that from $50 to $200 apiece were paid for Democrats in Maine, either to vote the Republican ticket or to stay away from the polls, and "a great many" such bargains were made. "This is terrible."

THE Maine majority is fixed by our latest despatches at 20,000. The Republican vote will exceed 70,000 while the Democratic will fall short of 50,000. Those who laid wagers on the Republican majority being less than 20,000 have lost, as the official returns will show in a day or two.

MR. HORATIO SEYMOUR did not read the news from Maine in the same light as the Post. When he finished the unpleasant task, he telegraphed to Mr. PILLSBURY, of Portland, exclaiming

"THIS IS TERRIBLE! Where are the victories you promised us?" The Portland Press is the authority for this statement. OUR DEMOCRATIC FRIENDS in this city, in "looking out for the main (e) chance" within a day or two past, have contributed very large sums to Republican pocketbooks. Let it be a lesson to them to beware, for the future, of "special telegrams from the N. Y. World" or of fanciful displays of poultry on the Post's bulletin board. In this way the lesson may be valuable - as it should be, for it has been very expensive.

"OUR ARMY IN FLANDERS" had no experience whatever in profanity, if it be compared with the universal and resistless storm of execrations with which Democrats, who have wagered their money on Maine, stimulated by the World and the Post, are now cursing the miserable arithmetic of those journals. They have not only lost all their bets but all their confidence in Democratic newspapers. The Post, of yesterday, allowing us only 18,000 majority, on the strength of "private dispatches," puts the Republican claim at 20,000 to 22,000, and then adds: "We are thus particular in giving all the information we have at this writing and not only retain for this paper its reputation for truth and veracity, but escape the blame from those who see fit to bet their money on dispatches which may hereafter Democrats, who were flush with money for bets on 17,000 and 18,000 on Thursday asternoon, claimed to have their information from the office of the Post. Its own bulletin and over again, the Southern rebels adboard paraded precisely the same claims. Upon all this, confiding Democrats "went friends in the late four years of war. in" to bet; it is needless to add that they "Where is the reaction of the North against come out at the small end of the horn. #### PENNSYLVANIA.

Mr. Andrew Johnson has "instructed Mr. John L. Dawson to return home and inform his friends of the absolute party necessity of carrying the Keystone State for the Democracy in October." The N. Y. World pitches its Vermont and Maine arithmetic into the fire, has no more "special telegrams" to send West for the depletion of in the name of Democratic disloyalty in the Democratic pocket-books, and flourishes its North?" And only Echo answers!

tomahawk as follows: tomanawa as ionows:

The battle ground of the Presidential contest this year is in Pennsylvania. To the Democrats of that State the country the Democrats of that State the country looks for relief from the burdens which. Radicalism has piled upon the nation. If they obtain a majority at their election on the 13th of October next, Horatio Seymour the 13th of President. will be the next President. Upon the Democrat of these three States—Pennsylvana first, Indiana next, and Ohio last—rests a great responsibility. They should know not a single idle moment until the sun sets on the 13th of October. Their motto should be, work, work, work. That it will be, we feel confident, knowing how they are impressed with the importance of succeeding n this campaign.

Now, Democrats, one and all, to work! All this means that the Copperheads, led by BLAIR, HAMPTON and FORREST, repulsed: in Vermont and Maine, and hopeless of Ohio and Indiana, will make their last final desperate charge upon Pennsylvania in October. And it means that, to ensure their defeat, every Union vote in the Commonwealth must be polled; that the opposition must be checkmated in their gigantic scheme for colonizing the border counties with voters from New York, New Jersey, Maryland and West Virginia, and that their fraudulent naturalizations must be detected and debarred from the polls, as well as subsequently punished.

