Quartz Hill, 75; Smith & Parmele, 3,45; Corydon,—

—The Chicago Tribune, of Monday, reports money matters in that city, as follows: The business of the week closing today has been a considerable improvement on that of the week previous, and though money has been tight, and the last day or two the stringency has shown a tendency to increase, the business prospect is a vast improvement on that of a month or two ago. The stock of grain and flour in store here now is in the aggregate less than half what it was at one time during the fall, and the whole an admitted and the whole and the light and a half of dollars, which would be only about one-third of what was so held a short three ago. The packing business has, however, absorbed all the surplus capital released by the decrease of these products, and is the immediate cause of the stringency in money just at present. This, however, is expected to worklits own cure in a short time, as merchants are beginning to find some little improvement in making collections in this country as one of its results already. Fortunately for all business interests in this part of the country, there was an active eastern demand for provisions from the very beginning of the packing season, which has caused earlier shipments than usual, and has returned much of the capital to be used again; but for this money would have been much tighter now. MESS PORK—Quiet but firm; we continue to quote a $26 to $26,50.

SALT—Is firm but unchanged; Allegheny river brands quoted at $1,85 on track, and $2 in store.

and $2 in store.

FLOUR—Although quiet is firm, and Western Flours are quoted at quarter, higher. Spring Wheat brands, $7,50 to $8,25, and Winter Wheat, $9,25 to $9,75. Rye Flour, $7,75 to $8. The Pearl Mill quote their brands, made of the best Wheat, as follows: Extra Family Flour, which has caused earlier shipments than usnsl, and has returned much of the capital to be used again; but for this money would have been much tighter new. Even as it is, a good many of the wholesale merchants are compelled to ask for renewals of paper falling due, though there are not so many instances of this kind as a month ago. Upon the whole, though the money market is tighter, business is in a much healthier condition than a few weeks since—Closing quotations received by James T.
