Serenade.—The Brownstown "Mechanics Club" favored our office with as fine a vocal serenade last evening as we have ever had the pleasure of hearing. The following gentlemen, all well cultured and finishe vocalists, compose the Club: Messrs. Richard Prosser, leader, L. Shaler, D. Edwards, J.-Edwards, J. Davis, R. Blaze, G. Prosser, A. Rhodes, G. Drew, J. Morgan, J. Banks and C. Mustin.

Severe Accident .- Yesterday morning, while the gun which gave the signal for the starting of the procession was being loaded for the second discharge, it exploded, badly shattering the arm and otherwise injuring Mr.W. F. Hood, who was ramming in the load. He was taken into the Monongahela House and medical assistance procured. It is doubtful whether arm can be saved from amoutation. Mr. Hood is as worthy a gentleman and as gallant a soldier as ever stood before a gun, and should the accident deprive him of the nse of his arm it will be a calamity fully lamented by all who know him. The accident was of such a nature as would happen the most experienced and skillful gunners.

These sessions, which are not only free to all regular day students, but likewise to all former students who have not yet completed their course of study, afford an admirable opportunity to clerks and young men engaged during the day, to secure, at small cost, much valuable practical instruction, as many a young man now in business in the city can testify. By commencing early students can complete a full course during the winter by attending evenings only. For circulars or terms apply at the college.

Probably Fatal Shot.

As the advance guard of the Republican Torchlight procession, on Wednesday evening, arrived at the corner of Federal and Lacock streets, Allegheny, a pistol shot was fired into the crowd of spectators, the ball taking effect in the side of Mr. John Welsh, and inflicting a very severe wound. which will probably prove fatal. Officers Garrison and McGarr, by direction of Capt. Lewis, arrested Lawrence Fox, who fired the shot, and conveyed him to the Mayor's office, where he was searched and a revolver found in his possession. Fox, who is about 65% years of coors he declared. about fifty years of age, says he had no intention of injuring any person, but fired the shot to add to the enthusiasm of the occa-sion. Welsh's case is considered a critical one by his physicians, and Fox will be detained in custody to await the result of the OPERA HOUSE.—Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather and excitement consequent upon the demonstration yesterday, the attractions at the Opera House were sufficient to draw a very respectable andience in the production of the "White Fawn" which is the attraction referred to./ Innumerable difficulties presented them selves, but through the energy of the man-agement they have been overcome, and it was pre-ented last night as perfect as ever it was in New York or Boston. The stock company, with perhaps one or two excep-tions, are well up in their parts, and the ballet is a most excellent one. It is admitted by all that Morlacchi is the most perfect artiste of her profession, and several other of the troupe have a high reputation in the East. The scenery is beautiful and the paraphanalia really gorgeous.

Why It Is. Many are inclined to marvel at the great trade driven in brisk and dull seasons at the popular first class representative fur establishment of William Fleming, No. 139 Wood street, and we are prepared to furnish the solution of the enigma which wor-ries trade circles. The wonderful induce-ments in the way of low prices offered in ladies' furs at this extensive house is the only explanation to account for the crowds only explanation to account for the crowns of purchasers who daily throng the salesrooms with customers anxious to secure the great bargains offered. Then again, Mr. Fleming has laid in forthis season the finest and by far the largest assortment of ladies' furs ever brought to this or any other westtime the great ware hought early ern city. These goods were bought early in the season, Mr. Fleming thus securing for himself and patrons the best selection and the lowest possible prices. Those who can make their purchases at this early part of the season will save from fifteen to tween of the season will save from fifteen to twen-ty-five per cent., and perhaps a good deal more, as it is an invariable rule that prices advance as the season progresses. Every-body must know that Fleming's great emportum is at No. 130 Wood street.

Of the whites accompanying him two were Irishmen, one German, one Englishman and one Swede, all of whom were recruited by him from the crew of the Pieneer, which was wrecked in the summer of 1867, at King's Cape. These men are all armed with revolvers and shot guns, and it was mainly through reliance on the Europeans and their weapons that the Albert men were induced to participate in the incursion. Alone they would be unable to cope with King Williams forces, who number about two hundred, and could be assembled in a month. Capt. Hall would offer no molestation to King William's people, but if opposed would give them battle if necessary, as he was determined to obtain the records of the lost explorers if possible. He would be accompanied also by Joe and Hannah, the two to be 'triced up' (for that was the name of Esquimaux or Enewits, who, it will be rethis hellish crime) for an hour, and when he membered, were a few years ago educated in this country, and exhibited in New York. him in that way, the order was changed to Joe and Hannah are man and wife, and now form part of Capt. It was Mr. Hall's determination, if successful in finding the cairn and no unforeseen circumstances or obstacles inter-vened, to press still further forward, and if possible to reach the open Polar Sea, and perhaps return by the way of Behring Strait. If impeded, he expected to return from his expedition to King William's Land about September of 1868, and take up his quarters for the winter at Repulse Bay. Last year he wintered in this locality, and at the time Dr. Goold saw him he was in 66 degrees 28 minutes north latitude, and longi-

The Indians lost twenty-five killed, and a large number of wounded, and considerable stock were killed and di abled. And these were not the scum and refuse of our great cities, nor the habitually degraded European sailors; neither was it away back in the times of the Duke of Alba and the inquisition that these attrocious cruelties were practiced; but Wor-cester county farmers' sons, who did told the officer he had no right to punish from six o'clock to ten.
