LETTER FROM THE SOUTH. Labor and the Colored People-Feerful Condition of Things in Texas-Slurger and Oppression, Etc., Etc.

[Correspondence of the Pittiburgh Gazette.] BATON ROUGE, February 16, 1869. Since my last letter to you I have been in many different places in the South. I am now from Texas. There is much prosperity in many parts of that State. Many very valuable improvements are being made, especially in farm property.

The old negro quarters are being newly roofed and "chinked," the fences are conserved and the large forms disconnected by the connection of the ball of the greatly improved, and the large farms di. Conneaut, Ohio." vided into smaller one.

The co-operative plan of labor generally prevails. In some cases the owner of the land furnishes the teams and feed, and takes for his share one half of the crops; in other cases the laborer furnishes the teams, feed, &c., for two thirds of the

The colored people appear happy and contented, and certainly appear vastly improved in all respects. You continuy hear it said that they will not work, and that they live by stealing, but you see no one else working the farms but the negro, and in the face of these charges negro, and in the lace of these charges definy calmed down to a condition pority will be noticed that the negro has raised dering on sanity, by the presentation of two millions and a half bales of cotton in a boquet gathered from the greenhouse. Many of them are buying land and working it themselves; others rent, and generally, I must say, they are getting along most creditably, and, indeed, I may say, they have the good, hard sense of the

In Texas there is but little liberty of speech. You may be told that a Yankee is free to express himself—yes, he may if he freely curses the Radical party, but let him freely give his honest thoughts and he will soon be made to know he had better be somewhere else. There is no apparent radicalism in this State—if a black man should now dare to vote, I think he would not vote anything but the Democratic tickel, for that is what the old slave aristocracy call "good behavior." Only recently two radical men, as good men as the State of Texas ever had, viz: H. S. Willis, of Pennsylvania, and P. J. Andreas, of New York. were killed without dreas, of New York. were killed without a single article of raiment, and The sensation produced, however, was startling. As he has promised to reform I refrain from giving his name." too, all go loaded down with revolvers, and there is no such thing as estimating the great number of persons, black and white, that have been murdered for opinion's sake. The Ku-Klux is only slavery asserting the right to rule and to keep down the black man and to repress all freedom in speech or in the exercise of the ballot, The Southern aristocracy is essentially despotic, and from past education and habit totally unfitted to live peacefully under republican form of government, and they are as much determined upon being the "ruling class" as ever they were, and to this end they are intensely anxious to have the ballot, and are even professedly willing that the colored man joy the elective franchise, but it will be an enjoyment only in the interest of this ruling class. They have the land and they intend the black shall be dependent upon them, and they now have him completely cowed down.

The government of the South has always been one of brute force, and this is the sort they will establish again as soon as they can get the ballot and be relieved of the presence of the hated "boys in blue" and the direct influence of the natienal government. What they cannot accomplish by peaceable means they will do so by the revolver and the knife and

The government cannot afford to intrust the Southern rebel with the ballot. It would be vile injustice to the black man. He is yet to learn the first lesson in our system of government, "that all are created equal." This lesson he will learn very slowly, indeed, it is feared that he will stoutly refuse to learn it at all, but until it is, he is unfitted to use the ballot. You will occasionally hear the remark, "the Southern Confederacy is not yet dead"; and I believe they have that hope. They greatly fear that the National Government will make a land tax of 50 cents per acre, in which event they could not hold vast farms, now totally untaxed. If taxing the land would have the effect of breaking up these vast tracts of unoccupied lands, would it not be a wise tax? Truly there never were the sum of $15,500.

Truly there never were the sum of $15,500. mere nominal price, which will produce a bale of cotton, under southern slavery a date of cotton, under southern mayer, culture, per acre, which is worth to-day $100, and could be made to produce two bales with proper cultivation. But northorn parties should only come in colonies.

GOLD, according to late foreign papers, has been discovered in extensive deposits in Sutherlandshire, Scotland, and the excitement among the inhabitants rivals the commotion created in California and Australia. Among the crowds that thronged to the place came, it is said, a group of fish-women, from Brora, twen-two miles distant, with spades in their hands and creels on their backs, thinking nands and cree on their backs, thinking they had only to shovel up the gold and pack it for home by baskets full. The gold collected has not been large in amount, only $175 being as yet discovered, though one hundred and fifty miners

A brief allusion to the origin of this important A brief silusion to the origin of this important discovery may not prove uninteresting. Among the authenticated records of the reasoned Captain Cook's voyage around the world, is found the statement, that while solourning for a thortime on the Brasilian Coast of South America, he observed the natives using in the membration of observed the natives using, in the preparation of their food, a neculiar oil, which, upon examina tion, he found to possess the appearance, taste and flavor of Butter; upon further inquiry, howand flavorof Butter; upon further inquiry, now-ever, he ascertained that it was simply a sub-stance that the natives distilled in a crude and imperfect manner, from a rich and iuxuriant plant that grow spontaneously and abundantly in that warm tropical country. A few jears ago, an eminent French chemist, while on a profestional visit to the tropics, made numerous experiments with this remarkable production of nature, and succeeded in extracting a concentrated essence of the plant.
