Dry Goods.—The market is less excited for cotton goods. The upward movement in raw material has been arrested, but nevertheless the prices of certain classes of goods are gradually hardening, particularly for printed and plain cotton fabrics, which are in good request. It would seem now as at all classes of cotton goods must advance in the next thirty days. Sprague's new styles of light prints have been opened at 14½c, while black and medium light styles are still jobbing at 18a13½c. The tions have been verified. The thermometer at four P. M. was down to 28, and the barometer at noon 30 and rising, indicating dry cold weateer. Both rivers are falling steadily with fourteen feet in the channel last evening by the Allegheny marks, and two or three inches less by the Monongahela marks.
