It is sympathy, not antagonism; it is companionship, not rivalry, still less supremacy, that they like in women, and some women with brains as well as learning-for the two are not the same thing-understand this. Others, enthusiasts for the freedom of Men shrink from them. Even clever men, able to meet them on their own ground, do not feel drawn to them, while all but high class minds are dwarfed and humiliated by their learning and their moral courage. And this is what no man likes to feel in the presence of a woman, and because of a superiority. But the brains most useful to women and most befitting to their work in life are those which show themselves in common sense, in good judgment and that kind of patient courage which enables them to bear small crosses and great trials alike with dignity and good temper. Mere in-tellectual culture, however valuable in itself, does not reach to the worth of this kind of moral power, for as the true domain of woman is the home, and her way of ordering her domestic life the best of her culties, mere intellectual culture does not help in this, and, in fact, is often a hindrance rather than a help.

ADOUT thirty-five years since, Hon. Thos. Carlin, at one time Governor of Missouri, was at Quincy, Illinois, during a great rush at the Land Office. At supper there was a large crowd and various topics were discussed. Among the subjects was women, when one of the company said, "that all women were alike; none were what they should be;" and made other more insulting remarks about the sex. Governor Carlin was at the table, but said nothing. As soon as he had finished his repast he went out into the office of the tavern and waited for the slanderer. As soon as he made his appearance the Governor said; "Sir! I heard you at the supper table make some remarks reflecting upon women. Sir, my wife is a woman, my sisters are women, and I am rearing up daughters that will be women. On their account, as well as other good wo. men whose integrity you have assailed, I have determined to thrash you," which he stance, the spinal cord was not severed. "CARLTON" writes from San Francisco to the Boston Journal: "People here commisserate the people of the East upon the reaction which must take place when we return to a specie coasis; out it you are to come up to San Francisco prices you had better stick to paper currency. I believe there is no city in the world where living costs so much as in San Francisco. A dolor in currency is worth more in Roston turn to a specie basis; but if you are to costs so much as in San Francisco. A dollar in currency is worth more in Boston than adollar in gold in San Francisco. In 1806, when gold was at 150, I obtained as good a suit of clothing for $50 in Boston as I can now obtain here for $60 in gold. The citizens of Boston obtain their Daily Journal for four cents. Dostal currency, but here your newspaper costs a dime at a news stall and there are no newsboys."

The recent unexampled cold in Western Kansas took the people so by surprise that almost all the freezable produce of the season was destroyed. The potatoes were left in the ground until the wet season should be over; but, before it was dry enough to dig them, they were frozen solid. Terrible suffering by cold and hunger is the consequence: It is feared that hundreds of families are in danger of perishing. Wood, in them, they were frozen solid. GAROTERS have become so fierce and daring in Bear River City, Utah, that a Vigilance Committee has taken them in hand. After three had been hung, hand-bills were distributed, warning the entire bills were distributed, warning the entire gang that all who were in the city after a certain hour would be disposed of in the same way. "Since that," says the Pioneer Index, "meny a bundle of sin and blankets has passed the city limits." One amusing incident occurred during the "garoting sealing at the company of a continuous stepped out of a son." As a gentleman stepped out of a club-room he was met by one of the gang, who dealt a powerful blow at his head. It was warded off, and the assassin cooly stepped forward and apologized for the assault, saying that he "thought it was somebody

Mr. John Hepburn, Sr., of Gloucester N. J., publishes a card in the Beientific American, in which he claims to have discovered the real cause of our annual November meteoric showers. He rests upon the fact that "at that period of the year the earth actually crosses the sun's path; that is, the earth is directly behind the sun and passes over his orbit on the 14th day of November of every year." He says that the sun leaves "a meteoric train behind him, which stratches out many degrees hereof which stretches out many degrees beyond the earth's orbit." We do not pretend to know the scientific or astronomical value of this theory, but we give it as one of the theories on a subject curious and interesting.

THE population of Turkey is estimated at 40,000,000. Her army numbers a total of nearly 600,000. Her regular army is composed of 156,000 men. The reserve army amounts to 200,000; the auxiliary troops to 100,000; the irregular troops to 90,000. The resources of Greece when compared with resources of Greece when compared with those of Turkey assume insignificant proportions. She has a population of 1,500,000, and her maximum army numbers about 12,000 men, with at least 2,000 officers. Turkey has a good name of the control o cers. Turkey has a good navy, not in numbers, but in strength and efficiency. Greece has two steamers and a squadron of coasting ships. DESTITUTION IN NEW YORK. -It is estimated that no less than two hundred thousand persons are now residing in New York City who have no work, no real homes, and no means which insure them a liveliand no means which insure them a liven-hood. Some of them beg or steal outright; but a large number eke out a miserable ex-istence by running into debt for lodging and board, or by borrowing from week to week of whomsoever will lend them, or by quartering themselves on reluctant relatives or friends. The result is reported to be an aggregate of want, squalor, misery and degradation fearful to contemplate.

> ARTIFICIAL Saffron, a substance used in France for the purpose of coloring saffron, is believed to be a compound of pieric acid, though the actual ingredients are kept secret. Picrate of potash is highly explosive, and the fact that a box of this artificial saffron was exploded by a spark from a tobacco pipe is considered conclusive proof that the dye is some sort of pieric acid. Further experiments show that artificial saffron will explode as readily as gunpowder, but with forly per cent. less of projectile force. It is asserted that woolen stockings dyed with picrate of potash are liable to explode on the feet of those who sit too near the fire.

ONE of the most delicate witicisms, utter ed by Rossini on his death-bed, is the following. It is characteristic of the affectionate relations prevailing between him and his wife: "What is the difference between you and a clock ?" said the sick maestre to his faithful wife and nurse, when she had just told him what time it was; and as Madame Rossini said she was unable to solve the riddle, her husband told her the solution: "The clock indicates the hours to me, and you cause me to forget them." Certainly a mot of which every tender bridegroom might be proud.

An Iowa correspondent of the Chicago Journal says that, in Mahaska county, Iowa, lives Mr. D. C. White, who, twenty years ago, fell on the ground in the winter in such a manner as to dislocate his neck and fracfive years he was confined to his bed, but finally so far recovered that he could go about his business. His head is kept in position by a band around the head, and connected with supports which pass down the back and around the body.
