

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

The Dispatch has been sued for libel on oath of George Hall.

The jail was scrubbed out and thoroughly cleaned on Saturday.

The Letter Carriers appeared in their new uniforms on Saturday.

Seventeen cases were disposed of at Mayor Blackmore's morning court yesterday.

Thus far there have been but four fires during the present month—three of them slight.

Ill.—Capt. M. W. Lewis is seriously ill. Officer Joe Cripples is filling his place as officer of the day at the toms.

The Board of Inspectors of the County Prison will meet on Saturday of next week, when the annual election for officers of the institution will be held.

Surety.—F. W. Hargrave threatened that John Diebold threatened to kill him, and a warrant for the arrest of the bold man was issued by Alderman Irwin.

Committed.—Alderman Thomas yesterday committed for a hearing, Thomas Davis, charged with assault and battery, on oath of his wife, Mary Davis.

Coal yet remains a scarce article on our streets. It is selling for eleven and twelve cents per bushel delivered. A coal famine in Pittsburgh is quite a novel sensation.

The raffle which was to have taken place for a fine black and white coat, was postponed, and will take place positively to-night.

Charged With Horse Stealing.—William Simpson, arrested several days ago for stealing a horse from a resident on the leased on Bull by Mayor Blackmore on Saturday afternoon.

The foundation of the New City Hall, on Smithfield street, is about completed. It is a splendid piece of masonry, and will cost the city about $30,000, fifty per cent. more than the original estimate.

Prof. Benj. Jones, Principal of the Birmingham Public School, was, on the afternoon presented with a beautiful gold pen and case by the scholars of his class, as a token of appreciation and esteem.

Fowl Appropriation.—Officers Moore and Dulaney arrested Archibald Rynd in East Liberty, on Saturday night, for stealing a couple of game cocks from a resident in that locality. He is in the lock-up awaiting a hearing.

A Knock Down.—Edward Millhill alleges that Patrick Quinn met him on the street on Christmas day, and unceremoniously knocked him down. A warrant for the arrest of the pugilistic Patrick was issued by Alderman Herron.

The New Councils.—The new City Councils will meet for organization on the first Monday of January, when Mayor Brush will be inaugurated. The inauguration of the new city officers will take place on the second Tuesday of the month.

The contract for the building of a new church at Bellfield, on the site of the beautiful one recently destroyed by fire, has been awarded at $15,500. The building will be ten feet higher than the old one, and fully equal in every respect.

Corner Leasers.—The Allegheny police made a raid on a number of saloons at the corner of Ohio and West streets, Third ward, and succeeded in capturing two of them. The men were each fined one dollar and costs, which they paid and were released.

The New Truck.—Chief Engineer Hare and several members of the Committee on Fire Engines left for New York, yesterday, to bring home the new truck and saddle truck built there for the Fire Department of this city. The Committee expect to return about next Thursday.

Kicked Him.—Bernard Wynn alleges that Martin Joyce knocked him down and wound up the same with a brick, and that he was severely injured. A warrant for the arrest of the man was issued by Alderman Blackmore.

The election of officers for the Pittsburgh Gymnastic Association, to serve for the ensuing year, will take place in Williams Hall, Fourth avenue, on Monday evening, 28th inst., between 7 1/2 and 10 o'clock. By order of the association, M. B. Moskowitz, Secretary.

Taken Over.—Joseph G. Miller, sentenced to two years and nine months imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for horse stealing, was taken over on Saturday afternoon.

Found Anderson, a lad convicted of stealing a watch, was taken to the House of Refuge at the same time.

Fire Alarm.—The apparatus to connect the steampipe on the Seventeenth ward School House, (Lawrenceville), with the Central Station of the Fire Alarm Telegraph, was shipped from New York on the 25th inst., and is expected to arrive in this city to-day. It is the intention to use the bell in striking the hour, and for alarms of fire.

