THE MEETING at Irwin's Station to-day will be addressed by General HAWLEY, Ex-Gov. Pollock, and Hon. A. K. McClure. Remember that a special train leaves precisely at noon, free for all to the station and return. The Pittsburgh delegation should be a large one.

Hon. Lewis Barker, of Maine, the rapidest talker in America, and withal one of the finest and most gifted orators and scholars of the country, will speak to-night at a Republican mass meeting to be held in the Diamond Square, Allegheny. Those who desire hearing a masterly speech should be present.

WENDELL PHILLIPS has come out for General GRANT, but his going in or coming out for anybody or anything is of little consequence. It is, however, highly creditable to the pugnacious gentleman that he still retains a nice sense of discrimination to discover that the salvation of the country depends on the election of the Republican nominee to the Presidency.

IN A DEMOCRATIC procession at Western Reserve, Ohio, one of the transparencies bore a motto eulogizing Jefferson Davis. Times change. A few years ago it would have been as much as a thousand lives were worth to have honored the arch-traitor—then doing his best to destroy our Government and conquer our armies-in a Northern community. In their own rashness and insanity the Democrats are inviting their political destruction.

THE SPANISH PEOPLE are a quiet, industrious folk, not very highly civilized and a little too superstitious, but possessing to our eyes no especial wickedness for which so great a punishment was necessary as that of being governed by such truly bad monarchs as have held sway there for the last half century. Other people have looked on in sorrow and almost in amazement at their apathetic tolerance. Italy and Austria strode forward but Spain occupied her third rate position, with occasional turbulence, but no attempts to break the chains that bound her. Other nations won constitutional and actual freedom, while Spain suffered under the

The Spanish people have, outside of the Royal Court, been seemingly virtuous enough, but have evidently not exnected to be free, and it was this lethargy from which the Queen borrowed her license and upon which she based her calculations. But the time which everybody knew must come, seems to have come at last. The conviction that very serious peril to the public peace will result from the election of a candidate pledged to such revolutionary purposes, is as general as it is profound. SPITE, CHAGRIN, DISAPPOINTMENT, MAL-ICE, ENVY and DEMOCRACY characterized every word of the Post's description (?) of the great Republican Demonstration of Thursday. Spite, because every notice of the Post on the Republican transparencies was bitter, disgraceful truth. Chagrin, because there were more voters in the line of procession than there are in the whole Democratic party in Allegheny county. Disappointment, because in despite of storm and rain, the eyes that looked from the windows good tempered, enthusiastic, orderly and enormous a crowd, every member of which had either look or word of scorn for the Post. And Democracy was displayed in the whole account, but more especially in the figuring, which we quote. The excellence of the Post as a mathematical authority was displayed in its frequent returns from Maine, an exactitude for which its adherents paid many thousands of dollars within the month. RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE,

The Independent discusses the question of 'Church Suffrage' in Congregational churches at great length, especially the right of females to vote. The advocates of exclusive male suffrage contend that the usage in the churches forbids female suffrage, and the Scripture also discountenances it. In reply to the first it argues that there is no precedent which denies the right of suffrage to females, and secondly, that the Scripture does not condemn it, but is silent upon the subject. These points are elaborated. It claims that the essential principles of Congregationalism ane: 1. Every member of a Congregational church has equal rights, powers and privileges with every other member. 2. The membersaip, by majority vote, have the right and duty of choosing all necessary officers, of admitting, discipllning and dismissing members, and transbeen closed for some months, has been reacting all other appropriate business of a thirds of females, as the majority, it contends they have a right to vote and exercise all the powers and privileges of member-
