ANOTHER HOMICIDE.

Man Shot in Temperanceville Coroner Investigation Verdict of the Juty,

Yesterday morning between one and two clock, another human being was burried into eternity by the hand of a fellow creature without a moment's warning. The case is a peculiar one, and as the matter will probably undergo legal investigation, our readers must be content at present with a mere nar ration of the facts, draw their own conclusions and make their own comments. It appears that about one o'clock Sunday morning John Dearr, a laboring man, about forty-three years of agey who resides in Chartiers township, bout half a mile beyond Temperanceville, having been down in the village was return ing to his home, and for some reason as yet unexplained, stopped at the house of William Groves, in Temperanceville, where it is stated the made considerable noise, which led the occupants of the house and those of the adjoining dwellings to believe he was trying to break in the house. The house stands on the side of the hill between two streets, the money discrete. two streets, the second floor being on a level with the street above, while the street below is on a level with the first floor. When the noise we like heard it was at the upper side of the house, from where it appears the unfortunate man passed to the lower side of the house by going between the houses and passing over the porch of the adjoining house. It was necessary for him to descend a flight of steps for reach the street from the porch and as he was descending the steps, Groves; who imagined some one was attempting to break in his house, came to the door of the second story, which opens on the porch fronting the street on the lower side of the house, and having his gur, which was loaded with duck shot, with him, he fired, the charge taking effect in the left shoulder, and breast of Dearr. The wounded man ran about twenty yards, when he fell and expired in a few moments. Groves, the man who did the shooting, as soon as he saw the man fall, went to him, and finding the recent elections. It will take place Duesday night at Elohley's Hall, Denman street, which was used as the Republican headquarters during the campaign.

General Council of the Evangelical Lu-theran Church in America. FIFTH SESSION.

SATURDAY, Nov. 14th, 1868.-The devotional services at the opening of the Convention were conducted by Revs. G. F. Krotel and S. L. Harkey.

Resuming the discussion on Interchange of Pulpits," Rev. G. F. Krotal, D.D., of New York, said: It has been said that from all that has transpired it appears that we have only misunderstood each other, and that we would only have to meet more froughly to come to an agreement on that we would only have to meet more frequently to come to an agreement on these subjects. Yet, it seems to me that we understood each other just as well one year ago. We then had our discussion, not in public it is true, but in the Committee of Twelve in which precisely the same arguments were used which have been brought forward now. Although we do not see exactly alike, yet it seems to me that we agree in so many points that we ought to labor together. This was substantially our action last fall when we determined to leave this question natil God's ought to labor together. This was substantially our abtion last fall when we determined to leave this question until God's spirit would lead us to see eye to eye. There was no evasion of the question. We felt that these differences would not be immediately reconciled. It has been said that Zwingle's refusing the hand of Luther was one of the noblest acts of his life. But it has also been well: said that circumstances after cases, and the times are different. All who believe in the destrine of justification by faith, and are led by the spirit of God, are the sons of God. It is our disposition to recognize them as such, and not simply to say I believe in the Holy Cathollo Church. I admit that there are Christians everywhere, and whenever they present themselves I believe that I have the right to admit them to the Lord's Supper and my pulpit. We believe that there is room not only for Polemica but also for Trenics. I shall never permit myself to be held in or bound up by any denominations, you shall not come into my pulpit. Our brethrem in the West will compet me to say to ministers of other de-nominations, you shall not come into my pulpit. OPERA House.—The entertainments at the Opera House during the past week, with perhaps a single exception, have been slimly attended, solely for the want of attraction. The engagement of Miss Western was a very unsatisfactory one, so far as we can ascertain, to the management, as well as to the public, which clearly indicated its want of appreciation throughout the entire engagement. The stock company at the Opera House is by far the best we have had in this city for a number of years, and every member of the company is daily growing into public favor. The faithful manner in which each one per-forms the role assigned, and the omission of all outrageous gags, etc., has been gen-erally commended by an appreciative and liberal public.

To-night the inimitable Chanfrau, whose engagement here last year will be remem bered by all lovers of fun, will commence an engagement of two weeks, appearing in his most amusing and entertaining character, "Sam." The name of Chanfrau is suf-ficient of itself to fill the house, no matter what he plays.

Serious Accident.

Saturday afternoon, about two o'clock, serious accident occurred on Second street, near Try, by the explosion of a coal oil or kerosene lamp, by which Mrs. Nancy Donnelly, an elderly lady, was severely burned. It appears that the old lady had lighted the lamp for the purpose of going into a dark room, when by some accident she let it fall upon the stove. The lamp exploded, the oil ignited, and a portion of the burning oil having been thrown on her clothing by the explosion, she was enveloped in flames. She ran into the street, and the watchman at the raliroad seeing her ran to her assistance, and by throwing his overcost around her he smothered the flames. Her arms are severely burned, but Pr.