New Theatre.—It is probable that Mr. Coleman will carry out his design of remodeling Old Edwards Hall, and converting it into a first class theatre. On Saturday he was engaged in bargaining for a lot in Diamond alley, in the rear of his property, twenty-five by one hundred feet. Mr. Honck, the owner of the lot, values it at $16,000.

Runaway.—A two-horse team attached to a large, heavy coal wagon ran off on Rebecca street, Allegheny, Saturday afternoon. The wagon came in contact with a post on the corner and lost one of the hind wheels. The frightened animals ran a square or two further but were caught before any more damage was done. There was no driver in the wagon at the time.

Fatal Result.—Mr. John Crowthers, who was seriously hurt by the explosion at the Superior Iron Works, the particulars of which were published several days ago, has since died from the effects of his injuries. Mr. Griffith, the other employe, who was also dangerously injured, is quite low, and his recovery is considered very doubtful.

Western University.—This institution will resume its session Monday, January 4th. Students prepared for any of the regular College Scientific or Preparatory classes can then be admitted. The Commercial Department is in charge of a gentleman fully competent for its duties. For information or catalogues apply to the President of the Faculty, University Building, corner of Ross and Diamond streets, between the hours of nine and two.

A correspondent, in whose integrity and truth we have unbounded confidence, writes us a letter detailing his experience in sending money East, to large publishing houses, by advertising literary works "to be sent free of postage on receipt of price," in which he has suffered material loss, never receiving the books ordered and paid for. We suppose such cases might be stilled out, where the motive is direct fraud, but such as advertise in the GAZETTE from time to time, integrity and good faith to all in their motto, and no thought of dishonesty can reasonably be attached to their fair representations.

Highway Robbery.

About ten o'clock on Christmas night a man whose name was failed to learn was knocked down in Birmingham, near Groveson street, and robbed of his pocket book containing money and a package of car tickets. The assailant escaped with his booty.

Last Meeting.—The present City Council will hold their last regular meeting this afternoon at two o'clock, at the usual place. The new Council will be organized January 4th, 1889, at which time the Mayor-elect will be sworn in. He will not, however, take his seat until February 1st.

Disorderly.—John Franz alleges that Franz Mann came to her house on Saturday and acted in a disorderly manner by calling her names and otherwise improperly conducting himself. Justice Heisel issued a warrant for the arrest of the accused.

Assaulted.—John Kennedy and Rody Corbin got into a row in a beer saloon on Penn street, Christmas night. John seems to have got the worst of it, as he was taken before Alderman Irwin and lodged information against his opponent for assault and battery, upon which a warrant was issued.

Good.—That portion of the Greensburg Turnpike within the city limits, having been purchased by the city for the sum of five thousand dollars, was taken possession of on Friday by the city, and free travel commenced. By this purchase two toll gates are abolished.

Cross Suits.—Benjamin Sanbury made information yesterday against William Livingston, before Alderman Irwin, for assault on having entered suit against Sanbury for assault, before Alderman Taylor, a few days ago. Livingston in this case was arrested and held for a hearing.

Admitted.—On Saturday, on motion of William Bakewell, Esq., William A. Sipe, Esq., of Indianapolis, Indiana, was qualified and admitted to practice in the several courts of the county. In the Court of Common Pleas, a motion of T. M. Marshall, Esq., for Smith De Shane, of New Castle, was qualified and admitted to practice.

At a Regular Meeting of McCandless Lodge No. 330 A. Y. M., held on Thursday evening, Dec. 24th, 1888, the following named persons were elected to serve for the ensuing Masonic year: W. M., C. C. Arnsberg; S. W., A. J. Harbaugh; J. W., George Teese; Secretary, Wm. A. Syter; Treasurer, Geo. T. Wilson; Warden, John G. Robinson; A. D. Anderson, John Moore.

Rescued.—Officer Wm. Hoak, on Christmas night, arrested a man named Fryhook, who was acting in a disorderly manner at the corner of Ohio and West streets, Third ward, on his way to the lock-up in charge of the officer. It is alleged that Jacob Single entered, and after a scuffle rescued him. Information was made against Single by the officer on Saturday, upon which Mayor Blackmore issued a warrant.

