I stopped from Friday to Monday in St. Louis, having some business to transact, and then set out for Kansas, arriving here to-day at 11 A. M. The distance is 322 miles, and there are few better roads or more comfortable cars in the country than those be-tween St. Louis and this place. Improvements of all kinds have made good progress since I was here in 1867. This city is growing rapidly on both sides of the river, and business is brisk. Kansas City, too, is going ahead in true western fashion, and now numbers from fifteen to twenty thousand people. There is a trion-gle here, at each angle of which stands a thriving and ambitious city-Leavenworth, Lawrence and Kansas City-railroads forming the three sides, which are severally between thirty and forty miles long. The territory enclosed is very fertile, part prairie and part heavily timbered. This triangle is bounded on the east by the Missouri river, and on the south by the Kansas. So far Leavenworth is ahead; but the other two may yet passit. Each of the three is the

This has been a very prolific season in this State. The wheat crop was very good. The corn suffered somewhat from the extreme heat of July, but is fair. Potatoes, both sweet and common, are very abundant and as good as I ever tasted. Onions, yams, melons and beets, as I saw them in the markets, exceeded anything that I ever met with. Apples are plenty and very fine, but the peaches, late and luscious, are carried about the streets of the wagon load. Although "as pleasant to the eye and as good for food" as any I ever saw, I was told that they were generally Seedlings. Their excellence is owing to the soil and climate. One gentleman told me that for five successive years—which was as long as he had bearing trees-he had never missed a good

Land is rising rapidly in price. Some tracts of improved land several miles from town are held as high as thirty dollars an acre-others at lower rates, of course, even down to two or three dollars. Farms are being bought up rapidly. In this State politics are pretty much on one side, and of course, there is little or no excitement; but in Missouri the contest is as active and earnest probably as in any other State in the Union. Our friends, however, are quite confident of giving the vote of the State to Grant by a very decided majority. Two Congressional districts, one of which is General Pile's, are hotly contested; and we may, it is feared, lose one of them by the conduct of a commissioner of registration, who is letting in a flood of distranchised rebels. Colored men do not vote in Missouri.

The Onio State Fair.

The Nineteenth Annual Fair of the Ohio State Board of Agriculture will be held in Toledo, beginning on Monday, September 21st, and closing on Friday, the 25th. The grounds selected are one mile west of the lepot, and are known as the Swayne track. We observe that an important change in reference to entries has been made, to take effect at the coming fair. The rule now is, "Any person may enter as many different articles for exhibition as he or she may own, in any of the departments free of No exhibitors' tickets will be charge. issued. The Board will depend for revenue from the fair, entirely upon receipts at the gate, where an admittance fee of twenty-five cents will be charged.

In consequence of this change it will at once become apparent to exhibitors that the desire to increase the revenue by receiving entries out of season will no longer exist, and those who desire to compete should be governed accordingly. The corresponding secretary, John H. Klippart, of Columbus, Ohio, gives notice that he will attend to al list of entries sent him before the fair, and that no entries will be received after Monday, September 21. Articles will be received on the ground on and after Saturday, the 19th of September. The speaker then referred to the Democratic party, showing, by its record and the material of which it was composed, that it was totally unworthy the confidence of any loyal man or lover of his country, touched on the bond question, ably argued the justice and wisdom of the reconstruction acts of Congress, and closed with a fervent appeal to all to raily around the standard and make old Pennsylvania ring out in thunder tones in November for those incorruptible natriots and accomplished

The Great Earthquake-Remarkable Phenomenon—Five Hundred Mummies Res-urnected, A Lima, Pezu, correspondent of the New York Times relates the following singular result of the earthquake at Arica, giving Gen. Elipatrick as his authority. He says: As the earth opened and yawned, there came up fice hundred numeries, who stand in long lines facing the seal every one of the skeletons in perfect preservation, the hands doubled up and supporting the chin, the knees drawn up, and the feet supporting the fleshless body! This must be one of the most frightful sights possible, and quite beyond description. spot where these mummies now stand was. once an old cemetery, some ninety years. ago, it is said, and these skeletons are doubt-less the fabled Incas and "Indians, who either buried themselves aline or were interred in this manner. They correspond exactly to the old mummies of the Incas, which I described in a former letter as among the curiosities to be seen in the museum at Lima. As the ground receded, what a ghastly spectacle, amid the throes of an earthquake, the coming an again to earth of these long buried skeleton remains.

Five hundred ghostly mummles! THE BOYS IN BLUE. The indications. are that the grand national review of the Boys in Blue in Philadelphia on the 1st and and of October will be the largest gathering of the veterans of the war since the great review in Washington city. All the war Governors are expected to attend; also the present loyal Governors. The Soldiers' and Sailors' National Executive Committee are in receipt of letters from representatives of soldiers and sailors from all sactions of the country pledging their presence. One hundred thousand torches are expected to be in the procession. The boys intend to make this their first general campaign against the enemy a final one.

THE Seymour and Blair revolution has now been inaugurated in the Georgia Legislature. All the colored members of both Senate and House have now been expelled, the defeated Rebel-Democratic candidates scated in their places, and the overwhelming Democratic majority in the Legislature being enabled to snap their fingers at the Governor's protests and vetoes, the State is. the Chair and W. B. Hunter, Esq., acted virtually in the hands af Toombs, Cobb and as Secretary. Following is a list of the Ben Hill.

A document is circulating for signatures, irrespective of party, reducating Hon. A. H. Stevens to deliver an address on the present condition of the country. It has been signed by several members of both Houses of the Legislature, it is reported that Gov. Bullock will sign the request.

A Committee of the colored members of the Legislature, who were declared ineligible, have left for Washington to present their case to Congress. their case to Congress. Fire at Elmira, N. Y.
