CITY AND SUBURBAN.

All quiet at the police offices yesterday. The street railways did a good business

Travel on the various railroads leading from the city has fallen off considerably within the last few weeks.

Meet To-Day The City Councils will hold a special meeting this afternoon in their chambers at two o'clock.

A number of enthusiastic skaters barred the rain yesterday and indulged in the fas-cinating sport at the Parks and on the shore ice of the rivers.

The holidays are fast approaching now, and ladies wishing to know where to buy theap goods, had better call at Macrum, Glyde & Co., 78 and 80 Market street.

Postponed.—The inquest on the body of the child found in the Ninth ward, Tues-day, an account of which we published yesterday, was postponed until to-morrow.

Moot Court .- A Moot Court has been established among the younger members of the fraternity. It meets every Thursday evening at the offices of one of the mem-

The Concert of M'me Parepa Rosa, last night, at the Academy, was a grand ova-tion to the eminent quartette of performers, and we have seldom seen so large and fashionable an audience so well pleased and de-lighted. The concert will be repeated on Saturday night at the same place.

Crowded.-The county jail is very much crowded at present with prisoners. In some of the cells there are six occupants, and in none of them are there less than four. When the county workhouse is fin-ished this over-crowding of the jail will be in a great measure done away with.

Masonic Election.—The following officers were elected for the ensuing year at the last meeting of Milnor Lodge, No. 287, A. Y. M., held on Tuesday evening, December 15, 1888. W. D. Spiking, U. M.; Wm. F. Lang, S. W.; Wm. B. Storg, J. W.; Gester C. Shidle, Secretary; Jas. Herdman, Representative of Consolidated Charity Sound Advice.-Many persons, especially during the winter season, are subject to coughs, colds, hoarseness and other irritations of that nature. To all such we would cheerfully recommend the use of Star Troches. They are equal to anything of the kind ever introduced. J. P. Urben & Bro., proprietors, Pittsburgh. Sold by all druggists.

Abusing a Horse.—Thomas B. Hersberger made information before Alderman Humbert yesterday against Michael Kelly for misdemeanor. The prosecutor, who is a livery stable keeper, alleges that the de-fendant hired a horse from him and abused the animal by fast driving. Michael was arrested and committed for trial in default Proposed Removal,—It is proposed to erect a new building for the use of the Good Will Fire Company, of Allegheny, on a lot of ground recently purchased in the vicinity of the Utility Works, Sixth ward. The house at present occupied by the Company is located at the corner of Beaver avenue and Juniatta street, but is too far removed from the centre of the city.

The New Truck,—The new Hook and Ladder Truck which has been built in New York for the use of the Fire Department of this city will be brought here in a short time. The truck comprises all the latest improyments. It will be painted carmine, and lettered "Hook and Ladder Company, No. 1. No decision has been made yet in reference to its assignment to any Com-

The Fourth Avenue Sewer .- The sewer on Fourth avenue, from Wood to Snith-field street, which has been in course of construction for so long atime, will probably be completed to-day. The excavation was finished yesterday and the brick work was completed with the exception of the last section, of about twelve feet. The Oakland and Minersville cars will resume op erations over that part of their line, which Beat Him,-Nicholas Keeper made information before Alderman Strain yesterday against Charles and A. W. Cline for aggravated assault and battery. Nicholas states that the two were fighting when he endeavored to part them, whereupen they turned upon and beat him with chairs, canes and such things as they could lay their hands on at the time. The accused were arrested at Shoenberger's mills, where they are employed, and held for a hearing on Saturday.

Alleged Perjury.—H. H. Kneeland charged Johnston Pollard, an independent constable, with perjury, before Alderman Strain, yesterday. It is alleged that in a case before Alderman Balie Johnston swore that a few Sundays ago he looked through the transom above the door of Kneeland's saloon, and saw several men inside deinting and classes and heatile and classes and classes and classes and classes and classes and classes are classes and classes and classes and classes are classes and classes and classes are c Kneeland's saloon, and saw several men inside drinking, and glasses and bottles on the counter. Serious Accident.