Masonic Holiday.—To-day, December 28th, is generally observed in Europe and in a large portion of this country as a Masonic holiday or festival. The day is observed in this city by the members of the various lodges of the fraternity were accustomed to prepare a feast and conduct the installation ceremonies of officers elect. We have known of an intended celebration of it this year by the lodges in this vicinity.

The gas jets on St. Pauls Cathedral tower were lighted for the first time on Saturday night. The wind was blowing strong, and the experimental test was by no means satisfactory, although the effect from the score or more of burning jets attached to the cross was very fine. The gas is lighted by a system of electric pipes, and the experiment will shortly be made, when, it is to be hoped, every light will shine out and furnish a cross of fire in the clouds.

Bitten by a Horse.—Dr. Jas. Robinson, of the Seventeenth ward, while making a professional call, on Saturday night, was bit on the hand by a horse to a post on Wylie street. A few minutes afterward James Hindman attempted to pass that way when he was seized by the animal and severely bit on the right shoulder. Mr. Hindman proceeded immediately to the Mayor's office and lodged an information against the owner of the animal for assault and battery. The case will be heard to-day.

A Neighboring Misunderstanding.—Henry Markland made information Saturday afternoon, before Mayor Blackmore, against Martin Joyce, John Joyce, James Adler and James Markland, for assault and battery on the parties are neighbors, Markland residing at No. 12 Pennstreet, and the others occupying houses in this vicinity. The charge of the difficulty could not be made out, but Markland alleges that the accused beat him severely, of course without provocation. They were arrested and held for a hearing.

District Court Argument List.—The members of the Bar interested will take notice that at nine o'clock this morning, and from day to day thereafter until it is disposed of, the argument list will be taken in the District Court. The list is unusually heavy, having been accumulating for a long time, and it will require promptness to dispose of it during the coming week. The equity list is also a large one, and will take considerable time. There will be but one week allotted to argument, and upon the following week, commencing January 4th, jury trials will be resumed in their regular order by Judge Kirkpatrick.

The Western Pennsylvania Convention of Loyal and Disfranchised Men will convene in the A. M. E. Church, corner of Wylie and Elm streets, this morning at ten o'clock, and continue in session two days.

The prominent questions for discussion before the Convention will be Religion, Education, Wealth, Economy, Suffrage.

A mass meeting will be held each evening in the main audience room of the church, and eminent speakers will address the people upon the subjects named above.

All who are friendly to the cause of freedom are cordially invited to be present.

S. A. NEALE, Chairman, A. I. BILLOWS, PAUL J. CARSON, Committee on Address, &c.

St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

The Superintendent and teachers of the Sunday School connected with St. Peter's Episcopal Church, corner of Grant and Diamond streets, will give the children the annual Christmas celebration this afternoon, commencing at half-past two o'clock. A short religious service will take place in the church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Edgar, after which all will adjourn to the Sunday School room, where a feast of good things, such as delight the little folks, will be given them.

Afraid of Poison.

James Brightmore has a healthy fear of any poisonous substance, which caused him to make information before Alderman Strain Saturday against his wife Bridget for surety of the peace. He states that, from sundry dark threatenings, he has become much alarmed for fear his loving spouse will hasten his departure from this mundane sphere by means of poison. James further alleges that he is in a constant state of fear on account of certain threatenings of a pugilistic individual named Wm. McCloskey, into whose society he is frequently thrown.

The apprehensions of the unfortunate man, warrants for the arrest of Bridget and Mr. McCloskey were issued by the Alderman.

CHRISTMAS.

How it was Observed—Present Making—Amusements—Feeding of the Hungry—The Visit of Santa Claus—A Christmas Dinner.