We annex the later votes of Pennsylvania: 1860—President. 268,130 195,638 476 442 72.394 1861 1865—Audt. Gen. 288 400 215,740 454,233 22,007 1865—Audt. Gen. 288 400 215,740 454,233 22,007 1866—Gov-rnor. 307,274 280 000 307,370 17,178 1867—Sup Ju ge. 256,824 277,746 834,570 dem.9.2

Our total vote in October will exceed 600,000, but not much, and at least 310,000 of these votes should be for the Union ticket. We have yet to hear of the first Union man, who supported GEARY, who will "go back" on the ticket now, while our natural increase in the two years should be nearly 5,000 votes. Nor may it be forgotten that, of the thousands of Democrats who intend to vote for GRANT and Peace and against BLAIR and Rebellion in November, no inconsiderable number will go for HART-RANFT and CAMPBELL in October, by way of getting their hands in.

We are entitled, therefore, to 310,000, and ought to have 315,000 Union votes at the WE PRINT on the inside pages of this first election. It is idle for the opposition morning's GAZETTE—Second page: Poetry to talk of matching these numbers in an -"Echoes from Maine," Blitz and the honest poll. It is a desperate card, but it is their last play, and their only salvation as a local or national party. Now we insist upon it that, as the opposition can only succeed by frauds so gigantic, so it will be a shameful negligence and cowardice in our friends to fail either of detecting or blocking that game. The rebel yell of Johnson, Blain and the Copperhead newspapers frightens no one. We have the votes to make this thing sure. Fifteen thousand majority at least of the people of Pennsylvania are Union mento-day, and friendly to the Republican ticket. All they have to do is to turn out and vote in October, every man of them, and see to it that the Democrats poll no more votes than the law allows them. Do these two things and the Old Keystone will be all

MORE WAILING.

"This is terrible," telegraphs HORATIO SEYMOUR to his friend, the defeated Democratic candidate for Governor in Maine on Monday night. "This is terrible!" exclaims the Presidential nominee, as he contemplates his dissolving hopes under that glorious victory for the Union. "This is terrible!" said another eminent Democrat, also his friend, Gen. LEE, when he found himself hopelessly hemmed in at Appomatox by the triumphant legions of GRANT. "This is terrible!" said another Democratic friend of his, the pirate SEMMES, as he sprang overboard from the Alabama sinking under the shot of the avengers of the Republic. "This is terrible!" grouned another good Democrat, WILKES BOOTH. when, a hunted assassin, he was hemmed in by a wall of fire, and death, the summary and inevitable retribution for his crime, was wrapping its black cloud around him.

"Where are the victories you promised us?" is Mr. SEYMOUR'S reproachful demand. It is the same enquiry which, over dressed to their Northern Copperhead a failure; you boasted of contributing neither a man nor a dollar to its support. You told us that we were right, and pledged to us your sympathies and your material aid: You vaunted your own ability to take care of the Republicans at home, while we should subdue their armies in the field. Why didn't you make good these fine pledges? Where are the victories you promised us,

"This is terrible" is the wail of the Democracy of Allegheny as they contemplate the ruinous defeat of their friends in Maine "This is terrible," gnashes from their locked teeth as they pay up the thousands of dollars which they have lost in bets upon the majority—bets which they never would have made but for the reckless falsification of the returns by leaders in whom they had placed their fatal confidence. "This is terible" will be the burthen of their lamentations, as they drag through the remaining In the West and Northwest, he is supported days of the canvass in impecunious silence and darkness, while the Union men of Allegheny-all their election expenses more than paid with the good Democratic dollars won from the victims of too much confidence in Democratic brag-keep the streets and squares blazing night after night with their brilliant displays, and go marching on until November with fire-works, torchlights, banners, gun powder and the ringing shouts of assured triumph. "This is terrible! Where are the victories you promised us?"-and SEYMOUR, the Copperheads, the rebels, the disunionists and Ku Klux everywhere, North and South, and the thousands of Democratic speculators—confidence-victims who have seen the last of the hundreds of thousands of dollars wagered upon the delusive brag of Democratic journals-all of them join in the chorus of lamentation. This is not terrible for Union men-not

JOHN BROOKS, Esq., of Cameron, is the Republican nominee for Representative from Cameron, Clinton and McKean.

