Bearded in Their Den.

The announcement that the Grant Hussars would go armed, prepared for exigencies in the way of insult or stone throwing on the part of the opposition, had a salutary effect, as the procession last night was in no way interfered with, although the horsemen marched through the "Buil Run District" with bands playing and colors flying. We take this as an evidence that the "mudlarks" and others have taken a soher second thought, and will no more insober second thought, and will no more in-sult or interfere with Republican proces-sions. If they do, look out for an increase in the mortality list.

Grant Hussers—First Parade—Enthusiasm Along the Route—A Salute Fired in Honor of Maine. Last night we witnessed one of the most creditable and imposing processions of the two of our leading citizens. All along the route there were evidences of enthusiasm manifested, and the horsemen were greeted with cheers at norsemen were greeted with cheers at every prominent point, while at some places fireworks and illuminations were offered in honor of the occasion. Grand Opening Rally for Grant and Colfax in Findley Township.

The first and opening meeting for the campaign for Findley township took place Saturday evening last, and was a grand success. The meeting was addressed by Col. T. M. Bayne and Thomas Ewing, Esq. They made able and telling speeches, in which they handled the reconstruction measures of Congress in such a masterly measures of Congress in such a masterly manner that no intelligent voter could deny the justice and righteousness of those acts. They also dealt the greenback Pendleton humbug some deadly blows, exploding the whole theory as a grand humbug, designed to deceive the unthinking voter. The meeting was also addressed by a young Mr. Foring was also addressed by a young Mr. Ferguson, but owing to the lateness of the nour he did not go into an argument, but promised to do so on some future occasion. The meeting was also entertained by the Bellville Glee Club, the Findley String Band and the Clin on Glee Club, all of which performed their parts nobly. There is to be a meeting on next Saturday evening at seven o'clock, at the same place. Also a grand mass meeting in Clinton October 8th, at twelve o'clock M.: also in the evening at seven o'clock, at which meetings able and eloquent speakers will address the people. The meetings will be enter-tained by good music. We are bound to tained by good music. We are bound to redeem old Findley and "fight it out on this line if it takes all summer." G. B.

Republican Meeting in the Ninth Ward. A large and enthusiastic meeting of the Republicans of the Ninth ward was held last evening at the corner of Penn and O'Hara streets.

A brass band added much to the interest of the occasion by discoursing at intervals patriotic strains. The meeting was organized at half past seven o'clock, Colonel Joseph Kaye pre-siding, with the usual lists of Vice Presi-dents and Secretaries. Addresses were delivered by J. W. F.

White, Esq., and Major A. M. Brown, who entertained the audience until a late hour with able as deloquent discussions on the with able at a enquent assumed that past issues of the day.

Meeting in the Eighth Ward. A large meeting of the Republicans of the Seventh and Eighth wards was held at the corner of Webster and Fulton streets, last evening, under the auspices of the Grant and Colfax Club of those wards. The "Marching Phalanx" turned out with their new caps, capes and torches to escort the Fourth Ward Grant and Colfax Club the Fourth Ward Grant and Colfax Club to the meeting, and as they marched down Wylie street and Fifth avenue pre-sented a very fine appearance. When they returned a great crowd of citizens had assembled. The meeting was then called to order by the President of the Club, after which John M. Kirkpatrick and C. W. Roub, Esqs., delivered able and eloquent addresses.

Much Credit

Is due to Mr. Henry Paulus, the Assessor of the Fifth ward, Allegheny, for the active work he has done for the Republican cause. There are many good Republicans in to at ward, but they needed stirring up, and Mr. Paulus has stirred them. He has raised a company of about fifty men, all members of the Fifth ward Grant and Colfax Club, and they are all uniformed in bronze caps and capes and armed with torches. They intend to take an active part in the great Convention of the 24th inst., and during the rest of the campaign. If somebody in each wa d would undertake what Capt. Paulus has done for the Fifth, the majority we would roll up in October and November would astonish the opposition.