Christmas, the long anticipated holiday, has come and gone, now taking its place among those days to be remembered for the joy, gladness and happiness which marked them. The holiday was ushered in by a wind storm accompanied with snow flakes enough to whiten the ground, but not sufficient to invite sleighing or even to soften the frosty ground underfoot. The sun made his appearance at the usual time, but the sun was so cold and piercing that, some of the well directed rays were frozen into icicles before striking the earth. Notwithstanding the efforts of stern old Winter to the contrary, the day was universally observed, and thousands of persons put it in a manner fully up to their bright anticipations of enjoyment. Present making was quite general, and while we have heard of a few princely gifts, still the large majority were trifling in their character, but they all endeavored to make the recipient feel the weight of the compliment bestowed. The order preserved in the city streets, the cheerful and untroubled atmosphere, and the fact that much drunkenness prevailed on the streets. Nearly all the shops were closed, and the day, especially the afternoon, passed away like a quiet Sabbath.

AT BELFIELD.

The children of Bellfield Union Sabbath School were entertained in their old chapel on Christmas morning with a grand holiday treat. The chapel which had been deserted for the elegant new one recently erected, was filled with a large number of beautiful, being tastefully and elaborately adorned with sweet flowers and evergreens, and the trustees, in the person of Wm. Hoak, Esq., of Indianapolis, Indiana, were present. Some two hundred and forty boxes of sweet meats were distributed to the scholars, the gift of the Rev. Mr. Hoak, and the bright little innocents were most pleased in receiving them, while the zealous teachers in distributing them.

DISTRIBUTION OF FOOD.

The Philomathean Circle of Allegheny continued at an early hour in the morning the distribution of poultry, oysters, bread and other delicacies to the poor. The stock and Sandusky streets. The attendance was large, and the sight was pleasing to the eye. The gifts were old and young, genteel and vulgar, well dressed and ragged, colored and white, and of all sexes, present for the bountiful gift of food on a novel occasion, said that it was the opening of a new book to him, for he could not imagine that so many of a bright and noble nature, as the members of our prosperous communities without so much as a breakfast between them and death.

An aged lady, who is unable to get out of bed, received a pair of chickens and some bread from the general donors, and after making a most profuse and hearty thanksgiving, she said: "Mary, dear, God has answered our prayers." The remark was not intended to be taken as a compliment to the time of the gift, but it was in a powerful sermon.

Another, the Philomathean Circle made nearly three hundred good families happy on Christmas day, and we feel sure that their generous and philanthropic conduct will be remembered where remembered.

THE CHILDREN'S CHRISTMAS.

At precisely three o'clock on Christmas morning, the gray had streaked the clouds to warn of the sun's approach, and the children of the city, of St. Nicholas, or Santa Claus, as he rejoices in either of these names, made his appearance. He looked like a fat, plump, little fellow, with a red face, and he laughed right merrily as he tied his team of winged horses to the tower of St. Pauls Cathedral, and proceeded to parcel out his gifts. He had a long list of the names of good and bad children, and calling a name, he proceeded to read it out. He read the good ones first and ordered the best toys and sweet treats to be distributed to them. The first child he called on was a young boy named Tom, who had a long list of toys and sweet treats to be distributed to them. The first child he called on was a young boy named Tom, who had a long list of toys and sweet treats to be distributed to them.

THE TRINITY CHURCH FAIR.

The congregation of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church are now holding at their Church, corner of Smallman and Twenty-fifth street, a grand fair and festival. It has so far been well attended, and both in point of pleasure and profit, a great success. It will keep open every afternoon and evening of the present week, closing on New Year's night. The contest for the reception chair to be awarded by vote to the most popular candidate for the Shrillvally, is waxing warm and attracts much attention. A gold watch is to be awarded to the most popular gentleman. The fair is especially attractive, and the ladies attending the handsome and decorated booths, music, enlightening the occasion and princely meals served up at all hours, together with elegant and toothsome refreshments. Let all attend. The Citizens Passenger Railway car runs every few minutes within a minute's walk of the church.