Mrs. McCluskey, an elderly lady, residing at Port Perry, met with a serious accident while in the city yesterday. The lady and her husband had been at a grocery in the Diamond making some purchases, and were on their way to the depot of the Connellsville Railroad when near Fleming's drug store the lady slipped on the icy sidewalk and fell, severely fracturing her thigh bone. She was removed to a hotel near by and Dr. McMeal sent for who soon arrived and reduced the fracture. The lady was then removed to Mercy Hospital. The sidewalks are in a very dangerens condi-tion, and if they remain so long we may expect many more accidents of this char-norning, Judge Mellon on the bench. The first case called up was that of Geo. W. Dithridge, indictment for perjury. Messrs. White and Brown appeared for the messrs. White and Brown appeared for the prosecution, and A. S. Bell and T. M. Marshall Eags, for the defense. The perjury was alleged to have been committed in an affidavit of defense made in a suit brought by Hill & Strain against the defendant, as endorser for Gillesple & Mitchell. The defendant in the affidavit of defense referred to averred that his endorsement on the note was an "accommodation endorse." note was an "accommodation endorsement," so that it could be more readily discounted. The prosecutor, Mr. Gillespie, alleged that it was not intended mere-bons fide, and that it was not intended mere-bons accommodation. ly as an accommodation. Witnesses for the prosecution were called and testified to the prosecution were called and testified to the fact of the note having been drawn in favor of Gillespie & Mitchell and endorsed by Mr. Dithridge, but they knew nothing about any arrangement between the parties as to the character of the endorsement. Mr. M'Kee, examined on the part of the prosecution, testified that he was also an endorser on paper of Gillespie & Mitchell, and had a conversation with defendant, and that in regard to the suit of Hill & Strain stated that he had made the affidavit of defense for the purpose of staving it off. defense for the purpose of staving it off, and that there was nothing in it. At this point the prosecution closed, and before opening for the defense Mr. Marshall moved that the Court direct the Commonwealth to call Mr. Gillespie, who appeared as prosecutor on the indictment, and who was present in Court in order that appears present in Court, in order that opportunity be afforded the defense to crossnity be afforded the defense to cross-examine. The gentleman stated this was the practice in England, and in several States in this country, and the rule was also observed in the Philadelphia Courts. The Court overruled the motion. Mr. Bell then opened the case for the defense. He stated that the defendant and Mr. Gillespie had been on the most intimate terms pre-rious to this suit, and were both clients of vious to this suit, and were both clients of the same attorney. 'He also claimed that the parties had a full understanding in re-gard to the endorsement, and that the affi-davit of defense was made by defendant on the subject. The gentleman also re-ferred to the past character of the defend-ant, and the high position which he held in the community, and stated that the de-fense expected to adduce such testimony as would convince the jury that there had as would convince the jury that there had been no criminal offence committed.

The first witness for the defense was Hon. Judge Kirkpatrick, who testified that their law firm, Kirkpatrick & Mellon, were the attorneys for both Gillespie and Mitchell; that there was a unanimity in all their business requiring legal advice; that they your featurable and in together and were very frequently came in together and were both conversant with all that went on in their behalf in the office. When the affi-davit of defense was made he (Kirkpatrick) was about leaving the office, when his part-ner, Mr. Mellon, sent Mr. Dithridge into his room to have Mr. Kirkpatrick reduce in strict accordance with the grounds indi-cated by Gillespie during a conversation on the subject. The gentleman also re-knew that Dithridge did not stop to read it in his office. He directed Dithridge to take the affidavit to the Prothonotary's office and swear to it there. Mr. Kirkpatrick stated that Mr. Dithridge did not say he had had an agreement and understanding with Hill and Strain di-rect, but that it was their request to have the endorsement on the note as an accomodation to themselves and not as security for the payment of the note.

He stated that Mr. Dithridge came into He stated that Mr. Dithridge came into the office the day before the affidavit was finally prepared and requested him to draw up the affidavit in accordance with the state-ment which he proceeded to make to this that he had endorsed the note-o effect: that he had endorsed the note—of which the note sued upon was the renewal—at the request of Gillespie, who told him (Dithridge) that Strain had asked him to get Dithridge to endorse it, so that they (Hill and Strain) could get it more readily discounced; that the season for buying lumber was wearing away and they could the strain the more readily discounced. not get the money on this note to buy stock unless there was a responsible name as en-dorser. Also that Strain said he did not want the endorsement as security, but only as an accommodation to themselves. Mr. Dithridge said Gillespie would swear to this understanding he (Gillespie) had with Strain, and it was pie) had with Strain. pie) had with Strain and it was also suggested to put Strain on the stand as further evidence of the agreement. He said he told Mr. Dithridge to come in again and he would draw up the affidavit. When Mr. Dithridge did call again, the office was full of clients, and he sent him to Judge Kirkpatrick, with the remark that he had a defense that would hold water, and for him (Kirkpatrick) to draw up the affidavit.

