The weather yesterday was exceedingly cold, and at 4 P. M. the mercury was down to twenty. The Allegheny River was pretty well covered with floating ice all day yesterday, and in the evening it presented rather a for-midable appearance. We are fearful that midable appearance. We are fearful that after last night's freezing it will be strong after last night's freezing it will be strong enough to day to cripple navigation some-what, though it is hardly possible that the river will close for two or three weeks yet. The Grey Eagle, from Parkersburg, and New State, from Wheeling, arrived and departed as usual. The laster boat was considerably behind time, having been de-lared doubties, by the ice.