He maneuvered in this way for several squares, until the young couple, arriving opposite their own door, crossed the street for the

It proved beyond question that Brown is the better man of the two—at present at least—and it is we think doubtful that the adoption of a different style of carsmanship by the Pennsylvanian will ever enable him to reverse this verdict. Exhibition of Fruits and Flowers. A very fine display of fruits and flowers has been made for a few days past by Messrs. Elliot Bros. & Burgess at their store, No. 116 Market street, in this city, attracting the admiration of great numbers of people and proving very palpably that the taste for horticulture and the beauties of taste for norticulture and the beauties of Flora pervades our community generally. The exhibition of grapes, although not excessive in variety, was particularly fine; the Delaware, a peerless fruit, but now in the last days of its season; the lena, its twinsister, more luxuriant in its growth and slower in its maturity; the Rogers' Hybrid and Concord, which promise to supplant the Catawba as popular grapes for the mil-lion; the Ives seedling and Norton's Virginia seedling, which promise to take the very highest place for the vintage; all these varieties were represented most favorably. We saw also a half dozen of the finer varieties of peaches, and some glorious speci-mens of pears, the Bartlett, Beurre Rose, mens of pears, the Bartlett, Beurre Rose, Duchesse d'Angouleme and Oswego. The Ohio ever-bearing Raspberry was noticed by all visitors; by proper treatment it is made to bear continually until the frost, the branches bearing the fruit, ripe and unripe in all its stages, mingled with the constantly renewed blossoms. A very large collection of flowers, of the choicest varieties, in pots and cut in boquets, received the homage of the lady visitors. The Messrs. Elliot are doing much to promote Messrs. Elliot are doing much to promote a refined and cultivated taste in the line of their specialities, and it is pleasant to know that their efforts are satisfactorily apprecia ted by their fellow citizens. A Strange Stranger. About half-past two o'clock yesterday morning, officer Cutler, of the Allegheny night police, found a man lying on the pavement on Pasture Lane, who appeared to be in an almost insensible condition. The officer took him to the lock up, and after he was confined a short time he began to exhibit symptoms of delirium tremens. Later in the day he became much better and informed the Mayor that he had arrived in the city two or three days since from Cincinnati, but would give no further information of himself. His face was badly scratched, in explanation of which he stated that he had been assaulted by two men and knocked down a short time previous to his arrest by the police. He had about forty-five dollars in his possession, which it seems strange his a sailauts did not carry off. There being no charge against him, he was released in the afternoon and disappeared.

Amusements.

OPERA House.—The engagement of Miss Nellie Germon and Mr. Robert Johnson has been an unusually profitable one here so far, and they appear to be increasing in favor. The "Sons of Liberty" will be re-produced to-night, and we would advise all who have not seen Nellie in the character of "Tim" to go by all means. Their engagement, we regret to say, ends Saturday night. During next week we will be favord with the spectacular drama and ballet

This is positively the last week of his stay in this city, and those who have not witness ed the many wonders presented at his exhibitions should not fail to avail themselves of perhaps the last opportunity they may ever have of doing so. He continues to distribute one hunentertainment.

Amende Honorable.

In using the term ameride honorable in the present instance we do not mean that it shall be construed in its broadest sense, which, in France, is an infamous punishment inflicted upon traitors, parricides and sacriligious persons, but used in the comimproper treatment. The story we have to relate in connection with the above is the oft repeated tale of misplaced confidence. Several months since Fred. Kimmel formed the acqua ntance of a young lady in East Birmingham, whose name for prudential sirmingnam, whose name for prudential reasons we suppress. The acquaintance grew into intimacy, which the young man took advantage of, and by professions of love and promises to marry succeeded in accomplishing the ruin of the confiding young creature and then cast her off. The young lady, after several vain attempts to induce him to redeem his off repeated promises, appealed to the law for that protection it so justly grants to her sex. An information was made before Justice Ammon, charging the young lotheric with a mor, charging the young lothario with a misdemeanor. He was arrested and brought to the office, and finding that he was caught in a trap, from which it might be difficult to extricate himself, he consented to a union. The Justice performed the ceremony, and thus saved the poor girl from lasting disgrace and the young man from jail.

