EBy Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.] NEW YORK, January 9, 1869. MONEY.

The great feature of Wall street was the activiy and buoyancy on stock exchange, which resulted in a sharp advance in all leading securities, especially the favorite railroad shares. The feeling in all directions is yery bullish, and the excitement bids fair to increase. Money very easy; call loans made at 6a7. The bank statement is the most fa-vorable for a long time. It shows a de-crease in loans, and a large increase in specie deposits and legal tenders, which in-denor in prices te upweake prints at 20; warmsutta at 22c; do. N at 12. -The election of a Board of Directors for 1869, for the Mississippi & St. Louis Packet Company, resulted in the choice of the following well known gentlemdn: Henry W. Smith, John J. Roe, John A. Scudder, Ge-rard B. Allen and John G. Copelin. They were elected unanimously. Judges-N. Banner and W. D. Lore. Ranney and W. D. Love.

-The Dubuque Times, says: A.St. Louis capitalist is of opinion that costly steam-boats, with expensive cabins, must soon yield to towboats and barges. The barge movement appears to be meeting with gen-eral favor on all sides, and it is more than probable that a fleet of three will be built by a company organized for the purpose in ime for the movement of next season's grain. -We clip the following from the St.

Louis Democrat: In accordance with the instructions of the Circuit Court, acting Marshal Morgan proceeded to sell the steamboats Galatea and Tom Stevens. The libellants in the matter of the Galatea were Hiram Simmons and others, and those in the matter of the Tom Stevens, Gordon H. Wallace and others. The Galates was the boatmen was not very numerous, and bidders were few, only about three per-bidders were few, only about three per-sons bidding on the boat. The bidding started at 12,000, which rapidly ran up to 3,000—the highest sum offered. The boat was knocked down at this to Col. Henry C.