THE ALLEGHENY RIOT.

The particulars of the political riot in Allegheny, on the evening previous to the last election, during which Mr. Geo. Bell was assaulted and killed, are still fresh in the minds of our readers. One of the parties implicated in the assault, Charles Magill, eluded the vigilance of the police for some time, but was apprehended in a saloon on Ohio street, Allegheny, Christmas afternoon by Chief of Police F. W. Swain, and became available in the morning he gave bail for $500.

An Impostor.

Mayor Blackmore on Christmas morning committed a man giving his name as John B. Turner, to jail, for vagrancy. Turner had been arrested the evening before by officers Gordon and Wilson, while begging at the Union Depot, and representing himself as being deaf and dumb. The officers had recourse to strategy to bring back his sleeping powers of conversation, and hearing. While walking down Liberty street, they proposed to place him in front of an approaching engine, and started to carry the idea into execution, when the fellow suddenly became cognizant of everything and bellowed like a bull. At the look-up he gave his name as designated, and said he resided in Buffalo, N. Y. He wore three coats, one of which, from its make-up and general appearance, together with a silver star and the number 46 pin made to it, is supposed to have belonged to one of the Buffalo policemen. A number of bank checks, all filled up, were found upon him, but he seemed entirely destitute of money. He won't need any for thirty days.

Saw Him at Last.

A short time ago, Mayor Brum, in accordance with instructions from the City Councils, placed a night-watchman on Troy Hill. John Kennedy, a resident of that locality, has often since expressed an earnest desire to gaze upon the countenance of the new official, but from the fact that he had never done so, concluded that none such existed. To make sure, however, on Saturday evening he proceeded to the outside of a considerable quantity of that exhilarating beverage, beer, and started out to make a circuit of the hill. As "the old fellow" was frolic and song he cheered his lonely way," and found himself in a very few moments face to face with the object of his search, who immediately took charge of and conveyed him to the lock-up. He was furnished with a night's lodging by the city, at an expense of three dollars, which he was to be paid to secure a release. He expressed himself as satisfied with the sight of the watchman. He has no particular desire to see him again. Once is sufficient.

Violent and Recovered.

On Saturday afternoon Chief of Police Bowden arrested a man named John Neelis for stealing a cow belonging to Mr. James McDonald, proprietor of the St. Lawrence Hotel, Federal street. Neelis drove the animal on Friday afternoon from the Allegheny Commons up to Butchers Run and sold it for $20 to Mr. George Beilstein. The purchaser, suspecting it to be stolen from the owner, told the seller to call on Saturday afternoon and get the money at the Allegheny market. When he called the Chief of Police, who had become aware of the fact, he was promptly arrested. At the Mayor's office he confessed to the theft and acknowledged that he had been guilty of the same offense several times before. Residents along Ridge avenue and vicinity have lost several valuable cows lately, and it is suspected that Neelis will be detected in some of their whereabouts. The one which he sold for $20 to Mr. Beilstein was valued at $75. He will be committed on a charge of larceny to-day.

Effects of Liquor.

Officer Swain, of Mayor Drum's police, had occasion, on Christmas afternoon, to pay an official visit to the residence of a man named Falkenstein, on Concord street, Seventh ward, Allegheny. The officer found Falkenstein and his wife lying on the floor of their wretched domicile, sleeping the effects of a drunken spree, while their little boy, about six years of age, occupied one corner of the room upon a bed of old dirty rags. The furniture of the apartment was scattered in innumerable small pieces, giving evidence of a domestic quarrel of considerable proportions. The little fellow stated that he had eaten nothing since the previous afternoon, and had been lying on the bed, almost frozen, for the last twenty-four hours. A kind hearted lady in the vicinity upon being made aware of the case, took charge of him until his father could be located. The man and wife were taken to the Mayor's office and after remaining there all night on Saturday morning were committed to jail.

Fugitive, Almost.