Real Estate Transfers. The following deeds were filed of record pefore H. Snively, Esq., Recorder, Septem-until the young couple, arriving opposite their own door, crossed the street for the purpose of entering. Just as the young man had reached his own step, the stranger, who had remained on the opposite side of the street, raised a pistol and fired. Fortunately his aim was too low and the ball struck the pavement at the intended victim's feet, rebounding without doing any harm. Immediately after the firing the would-be assassin disappeared and no trace of him could afterwards be discovered. The young couple quickly gained admittance to their home, and after being somewhat calmed related the circumstances to their parents. The affair throughout was certainly an extremely bold and daring attempt at murder, which should entitle the perpetrator, if captured, to a lengthy term in the Penitentiary.

MORGAGES PHED.

MORTGAGES PILED.

Eight mortgages were left for record same day. From the Oil Regions. The Titusville Herald says: The price of petroleum has been steadily falling in the outside markets and on the Creek since July, and on Saturday last sales were effected at $3,75, a decline from the ruling price of July of $1,25. The decline on the price of July of $1,25. The decline on the Creek has been occasioned, in part by an advance in freight charges to New York and Philadelphia of $1.00 per barrel. There has also been considerable local speculation which has had more to do with forcing the price of th which has had more to do with forcing prices down than it is generally given credit for. The falling off in the price of petroleum on the Creek within the past three weeks and the present neglected state of the market have had the effect of lessening strong impetus to development, as only a few days of favorable weather for starting new wells now remains. Contracts are now under negotiation for the construction of about fifty thousand barrels of iron tankage.

Caught Again. The female pickpockets, an account of whose proceedings and arrest we published yesterday, were released on bail. It appears that after the information was returned to Court and the women committed to jail for trial, a gentleman offered to stand good for their appearance at Court, and was accepted by the Mayor, who thereupon ordered the release of the women from custody Tuesday, evening. Yesterday morning they had made arrangements to leave town, and were about to take the cars for the West when they were re-arrested and committed for trial. The matter of their release was brought before the Court, when the case was immediately called and failing to put in an appearance, a process was issued, upon which the second arrest was made. They will probably remain in jail now until the case is disposed of by the Court case is disposed of by the Court.

It is said that his rendering is equal, if not superior, to that of the author himself. He has recently abandoned the Theatre and accepted Christianity, and is now the assistant nastor of the Second the Theatre and accepted Christianity, and is now the assistant pastor of the Second Methodist Church, Wylie street. The Weather Yesterday.

Yesterday was unusually cold for the season of the year. A great many persons donned over-coats, shawls, &c., and found these articles very comfortable during the Housekeepers commenced preparing for cool weather by unstopping chimneys, cleaning out grates and making such other gener l arrangements as are necessary previous to the lighting of the winter fires. We vious to the lighting of the winter fires. We noticed in our journeyings during the even Explanation.

Our readers are familiar with the arrest of the German burglar, Deitz, who was captured at his residence on Pike street, in tured at his residence on Pike street, in the Third ward, Allegheny, by the police. There are several families of that name and parties should become mixed so as to place innocent parties under suspicion, we desire to state that the families residing at Nos. 27 and 42 respectively, on Pike street, are not in any way connected with the arrested burglar, and were not even acquainted with the chap previous to his arrest. pride and observation. But such is the case. The house of William Fleming, No. 139 Wood street, while justly taking front rank in the trade of the west, has no superior, if equal, in either Boston, Philadelphia or New York. True, others may be better fitted or occupy handsomer build- and torches required for you to turn out on ings, but in quantity and variety of stock none will surpass. We have had some knowledge of the trade driven by Mr. Fleming, and thought his business had attained its greatest magnitude, but a visit to the establishment yesterday convinced us the increase of trade expected this fall and winter has necessitated the laying in of an immense stock, which in value runs away up in figin value runs away up in fig-ures. We found the well arranged wholesale and retail departments fairly gorged with goods of the latest and most fashionable styles, embracing all the novelties of the season, many of which are now for the first time introduced in the city. Mr. Fleming calculates to do a very heavy trade the coming season, and why should he not? His name has become as familiar as a household word in every family for hundreds of miles around. Who in this section of country can think of hats, caps section of country can think of nats, caps and ladies' furs without associating them with the name of this widely known and extensive dealer who has pre-eminently stood at the head of the trade for so many years, and ever sustained an enviable popularity? Indeed, we doubt very much if there is a boy or man in this region that there is a boy or man in this region that has not at one time or another worn a hat or cap bearing his trade mark, or hardly a miss or matron who has not figured in a set of furs purchased from him, so great have been his sales and so numerous his patrons.