Mr. Melion said that Mr. Dithridge stated very clearly that his understanding of the nature of the endorsement as to the representations of Strain, rested wholly on the statements of Gillespie, who was going to substantiate them on trial. He stated further, that the suit was abandoned in the middle of February by Dithridge, at his (Mellon's suggestion after consultation with Strain and Gillespie, who said that they would not swear that such an underthey would not swear that such an understanding existed between Strain and Gillespie, and through Gillespie's representations, when he induced Dithridge to endorse the note, between Strain and Dithridge. He concluded by testifying that the character of Geo. W. Dithridge for truth and veracity had not been questioned to his knowledge before the information for perjury was made against him by Gillespie. He said the defendant and prosecutor were on amicable terms for a considerable period after this affidayit of defense was made by Dithridge, and that Gillespie did not question its correctness for some time afterward—not until he had openly ruptured

A Bohemiah "Unpleasantness"-Serious Charges Suit for Libel.

It will be remembered by some of our readers that about a year ago we made mention of the fact that Mr. Frank Ellick, a native of Bohemia and resident of this city, had been appointed agent for the settlement in this country of a Bohemian colony, composed of emigrants from that place. The place selected for the location of the colony is situated in the neighborhood of Omaha, Nebraska, whither we were informed the emigrants went shortly afterof Omaha, Nebraska, whither we were informed the emigrants went shortly afterward. All things were supposed to have been satisfactorily arranged, and the last heard from them, at least by us, was to the effect that they were flourishing and had succeeded in the enterprise beyond their expectations. The matter, though one of general interest, had long since been forgotten, by all but those directly connected, with it, when it was suddenly revived by the events of vesting the state of the state o had long since been lorgotted, by an but those directly connected with it, when it was suddenly revived by the events of yesterday. During the afternoon Mr. Frank Ellick, who had, as stated, acted as agent for the Colony, made information before Alderman McMasters against several Bohemian residents of Allegheny, named respectively Francis Krupicks, Matthew Zirhut, Vaclav Lorac, Jan Bastar, Jan Chroust, Frant. Bunderle, and F. Smirz, charging them with malicious libel. The information states that the defendants "did, in November, 1868, write, publish and exhibit in a certain newspaper called "Slavie," and circulating in Allegheny county and printed and published in the Bohemian Slavonic language the "false, scandalous, contemtible and malicious Bohemian Slavonic words, matter and things contained in the excerpts from the newspaper aforesaid, and words, matter and things contained in an excerpts from the newspaper aforesaid, and which are hereunto attached, and form the subject matter of this information, and which false, scandalous, contemptible and mallolous Bohemian Slavonic words as conmandous Boneman Siavonic words as contained in said excerpts, being translated into the English language, have the same purport and meaning as the English words contained in the English translation, also hereunto annexed, and being part of this complete thereby expressing this affigure. hereunto annexed, and being part of this complaint, thereby exposing this affiant to public hatred, ridicule and contempt."

The information is accompanied by a communication signed by the defendants, and said to be clipped from the "Slavie" published at Racine, Wisconsin, together with the English translation of the same. e communication commences by stating it styles him, and gives the reasons for the same:

First—Because he had published in the newspapers that he purchased from the Government and received for the same the deeds for 15,000 acres of and which it is that the Bohemians of Allegheny and Pittsburgh have lost all confidence in Mr.

alleged, was a misrepresentation of facts, or, in other words, a falsehood.
Second—Because he had published in the Second—Because he had published in the Pittsburgh Republicaner that he was going west, accompanied by forty-seven families, which were to be supported by him, and that other seventy families were on their way from Bohemia, which statements the communication awars also untruths communication avers were also untruths, as only seven persons accompanied him, all of whom paid their own expenses and were by him left at Omaha, while he returned and is now residing in Pittsburgh.