Two young Alleghenians became involved in a dispute on Christmas day, which assumed such huge proportions as finally to demand settlement only in accordance with the latest rules of the "P. R." With this purpose in view they adjourned, accompanied by a crowd of friends, to the rear of the Western Penitentiary, and proceeded to divest themselves of all extra coverings—departs to "strip for the fray." Things went smoothly enough until the word was given to "go in," when suddenly they discovered that the little fellow who had been so long in the crowd, had taken recourse to fighting. A consultation took place, wounded honor on both sides, and the matter was dispersed. The affair, they were too late, however, as the crowd dispersed at the approach like snow before the summer sun.

A Young Thief.

For some time past Mr. Charles Selbert, proprietor of a wholesale liquor store on Liberty street, noticed the mysterious disappearance of bottles of wine and other valuable liquors, but was unable to account for it. Circumstances at length aroused his suspicions and caused him to place a watch on the movements of a lad in his employ named John Kurtz. On Saturday evening the boy was detected in the act of conveying several bottles of wine under his arm. Officer Baddy was called in and conveyed the young employe to the watch house, where he was locked up for a hearing. It is ascertained that the stolen amount in value to be between two and three hundred dollars. Young Kurtz acknowledges having taken liquors on the former occasions, but says he always paid for them afterwards. He resides with his father, Adam Kurtz, on Centre avenue, Allegheny.

A Christmas Difficulty.

Philip Sullivan states that he was at the Opera House on Christmas night, and on his way home stopped at a beer saloon in Birmingham. There was a large crowd in the saloon at the time and Sullivan, finding it impossible to get waited on immediately, took a seat at the stove. He had been seated but a minute or two when he was attacked by one of the crowd, who was pretty severely he was thrown out of the house by one of them, which humane action he cordially believes only saved his life. On Saturday he made information against John Mackin, before Justice Ammon, for assault and battery, beating Sullivan, the ring-leader in the attack. The accused was arrested and gave bail for Court in the sum of $500.

Judge of Election—John J. Morrow, Inspectors—W. G. Algeo, Wm. Atwell, Return Inspectors—Joseph T. Johnson, Samuel Kain.

Constable—Samuel Irwin, Jas. Taylor.

Kleptomaniac.

On Saturday afternoon a very handsome young lady, of good family and respectable connections, permitted her love for the beautiful in dress and ornament to lead her into the disreputable act of stealing from the counters of Marcum & Carlisle, trimmings of fine silk washes, bonnet ribbons and ties. She was discovered in the act and taken in custody, and goods valued at fifteen dollars, which she had stolen from the counters, found concealed on her person. We believe no criminal prosecution was entered, but that she was left after many tears and sorrow and repentance. There is no telling how much our merchants lose from the operations of female thieves, and it is almost exciting too much to permit the want of mercy that they be permitted to escape the disgrace of publication and punishment.

A Household Fairy.

Away back in ancient times, according to mythology, people were relieved of considerable trouble and helped along in their journeys through life by the aid of some good fairy, which took their burdens upon itself. In these days, however, we have none of these mythological creatures to labor for us, consequently we are compelled to supply their places by others of a more practical character, such as for instance one of those handsome and serviceable Singer Sewing Machines, which may be purchased from the agents, Messrs. Straw & Morton, at the corner of Penn and Sixth streets. Without making any great boast of the Singer, the agents simply ask for it a trial, feeling confident that it will be fully up to the standard of a first-class family sewing machine.

Acceptable Presents.

If any of our readers have delayed making their holiday presents to friends on account of not being able to decide upon an appropriate gift, they should call at the popular drug and perfumery establishment of Burns & Caughey, corner of Penn and Clair streets, and select something from the large and varied assortment of fine perfumery or fancy articles with which the firm have supplied themselves. Any of our rich toilet or cologne sets, fancy hair brushes, fine perfumery, beautiful combs, &c., will make an appropriate and acceptable present, and the reason able prices at which they are offered can not be taken exception to by any purchaser.
