Mr. PILE spoke in favor of the reduction, and thought, if time were given to elaborate, covering the whole subject, that the expenses might be reduced from Mr. LOGAN said if the Committee on Military Affairs proposed to renew the offer of last year, he would say it was a humber. It was better to have sixty regiments as skeletons, than have thirty regiments consolidated, if the number of officers were to be retained. The correct way was to reduce the rank of officers accerding to duties required. Mr. WEADOM expressed his surprise that the gentlemen of the Committee on Military Affairs had not had time to at-tend to this matter, when he had such ample time to attend to the business of Inclian Committee. He was in favor of the reduction of the army, and he hoped the 'army appropriation bill would be postponed for a week, in order, to give the Committee on Military Affairs a charge to attend to their business. After further discussion, Mr. FARNS-WORTH asked unanimous consent that the Chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs might move his amendment and that it be printed. Consent given. Recess, the evening session to be for general debute only.
