the Court. Sentence deferred. FREE USE OF A HANDY BILLY.

Commonwealth vs. Peter Delaney: indictment assault and battery. Thos. Murdoch, a ward con-table, testified that on the 3d of August, in the night time, while on his way home, he was accosted on the corner of Washington and Webster street by defendant, who used most insulting language, and struck him a slight blow on the cheek; that he (witness) defended himself, using a handy billy; could not say whether he struck defendant five or ten times on the head; could not say whether defendant was much hart; did not look; he was bleed ward Murdoch, and saw them come to blows; Delaney was knocked down and Murdoch continued beating him as they lay in the gutter; the witness first lay in the gutter; the witness first arrested Murdoch, not knowing he was an cilicer. Manus McLaughlin, was an clicer. Manus McLaughlin, the next witness, testified that he was pres ent at the time; that Delany remarked to Murdoch that he would not believe him up n oath, said he was a fraud, and used other insulting language; Murdock then called policeman McKinney, on the opposite side of the street, who rapped his mace; ne (Murdoch) then went toward Delaney, and commenced beating him; they both got down into the gutter; the policeman separated them and arrested Murdock, Delaney passing into the witness' house bleeding usely; Mr. McLaughlin said Delanev did nothing more than use insulting language, did not s rike or strike at Murdock: if he had done so witness would have ob-served it. Dr. Gallaher was called and testified he had dressed five very severe wounds on Delaney's head, inflicted with a blunt instrument. Jury out.

According to the testimony of the prose-cutor himself he was guilty of an assault and battery upon the defendant, and had there been cross-bills he could scarcely have escaped conviction. For a slight blow on the cheek he drew his handy-billy and inflicted repeated blows (he did not know how many) upon the d fendant's head, and continued beating him until a brother po-liceman separated them, and who, from his observation, had arrested Murdoch as the observation, had arrested attraction as say worst of the combatants. Learning, how-ever, that he had an officer in custody, he released him and took Delany in charge, and conveyed him to the tombs. When the case came on to be heard before the Mayor, it was in the shape of a charge of assault and battery against Delany, preferred by Murdoch. It is a fair conclusion that Murdoch assumed the role of prosecu-tor, not through an houest belief that he was the injured or aggrieved party, but in the hope of closing the mouth of Delaney. As an officer he could not justify his brutal conduct, and standing in the relation of a private citizen he was equally culpable. Granted that he feared Delany would use a knife upon him, was he not armed him-self and a brother officer within, easy call? It did not appear that Delany had a weap-on or made any threats. The "aggrava-tion" was in the language used by Delany, Murdoch, in his relation as an officer, be-lieving he had a right to resent the person-al insult in the manner he did—a mistake al insuit in the manner ne did—a missake frequently made by policemen of this city, and which has contributed much to bring discredit upon the force. "No "words" will justify an assault and battery by a citizen, much less by an officer, (whose business it is to preserve the peace) and a battery, such as that committed by Murdock upon Delany could be justified only in the prowas indicted for felonious assault and bat-tery, in drawing a loaded pistol and at-tempting to shoot Andrew Cronin, on the night of the 28th of July. The jury found, verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity.

A BOY THIEF. Robert Johnson, a lad under fourteen, was tried for the larceny of money from the tobacco store of Mes Emma B. Given, on Penn street, in the latter part or August It appeared that he was in company with two other lads, and that they had entered the store during the absence of the proprietress. When arrested the prisoner had some of the stolen money in his possession and confessed his guilt. The jury found a rerdict of guilty. Sentence deferred.

A SLEEPER ROBBED.

John W. Showalter and John Hixenbaugh were placed on trial on a charge of stealing a silver watch and coat, the pro-perty of W. H. McKinley, on the evening of the 26th of July last. The prosecutor testified that he was a steamboatmun; that on the evening mentioned he left the boat and laid down on the river bank, at East Birmingham; the weather being warm he took off his coat and placed it under his head; he fell asleep; awakened about ten o'clock and discovered that while he had slumbered his coat had been stolen and also his watch. A Mr. Haystestified to have the chained or watch form one of the deing obtained a watch from one of the defendants, Showaiter, who represented himself as a roller, and that he was about to go to work in McKnight's mill; witness loaned himself to dollars, retaining witness loaned him eight dollars, retaining the watch; soon after witness learned the watch had been stolen, and delivered it to the Mayor. Officer Messner testified to having arrested Hixenbaugh, who had confessed to taking the coat. The coat and watch were produced and identified. Defendants withdrew their plea of not guilty, entered the plea of guilty, and asked the Court to deter sentence to allow evidence to be offered in mitigation of their crime.

and put in complete repair, and the labor of renovating it will, it is hoped, be completed this month. Piers for the transit are nearly completed and the European makers promise the instrument itself the present month. The Clock, which has been in process of construction in London the past few/months, is now passing through the New York Custom House. The maker of this instrument stands at the head of his profession in the world, and we have the best a surance that no more perfect specimen of the art of horology hus ever been seen. The Chrono-graph is now in course of construction in this country, the best makers of that intrument being Americans. An excell nt Marine Chronometer has been provided. Such instruments as have been procured for metereological observations are by the best makers. The Spectroscope is in all essential respects similar to that employed by Messrs. Huggins and Miller, with some improvements derived from the suggestions of those gentlemen. Other instruments will be produced as soon as funds shall be obtained. It is hoped and believed that the Observatory, while highly useful to the University by furnishing a Professor of Astronomy to that institution, and the best advantages in instruction to all its students who may desire to obtain a thorough knowledge of this science, will also confer honor on our two cities. Notice will be given of the completion of these arrangements and of the plan which shall be adopted to fulfill all promises made to contributors.

Most Bitters of the present day that are loudly putfed through the newspapers as having great curative properties are vile compounds and base impositions, containing no medicinal virtues whatever, and are really very poor whisky beverages, and, instead of acting as a stimulant and tonic, have a tendency to weaken the stomach by entirely destroying the coating. The public should therefore be very cautious and purchase none but Roback's Stomach Bitters which have stood the test as a remedia which have stood the test as a remedial agent for many years, and are really as their name indicates, a stomach bitters and not a beverage.
