OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, Febuary 8, 1869. The markets, in a general way, are beginning to show some little signs of life, and we are in hopes that a material and permanent improvement in business is near at hand. Our manufacturers anticipate a good spring trade, and already our iron men report more orders coming in than they care about filling, especially at present prices; and we presume that what is true of iron interests, is true of Pittsburgh manufactures, generally. Then argain, money is getting somewhat easier, and collections are made with less difficulty, and this tends much to inspire a better feeling in commercial
