Mysterious Disappearance- oul Play Suspected Mr. John Moritz. a farmer, residing at Groomsville, Firdley township, in this 9, 1869; county, came to the city on Friday of last week with a two-horse wagon and stopping at Ferguson's Hotel, corner of Fourth ave nue and Ferry street, had his horses put in the stable and between three and four o'clock left the hotel, stating he had some business to transact in the city and would return in time for supper. He did not return at the time stated, however, but his absence created no surprise, as it was thought he had been detained by busithought he had been detained by busi-ness, but on the next morning, he having not yet returned, Mr. Fur-guson became uneasy and instituted search for him, which proved fruitless. As it was his intention when leaving home to return on Saturday morning, and failing to do so, his friends became alarmed and yesterday morning came to the city in search of him.

his friends became atarmed and vesterday morning came to the city in search of him, but as yet have found no trace of him whatever after he left the hotel on Friday afternoon. It appears from the statement of his friends that he had in his possession, when it he left home, between three and four hundred dollars in money. He is said to be a sober, industrious man, and his mysterious disappearance, in connection with the fact of having a considerable sum of money in his possession, leads his friends to suppose that he has been foully dealt with. The affair is certainly a very mysterious one, and should be thoroughly investigated. Several classes of a similar nature having occurred in the city within the past year, and no explanation of the mysterious of the alarm and uneasiness of the friends a finance in the insting man are very naturally in the in morning came to the city in search of him, Apprehensions Realized.

It will be remembered by our readers that a short time ago a delegation of residents from Spring Garden Run called upon Mayor Drum and entered complaint against the proprietors of a hair dying establishment in that locality for maintaining a nuisance. They alleged that aside from the exceedingly disagreeable odors emanating from the place, they were in great fear that it would take fire, in conse-quence of the manner in which the heating apparatus in the interior was arranged, and the combustible nature of the material with which the building was filled. It seems that the complainants had filled. It seems that the complaintails had good reasons for their apprehensions, which were realized on Friday evening last. About eight o'clock the building was discovered to be on fire, and before the steamers arrived it was completely envel-oped in fiames and more than half conoped in fiames and more than hair con-sumed. The firemen wisely abandoned it and turned their attention to saving the property on either side, which they suc-ceeded in doing, although the hair estabceeded in doing, although the hair estab-lishment was completely destroyed with all lis contents. It was of the "iron clad" class and of little value, although it contained at the time considerable material. We did not learn the loss or whether there was any insurance mon it. Disappointed.

A large volume of smoke issuing from the furnace stack, and an occasional shower of sparks, from one corner of the roof, caused a large crowd to collect around the Custom House Saturday morning in the expectation of seeing a fire break out. They were doomed to disappointment, however, as it was ascertained that the however, as it was ascertained that the sparks came from a small chimney just behind the parapet wall and concealed from view by it. Upon learning this fact, the crowd slowly dispersed, many of them, doubtless, regretting that a conflagration had not called into requisition their abili-ties and skill to extinguish it.