A. G. OLMSTEAD, Esq., is the Republican nominee for the Senate in the Potter district. For one Representative, Potter and Tioga have united on B. B. STRANG, but cannot agree on the other, Potter insisting on J. S. MANN and Tioga preferring Mr. NILES, both of whom are consequently in the field. We trust that our friends there will emulate the good example set for them in the the XXth Congressional district, and heal their differences promptly. The importance of having a working majority in the lower House this winter is too manifest to be needlessly imperilled.) The difficulty in this, as in other instances this year in our State, would not occur under a proper system of representation in the nominating body. The objectionable features of the Conferce system have never been more manfest than this year.

The triangular contest for the Republican nomination in the Bradford District has not on Monday, the 9th. The court appointed DON, Wyoming to OSTERHOUT and Susquehanna to JESSUP. It looks as if Wvoming would give way in favor of LANDON.

He cided recognition of the Sovereignty of God then intends to visit New York in time to in the Constitution, would not get much enter the field there. He will visit Philadelphia before going West. On the other hand, a Columbus dispatch states that Mr. Stanton telegraphed to the Union State Committe of Ohio, that he cannot now tell when he could return to that State, and that his present wish is that no appointments be made for him to address meetings.

THE strength of HORATIO SEYMOUR with his party has, by common consent, been located in the Eastern and Middle States. by the Democracy in virtue of his nomination; all the solid claim he has ever had upon their regard has grown out of his disloyalty during the war. In all other respects, he is a candidate most distasteful to the Western Democratic leaders. Could'nt some Democrat, who is busy cyphering out the Vermont and Maine problems, suspend that work long enough to tell us how much he is to gain in the West, where he is weakest, when the Democratic losses in Maine and Vermont are so decidedly ruinous?

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

The Warren Baptist Association, of Rhode Island, has met and adjourned without taking definite action in regard to Rev. C. H. Malcom, though a strong effort was made to ostracise him for his open communion views. Dr. Herman Lincoln presented a resolution evidently aimed at Mr. Malcom, and his church at Newport, in which it is stated, the Association regards it an inversion of the Scripture law, in inviting to the Lord's table those who have not been baptised, contrary to the universal custom of Christendom, an infringement of the Divine law, and a violation of Christian propriety. Dr. Lincoln was the only person who spoke in favor of the resolution. Several opposed it as injudicious, masmuch as the question whether baptism was a necessary prerequisite to the Lord's table was an open one, not definitely settled in the Word of God, and thus left to private judgment. The resolution was referred to a commit ee which is adverse to it, and which will report at the meeting one year hence.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher will speak in Boston on the political situation before the presidential election, but he will not lecture much during the coming season, says the Independent, being engaged on his "Life of Christ."

The long looked-for trial of Rev. J. P. Hubbard, for allowing Rev. Frederick Dennison to officiate in his church, commenced by Bishop Clark, of Rhode Island, entered upon its duties at that date, but nothing was done, and the court adjourned to meet on the 22d inst. Mr. Hubbard pleaded not guilty to the presentment.

It is gratifying to note that quite unexctedly the American Board of Foreign Missions have been favored with so many remittances, that it will be wholly unnecessary to report any indebtedness to the next meeting.

This week's issue of the Presbyterian Banner begins a new volume, the fifty-fifth. Ever since July 5th, 1814, this paper, though the name has been changed several times. has continued to make its visits to the homes of subscribers. Under the editorial management of Dr. Allison and Prof. Patterson. the Banner has stendily risen to its present elevated and popular position. It is ably edited, and conducted, too, in a liberal and catholic spirit. The paper well deserves the patronage it receives.