Two leading features in the manner of conducting business at Mr. Fleming's have contributed largely to the success and popularity of the house, and strengthened its reputation. First, it has been the rule to keep nothing but the latest and newest styles, and all goods of the very best ma-terial and workmanship, and as to quality no salesman has ever been allowed to make any misrepresentation to deceive patrons, so that they can rely on getting everything which will prove in use or wear even more than is represented at the time of sale. Secondly, the house has always maintained the lead in low prices, from which course they propose never to depart, being content to do large business and sebeing content to do large business and secure small profits. The latter is quite an important feature to purchasers, for it is no inconsiderable saving to them to be able to economize from fifteen to twenty-five per cent. on purchases. Probably the latter cause, the prevalence of low prices to both wholesale and retail patrons, has built up the vast trade of this great representative flouse. Another striking characteristic of management is the fact characteristic of management is the fact that at no similar establishment or in any other line of trade, are a more courteous, accommodating and attentive corps of sales-men employed. None need fear or hesimon employed. None need lear or nesi-tate to visit Fleming's emporium to ex-amine goods, as there is no danger of their being insulted if they depart without being suited or making a purchase, and they are sure of being treated as well and kindly as those who buy thousands of d llars' worth. As we have before remarked, this house has made the amplest preparation for the transaction of a very heavy trade, and dealto be expressed concerning the course being five miles in length, and of course everything goes to strengthen that supposition. We do not desire to deprive the oarsmen of one iota of the credit which is their due, and, therefore, we would suggest that In order to settle the matter at once the matter at once the matter the demand for territory and unless leases are situated in the best producing territory they are taken very slowly. New wells are not being commenced as fast as they were two weeks ago, and from present appearances at the demand for territory and unless leases are situated in the stock consists of all the new styles of hats and caps and ladies for the consists of all the new styles of hats and caps and ladies for the consists of all the new styles of hats and caps and ladies for the consists of all the new styles and Water Mink, in Eugenies, Collays, Boas wells drilling at any one period during the year will be reached during this month. The stock is now open and ready for the inspection of customers, and those who buy early will not only secure the advantage of fine selection, but likewise obtain the goods at cheaper prices early in the season than late, as the cost invariably advances as the season progresses. Asthma.—A reliable remedy is at hand in Whitcomb's Remedy for Asthma.

Liberia. The report of the condition of affairs in this country, sent to Washington by Commander Jeffers, of the Swatara, is very interesting. The evidences of success in the attempt to introduce civilization into Africa are manifest to the visitor. The great want. however, is capital, while another obstacle has been that the greater part of the immigrants have not been agricultural laborers.
Too many are from the Northern cities and of mixed blood, and unable to stand the climate. They resort to trading with the natives for support. For this reason Liberia does not raise sufficient suitable food to support immigrant population, and actually imports it from the United States. The Southern plantation laborers succeed well. Universal suffrage is considered injudicious, and only educated persons are allowed to vote. Commander Jeffers thinks if any impression is to be made on Africa, it will be through this colony, which seems to be based on Christianizing and moralizing principles, while all the other establishments are based on trade in rum, gunpowder and muskets.
