Blayor's Court .-- There were twentysix cases disposed of at the Mayor's Court yesterday evening, most of which were for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Of that number fourteen paid fines rang-ing from one to ten dollars and the customary costs, and the remaining twelve were committed, according to the enor-mity of the offense with which they were charged, for periods of from twenty-four to thirty days. Run Over—Last evening about six o'clock a boy about fifteen years of age, while attempting to cross Wood street, near Diamond; alley, in front of an approaching dray, was knocked down, but fortunately received no other injury beyond a severe fright. Soldiers' Monument. - The Soldiers' Monument Association will hold a meeting this afternoon at half past two o'clock, in the rooms of the Young Men's Chris-tlan Association, 51 Fifth avenue. It is desirable that every member be present. The question of locating the monument still remains unsettled, and as the mat-ter has been held in abeyance for some time, it should be pretty well matured at this date. The meeting this afternoon promises to be more than usually interesting and important.

An Awful Sacrifice in lace goods, trimmings, embroideries and notions is now going on at the store occupied by the late firm of Dennison & Heckert, No. 27 Flith avenue. It will be remembered that Macrum & Carlisle purchased the entire stock at public sale, and are now running it out at very cheap prices. The stock must be all sold, no matter what the sale realizes, so that our readers should not fail to avail themselves of the opportunity to secure unusual bargains in choice, first-class goods.

The Nicolson in Allegheny .- There is some talk among residents on the line of Onio street, in the Eighth ward, Allegheny, of having the Nicolson pavement laid in front of their properties. The street will be paved next spring and the water and gas extended along the thoroughfare. The street would require but little grading, and it is thought that the small additional cost of the Nicolson over the cobble stone pavement would be trifling compared with the advantages

The Keystone Pottery .- It has been the alm of Messrs. Kier & Co., in the manufacture of Queensware, to produce work which in quality would fully equal and in price be censiderably cheaper than that imported from abroad. Of the success which has attended their efforts the best evidences are seen in the large trade which they have already secured, and the terms of commendation and praise with which their manufactures are everywhere spoken of. Any of our readers who wish articles in their line would do well to call at the warerooms, No. 359 Liberty street, and examine the stock on hand.

Washington's Birthday.—Monday, the 22d of February, is the anniversary of Washington's birthday, and a legal holi-day. Persons having business with the banks should remember this fact and act accordingly, as the banks will be closed that day.

Overboard .- An amateur oarsman of this citt, while taking a little exercise in his craft on the Allegheny river this morning, was capsized near the Mechanics street bridge, by the waves made by a passing towboat. The accident was noticed by a number of persons on the bank a counter of whom procured askiff bank, a couple of whom procured askiff and recoued him. His boat was also brought safely to shore, but the oars and his hat floated off.

Patent Right Difficulty.

George Day and Nicholas Knoerr, res idents of the Seventh ward, Allegheny, got into a row on Thursday in regard to the ownership of a certain patent right. The difficulty occurred in the yard connected with Knoerr's tannery, and Day alleges that Knoerr pushed him off the premises, using violence in so doing and accompanying this action with a threat to tear down the water spouts connected with a tannery [owned by Day. The next morning the spouts were down and accordingly Day proceeded to Alderman Mullin's office and made information against Knoerr for assault and battery and surety of the peace. The accused was arrested and after a hearing gave bail for Court.

The Tables Turned. Leonard Praeger made information before Alderman Taylor yesterday against John Henry Roswog, better known as "Cooney" Roswog, for assault and battery. The parties are employed at Post-ley & Co.'s shovel factory in the Ninth ward. Yesterday morning they got into a difficulty, which finally came to blows, Praeger, according to his statement, be-ing hit several times in the face by Rosvog with his fist. The accused was arrested, and upon putting in an appearance at the Alderman's office entered a cross-suit against Praeger for assault and battery, alleging that Praeger created the row by first striking him with a bar of iron. Both parties were required to give bail for a hearing this evening at

Since the law-makers for the National Government have decided it essential, in order to raise sufficient revenue, to impose a tax on tobacco, which is very properly considered a "luxury," it has been with the greatest difficulty that those accustomed to indulge in the luxury of smoking could find an article of segars, at any price, which would compare in quality of flavor with what they formerly used. That difficulty has been obviated, and smokers can now, by calling at No. 45 Hand street, John Megraw's, obtain the very best article of

The robber escaped with his booty, and nothing was done in the matter until yesterday, when the Allegheny police arrested William atias Flatty Boyle, a well known character, on suspicion of being the guilty party. At the hearing before Mayor Drum the accused was positively identified by the man who had been the victim of the robbery. Several circumstances also corroborated this testimony and "Flatty" accordingly was committed, in default of ball, for trial.