Third—Because he had obtained contributions from Garmen and English reciontions from German and English residents here for the ostensible purpose of dents here for the ostensible purpose of building a school house and church for the colony, which have not been built.

The communication then in general terms charges Mr. Jilik with ingratitude to his countrymen here who had aided him in acquiring his wealth, and concludes by saying that he is inworthy of their confisaying that he is unworthy of their confidence and they renounce all Bohemian fellowship with him.

The document is quite lengthy and makes some very severe charges, as will be seen, all of which, however, the accused totally and unequivocally denies. After hearing his statement and taking the affidavit of Mr. Ellick as to the correctness of the translation, the Alderman issued a warrant for the arrest of the defendants. Mr. Ellick enjoys high reputation in this city whe has transacted business and we let sured his vindication will be complete in the present instance.

morning Mr. David Green, dispatcher at the outer depot of the Pennsylvania Railroad, met with a severe and dangerous accident, which it is feared will result in his death. It seems that Mr. Green, while standing on top of one of the cars of a and to secure the investiture of manhood's freight train assisting to shift it to asiding, | privileges, its responsibilities and its glory. slipped on the icy roof and being unable to recover his balance, was precipitated to the track below. He alighted with his right arm and leg across the rail over which the car wheels passed, crushing the limbs in a frightful manner. The train was stopped immediately, but halted with one of the wheels resting on the victim's wrists, and the car had to be raised with lack screws before the crushed and mangled limb could be extricated.
Word of the accident was telegraphed to the Union Depot, and in the meantime the sufferer was conveyed to his residence in the vicinity of its occurrence. Drs. Hamilton and Dickson arrived in a short time after and made an examination of the case. It was found that besides the crushing of the arm and leg, Mr. Green had sustained sevarm and leg, Mr. Green had sustained several very severe and painful injuries about the head and shoulders, and on other parts of his body. After consultation it was decided to amputate the arm at the wrist, which was successfully accomplished. The physicians at first thought it would be necessary to amputate the leg also, but after a second examination they concluded to defer the operation, hoping to save the limb without it Mr. Green is almost forty-five years of age, and has been in the service of the company about fifteen years.

Cellars, its present superintendent, took charge of it. He is now assisted by two efficient men, Messrs. J. H Blackford ber ne. It has been customary, for two or three years past, to give them a treat to candies, cakes and nuts, about this season of the holidays. But instead of doing thus this year, it was resolved by the teachers to entertain the children with a Magic Lantern Exhibition, which Professor I. L. R. Wyckoff, Professor of Chemistry in the "Steubenville Female Seminary," kindly proposed to conduct. The exhibition to the morning school was given on Tuesday evening, and was most assuredly a decided success. The building was literally packed with children as might. and Aaron Wilson. The building was literally packed with children as might have been anticipated, for such an entertainment is sore to bring out, not only those who have at-tended and are now attending, and also all that ever expected to attend the school in the future. It was very evident that the children highly enjoyed the exhibition.

Many older persons spoke of it as one of the finest Magic Lantern Exhibitions they ad ever witnessed. Last evening the afternoon school was entertained. The exhibition was materially the same as that of the evening before, although there was a slight change in the showing of some pictures that were not exhibited the previous evening. At the close of the entertainment Mr. J. V. Cellar, the Superintendent of the School, presented, on behalf of the teachers, Prof. Wyckoff with a copy of Cunningham's Historical Theology, in two volumes, accompanying t with a neat presentation speed bock was gracefully received by Prof. Wyckoff in a few remarks. 110 LISPENARD ST., NEW YORK, October 13, 1868. DEAR SIR-It is with much pleasure that I say to you that I consider the Phanta-TION BITTERS of untold value. In the fall of 1867 I was taken with Chills and Fever, of 1867 I was taken with Chills and Fever, with the most severe pains in my chest and head. It was with great difficulty that I could breathe. My lungs were greatly distressed, and there was severe pain in my right side, by spells. I could hardly get from my bed. I called a Doctor, who attended me all winter without the least benefit. About the first of August I commenced using your PLANTATION BITTERS.—a wine-glass full three times a day—and have used it most of the time since, and I am now well and strong, able to do all my own work and take care of a large family. Yours, &c.,