The Old School Presbytery of Indianapolis declared that dancing was a proper ground of discipline, according to the rules of that Church, as expressed in chapter first, section third. Not only is dancing condemned, but members are not to countenance the same by their voluntary presence. The approaching General Convention of promises to be an interesting meeting. It is expected that every Diocese, without a single exception, will be represented by its Bishops and clerical and lay delegates. The Western Christian Advocate, published at Cincinnati, says all the Catholic papers it sees are outspoken advocates of the election of Seymour and Blair. Their partisan bitterness is not surpassed by the vilest sheets of the party. The new parlor amusement called Plan chette is pronounced by the Catholic clergy At Altoons, Messrs. McClure, Fisher and of St. Louis a diabolical invention, and members of that faith who practice it are threatened with excommunication from the Church. The Michigan M. E. Conference, at its late session at Three Rivers, received twenty for it is immense, and continually on the increase;

Rev. Charles Franklin Robertson, the newly elected Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Missouri, is a son of Mr. James Robertson, a member of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church at Peekskill, N. Y., and brother-in-law of Rev. C. D. Foss, a distinguished Methodist minister in New York City. He was early a clerk in a New York mercantile house, and became a communicant in St. George's Parish, under the eloquent Dr. Tyng. He graduated at Yale College in 1859 and at the General Theological Seminary in 1862. His age is thirty-three.

When the Rev. Washington Baird, a Presbytcrian minister, was dying in Clayton, Georgia, a few weeks since, in response to a question as to how he felt, he said that he was "passing from the bosom of his friends on earth to the bosom of his Father in Heaven." When asked how he found the passage, he whispered, "pleasant-glorious." We have or ambiorated by proper treatment.

DR. KEYNER'S MESIDE AT OFFICE for LUNG whispered, "pleasant—glorious." We have more confidence in the testimony of this dying minister, in the power of Christ to saye for time and eternity, than the atheistical declarations of such men as Mr. Burtt. the Democratic-Labor candidate for Con-Secretary STANTON expects to start West this gress in this District, who is said to quesweek to take part in the campaign. > Some of the Indian tribes are evidently "reconstructed," and should not be classed with the wretches out on the plains, as would appear from the fact that, a campmeeting begins this week on the "Tonawanda reservation" in New York, for the benefit of the "Six Nations." It is to be under the supervision of Rev. C. D. Burlingame, a minister of the Genessee M. E. Conference.

help from such persons, it sent to Congress.

The question of music, always a troublesome one, is assuming a grave aspect in some of the leading churches in the East, mainly because of the exorbitant tax to sustain choirs, and the "soiled" character of many of the singers. Among the leading churches which have taken steps to dispense with a choir, and return to simple general congregational singing in its worship of God, is the First Baptist church in Philadelphia. Some other of the largest and most influential churches in Philadelphia are meditating the same thing. Some of these 'choir'' luxuries cost a congregation full, two thousand dollars per annum. Many of the persons who are found on opera, and sometimes other stages, during the week, are engaged in the cnoir on the Sabbath. At a late meeting of the United Presby tery of Chillicothe, a paper was presented stating that the United Presbyterian church of Chillicothe, by an almost unanimous vote, had withdrawn from the jurisdiction of the Presbytery. The step was taken in view of the recent decision of the United Presbyterian Church in the matter of instrumental music in public worship.

The most ritualistically inclined Episcopal minister in San Francisco, California is said to be the Rev. F. Dillon, of the Church of St. James the Less. He usually appears in the Sabbath services, clad in a white robe, with an immense cross down the back. He is surrounded by a number of attendants. Seven candles are on the altar, and the number of genuflexions gone through with in a morning service is of an unusual character in an Episcopal Church. It is said he has been twice suspended by Bishop Kip, but, as soon as restored, wears the cross as conspicuously as ever.

The Eleventh Annual Meeting of the National Local Preachers' Association of the Methodist Episcopal Church, meets in Christ M. E church of this city, Saturday, October 17, 1868. Lay ministers from all parts of the Union are expected to be present, especially from the East, West and North. The last annual meeting was held in Boston, and was a season of marked interest. The Preachers' Meeting, comprising the pastors of the two cities and vicinity, of the M. E. Churches, on last Monday morning, appointed Drs. L. F. Morgan and H. Miller, and Revs. W. H. Locke, S. M. Hickman and James A. Miller, a Committee to cooperate with the Local Committee of the association, in making arrangements for the Convention. The Local Committee consists of Messrs. J. F. W. White. J. L. Graham, J. F. Dravo, J. Wilkinson and W. H. Kincaid.