Yesterday morning Mr. Stewart Robinson made information before Alderman Lindsay against Patrick and Mary Mc-Cann, and Jane Deanney, for maintaining a disorderly house on Third street. Stove Larceny. Andrew Jackson still lives. Yesterday he called at Alderman McMasters' office and made informatical against Mrs. Susan Lucas for larceny as bailes. Andrew and Susan are both colored. Andrew states that Susan appealed to him for the states that Susan appealed to him for the loan of a cooking stove, in order that ahe might set up housekeeping, and take in boarders, by which she expected to maintain herself, and, if he desired, pay him for the article. Her appeal was so affecting that the gallant Andrew could not resist it, and the loan was granted. Subsequently, he alleges, Mrs. Lucas got on a spree, and upon making inquiries he discovered that she had not gone to housekeeping, as proposed, but mation as stated, upon which a warrant

Blackmailing

For some time past retail dealers in saloons, in and around the two cities, down by parties claiming to be in the interests of justice and law, while their real object, if "actions speak louder than words," is undoubtedly blackmailing. The particular point at which these pseudo-law preservers aim is the abolishment of the liquor traffic on Sunday. For this purpose, a strict watch is kept on the sa-loons, and every violator of the law is pounced upon immediately, and compelled sometimes, and only sometimes, to appear before a magistrate and pay the penalty. The general rule, however, is to levy a tax upon the unfortunate individual, which finds its way into the pocket of the supposed watchful guardian of the law, who thereafer, as long as the specified tax is promptly paid, assumes one of the mythical characteristics of fustice-that of blindness. istics of Justice—that of blindness. A case in Illustration occurred yesterday. A person, whom we shall designate as Smith, because his name was not Smith, made information before an Alnate as Smith, because his name was not Smith, made information before an Allegheny Alderman against Brown, for false, pretences. Smith alleged that Brown had collected twenty-five dollars from a saloon keeper in Pittsbugh, by falsely representing that he had been authorized to collect the same by Smith, to whom it was due. A further development of the case revealed the fact that this money was the amount of tax which had been levied by Smith upon the saloon keeper for services rendered, that it is asy for keeping quiet in regard to his violations of the Sunday liquor law. The prosecutor, hesitatingly, of course, was compelled to reveal this part of the transaction in order to sustain his case, which we understand was held over by the Alderman for a future decision.

John Myer, a resident of Birmingham, was robbed of his watch, pocket-book containing ten dollars, and several articies of clothing in an alley in the rear of Schmidt's saloon, Smithfield street, near Fifth avenue, on Thursday evening about eight o'clock. He had been in the saloon a short time before, and left considerably under the influence of liquor. He remembers going into the alley, but nothing further of his operations. He was discovered by Mr. Schmidt standing was discovered by Mr. Schmidt standing at the gate leading into his back yard, and when brought into the house made known his loss. He thinks he was drugged in the alley and then robbed. The perpetrators of the deed, besides taking his watch and money, stripped him of his coat, pants and boots, which they also carried off, leaving him indebted to the kindness of Mr. Schmidt for the loan of sufficient wearing apparel to make him presentable in the street on his way home. There is no clue to the depredators.

Knocked off the Track. Yesterday morning about ten o'clock, a man whose name could not be ascertained, was noticed walking along the track of the Pennsylvania Railroad near Nineveh station, by the engineer of the Baltimore express train, coming west. It is asserted by a "citizen" that the work was poorly done in the begginning; that the large cobble stones from the gutters on Fifth avenue and Wood street, taken up to be replaced by Nicolson pave-ment, were used in paving Second street, and that the sand in which they were imbedded was wet. Others con-tend, on the contrary, that the work was properly done and the cause of the diffi-culty is the spouty nature of the ground, in consequence of which the road is con-tinually damp. With these matters, however, we have nothing to do now. however, we have nothing to do now. The fact that the street was paved and taken off the contractor's hands by the proper officers, is sufficient evidence that the work was properly done, but it was no evidence of its durability. There is a very large amount of travel upon the street, and of a very heavy character, which will in some measure account for which will in some measure account for its bad condition, and is at the same time a good reason why it should be put in proper repair. It would be an excellent place to test the qualities of the Nicolson.

A merchant who will sacrifice profit in order to do a good and charitable act to wards his fellow man, is worthy the utmost respect and confidence, and inas much as we have in view a dealer who in view of the poverty and want of large classes of the community, has determined to sell flour, the staple of life, at prime cost to all his customers, we feel he is pre-eminently worthy the proud distinction. We may as well give the name, as we will thus benefit many persons, and say that our enterprising spirited citizen, Mr. C. A. Manufactured by PETER SQUIRE, 227 Oxford street, London.

This coap has been, by a peculiar process, freed from the excess of aikali almost invariably iound even in the pure-t soaps, and at the same time it is made to take up a large quantity of Glycerine (40 per cent.) It is to this latter sabstance that it chiefly owe at use-othing quality—softening the skin, preserving the complexion, preventing chapping and the unpleasant roughness experienced in co.d. weather. It is found most useful in alleviating the irritation produced by dryness of the skin.

In account of its great purity it recommends itself to all. persons that suffer from the use of common soaps; for delicate skins it is the only soap that can be tolerated. It is particularly useful for cleansing diseased skins where the irritation produced by ordinary soaps causes so much inconvenience.

It is the most agreeable shaving soap that can be used, leaving the tace soft and comfortable.

The soaps usually soid as Glycerine Noaps contain little or no Glycerine. It is only necessary to apply the tungue to the surface, at d the gen nine will be distinguiled from the spurious by the sweet taste.
