Enthusiastic Meeting in the Sixteenth Ward.

One of the most interesting and enthusiastic nieetings of the campaign was held on Tuesday evening, at the Wigwam of the Sixteenth ward Tanner Club. The young ladies of the ward, under the direction of Mrs. Annie Harper, Mrs. Denaldson, Miss Dunlap, and Emma Niesinthater, had gained possession of the wigwam curring the day and quietly, without the knowledge of the Club, so handsomely decorated it with evergreens, flowers, wreaths and flags that when the members met in the evening they could hardly realize that it was their old headquarters. It was, indeed, very handsome. The decorations consisted of two arches of pine branches thrown across the front over the speakers' and secretaries' tables, and a long coil of evergreens hang in festoons down the center of the hall, The sides and windows were also draped with could of every evens, which were all-orna-mented with flowers, &c., making it really into a bower of roses instead of a rough, unsightly frame Wigwam.

The meeting was called to order by Capt. A. B. Beal, and as the Club was quietly going through the regular week's business they were again astonished at the sight of followed by the Secretary, R. A. Club, followed by the Secretary, R. A. Smith, bearing a handsome silk flag, and the ladies who had been at work at the Wigwam duting the day. They marched in regular military style, and on reaching the stand in the Wigwam Mr. R. H. Cook, said: MY FRIENDS AND FELLOW-CITIZENS-I MY FRIENDS AND FELLOW-CITIZENS—I thank you for the honor which you have conferred upon me by calling upon me to preside over this meeting. I came here to listen and not to speak, which is to me a much more agreeable task. But upon such an occasion as this I cannot refrain from saying a few words. Gentlemen, you have before you, in this contest for the Breed before you, in this contest for the Presi-dency, the men who fought for the protec-tion of the Government on one side, and those who endeavored to destroy it on the other side. On the oue side you have Grant and Colfax, the nation's friends, and on the other side Seymour and Biair, who are in the interest of those who attempted to take the life of the nation. The Democracy those who endeavored to destroy it on the

the life of the nation. The Democracy among other charges; say we have burden-ed the Government, with a large national debt. I ask, gentlemen, who forced that debt upon us. Was it not the same Demodebt upon us. Was it not the same Demo-cratic party who are now oppos-ing us? They cry out for retrenchment. I have always observed one fact connect-ed with these democrats, gentlemen, and that is they always call out for re-trenchment when they are out of office; but let them is office and yon hear no more of retrenchment from them. He then refer-red to the extravarance of the democratic retrendment from them. He then refer-red to the extravagance of the democrats when they were in power, and mentioned the municipal government of New York, which he said cost about $22 per man, while the expenses of the national government, would not amount to $10 per man. The Democracy say that our candidate is not a statesman. It is not the man who makes long speeches who is the best states-man. Gen. Grant does not make long speeches; but always speaks to the point. After some further remarks in regard to the candidates he read a dispatch from Hon.

could not be present. He then introduced to the meeting E. S.: Miner, Esq., of Honesdale. Mr. Miner took the stand, and in a few words excused himself, in consequence of a severe affection of the throat, which had rendered his yoice so weak that it would be refutered his whice so weak that it would be impossible to make himself heard. F. B. Penniman, Esq., being present, was called upon to address the neeting. Mr. F. B. Penniman was warmly receiv-ed by the audience and made one of those in preserving your beloved country from the horrors of another civil war their heart-iest encouragement, and to place a page in the history of your Club that will cause the sternest heart among you to throb with the holiest emotions at times when your thoughts revert to the recollections of the many hours of true devotion you have spent in the rank and file of this club of loyal, liberty-loying citizens, and when in after life thought speeds his faithful charger o'er the past, let the memofaithful charger o'er the past, let the memo-ries of this night bring you back to the time when your hearts beat quick with the most endeared feelings for these noble la-dies who have met with you here to night to present to you, the Sixteenth Ward Tan-ner Club, this beautiful silk flag. Take it now and guard it as it should be guarded; never let the traitor's hand pollute its bright colors with his touch: never allow a bright colors with his touch; never allow a foreign foe to insult the beloved land it loreign foe to insuit the beloved land it represents, and never let it be said that the loyal ladies of the Sixteenth ward did want for strong hands and willing hearts to shield them from all danger. Let it always be at your front to encourage you at every step during this great, and important political struggle and to urge you on to re-newed earnestness and greatervigilance, and may the sight of its loyely folds make you newed carnestness and greatervigilance, and may the sight of its lovely folds make you always renew your pledges of devotion to your cause and your country. When after the labors of the campaign are over, and yio-iory perches herself upon our banner; when New England sends in thunder, tones her hundred thousand majority for Grant and Colfar: when the great Wort produced

Colfax; when the great West proclaims as in days gone by that the Republic is safe; when the loyal men of the South speak as they were wont to speak; when the great States of the Lakes proclaim in shouts of victory that the arch of triumph is complete and Pennsylvania drives home the Key-stone, making the election of our great warrior, U. S. Grant, and our grant states-man, Schuyler Colfax, certain beyond all doubt, then let this glorious flag more beau-tifully wave "o'er the lands of the free and the homes of the brave," and let the wild-est shouts of victory be from the loyal hearts of this Sixteenth Ward Tanner Club.

Take it, and may God bless this Club, our cause and our country. Captain A. B. Boal, received it in behalf of the Club in a very neat and appropriate speech, as follows: Dear Ladies, Gentlemen and Fellow-Comrades: The emotions the ceremo-nies of this evening cause to rise in my heart almost overcome me, and I can scarce-ly find words to express to these young ladies the feelings of gratefulness I have to-wards them for this handsome testimonial of their kind feelings and their appreciation of our earnest desire to protect their happy homes from the sorrow and desolation of another civil strife. On behalf of this Club anomal sheartily thank them for this flag, and can assure them that it shall always be to us a beacon of light, and during our darkest moments and hardest toil the sight of it shall always revive our energies and urge us on to more earnest vigilance. And I can assure them that among these brave men there is not one but would risk his life and all to defend any of these brave ladies from any harm, and never shall the vile traitor pol-ute it with his touch nor insuit our beloved land.

Again I must return my thanks to you, for my feelings cannot find expression in words. May God bless these ladies and ever shield them from all sorrow and trials the candidates he read a dispatch from Hon. G. A. Grow, announcing that Mr: Matthews, who was expected to address the meeting, could not be present. fond memory of this night be as evergreen fond memory of this night be as avergreen in their hearts as these lovely festions of plnes. Again I say, God bless you. Mr. Townsend Adams then made a few remarks on the occasion, after which the meeting adjourned, singing the good old tune, "Auld Lang Syne." The meeting was largely attended by the citizens of this and other wards, and all went home feeling delighted with the night's entertainment.
