FATAL ACCIDENT.

Man Killed on the Pan Handle Ralina -Another Seriously Injured-Gross degligence on the Part of a Conductor-

He Takes His Departure. We are called upon to chronicle another fatal accident on the Pan Handle Railroad, which, like many that have preceded it resulted from criminal carelessness, or, to say the least, gross negligence on the part of one of the employes of the road.

Yesterday morning about ten o'clock the regular freight train west left this city and was followed, in a few minutes afterward, by an extra freight train, and at three o'clock the regular mail and passenger train west departed on the Pan Handle road. At Mansfield the first train stopped at the station for the purpose of taking in water, and, in obedience to the rule of the Company, a flagman was sent back to signal the extra freight train, which, on ob-nal the extra freight train, which, on observing the signal, stopped about four hundred yards back of the first train. The engine was cut loose from the train and ran down to the water station, leaving the train standing on the main track, and no flagman was sent back or signal of any kind given to warn the engineer of the mail train, which was due at that point, of the obstruction. A short distance from where the extra freight train stopped, there is a short curve, and the mail train coming up at full speed, the enmail train coming up at full speed, the engineer being unaware of the danger which awaited him, a collision was inevitable. As soon as the engineer on the mail train, he whistled "down brakes," reversed his he whistled "down brakes," reversed his engine, and, seeing that a collision was unengine, and, seeing that a collision was unengine. he whistled "down brakes," reversed his engine, and, seeing that a collision was unavoidable, jumped from his engine, and striking his head against a switch-box, his neck was broken and he died almost inneck was broken and he died almost inneck was broken and he engine, was sappears remained on the engine, was severely injured, but it is thought his injuries will not prove fatal.

The remains of Woodall were brought to the Union Depot, in this city, and Alderman Donaldson, in the absence of the Coroner, empannelled a jury to hold an inquest. After viewing the body the inquest adjourned until Saturday.

Most of the accidents which have occur-Most of the accidents which have occurred on this road are like this one, clearly red on this road are like this one, clearly red on the carelessness of some of the employes. The rules and regulations of the Conpany are as strict, and if properly adhered to, would be as safe and as well calculated to guard against accidents, as on any other road. The large amount of business done on this road, and the want of a double track, may, in some instances, have been the cause of accident, but the accident in question could in no way be atdent in question could in no way be at-tributed to such a cause, as is plainly evi-dent from the single fact that the trains were all moving in one direction.

The matter, we learn, will be thoroughly investigated, and the guilty party, if apprehended, will receive his just deserts.

Again they were arrested and taken to the Mayor's, and again they were released on bail only to enact the same performance over. The Mayor alsame performance over. The Mayor allowed them to have a respite for one day, and in the meantime consulted the City Solicitor who instructed him to continue to arrest all persons found laboring on the ground without orders from the Street to arrest all persons found laboring on the ground without, orders from the Street Commissioner of the city. Yesterday morning when the men came to work they were accordingly arrested, and went through the process of giving ball and returning to work, all the morning. In the afternoon the tactics were changed somewhat, by which the police were kept busy. One man was set at work, and as soon. One man was set at work, and as soon, as arrested another man would take his place, and thus the policemen and arrested place, and thus the policemen and arrested laborers were kept patroling between the disputed territory and the Mayor's office

Masons were at work during the afternoon, under the supervision of Street Commissioner Megraw, building up the Commissioner Megraw, building up the matter rests at present, but the contest will undoubtedly be renewed again, as the men say they are instructed to go to work again as usual to morrow morning. It is again as usual to morrow morning it is difficult to tell howlong this state of affairs will continue, as both parties seemed determined to fight it out without either acting mined to fight it out without either acting on the offensive. The claim on the part of mined to fight it out without either acting on the offensive. The claim on the part of the railroad is that the ground was eriginally owned by the old Canal Company, and that, of course, as they purchased the property of the Canal Company, this property of the Canal Company, this small strip belongs to them. This claim, however, it appears is rather small strip belongs to them. This claim, however, it appears, is rather difficult to make out, and they, consequently, don't want to go to Court with a suit against the city authorities for trespass, as in that case they would be compelled to prove their ownership of the ground. Whereas, it they can provoke the city to sue them for trespass, then it will be

He established, we are told, one or two extensive refineries, but withdrew from his connection with them and turned his attention to the oil territory. Mr. Eberle alleged that Mr. Hope employed him as a kind of agent in the oil regions. He states that he went there and sunk wells, put up machinery, &c., Mr. Hope promising to refund to him all his money spent in this manner. At last, however, it is charged, Hope finding the speculations unpaying, departed for England, without paying up. It was ascertained a day or two since that he was in this vicinity, and the warrant was issued and vicinity, and the warrant was issued and the arrest made as stated. The case was ine arrest made as stated. The case was investigated, and Mr. Hope, being placed upon the stand, testified that he had no individual dealings with Mr. Eberle, whereupon he was discharged.

Coal Frauds. The fraud practiced by many of our extensive coal dealers was, it was thought, so thoroughly exposed a few months since by the prosecution of several of the dealers as to put an end to them, but we regret to say that such is not the case. The grossest frauds are still practiced by many of the large dealers, and we presume will continue to be perpetrated so long as they are permitted to weigh coal on their own scales instead of upon the city scales, as they should do. The Second ward, Pittsburgh, we believe has the credit of organizing the first Grant Club in the United States, being in the field for the great Captain so early as September, 1867. During the canvass it was among the most effective of working organizations and contributed no little towards increasing the majority in Allegheny county. At the annual meeting held last evening, the style of the Club was changed from Grant Pioneer to the Second Ward Union Republican Club, and the following gentlemen

Allegheny Fire Alarm.

At the last meeting of the Allegheny Councils a resolution was adopted instructing the Committee on Fire Engines and Hose to select a Superintendent of the Fire Alarm Telegraph line, at a salary of $800. In accordance with their instructions the Committee, at a meeting held on Tuesday evening, unanimously selected Mr. L. D. McCandless to fill the position for one year, from the present time. Mr. McCandless has been in charge of the line for some time has been in charge of the line for some time past but resigned his position a few weeks ago, on account of the small salary then paid, $300, which would not justify him in devoting his whole time and attention to keeping the line in proper order. The city was at considerable expense in erecting the line, but for some months past it has was at considerable expense in erecting the line, but for some months past it has not given that perfect satisfaction which was expected of it. It requires the closest attention to render it effective, and now that the salary has been raised to a remunerative standard, the Superintendent will devote undivided attention to it, and it is expected that no more complaints will he expected that no more complaints will be made against it in future.
