Hackman Fined for Extortion-The Relating to Hackmen to be Ordinance Enforced. Yesterday Jackson M'Pherson, a young man from up the Allegheny Valley Railroad, made information before the Mayor charging John Hancock, a hackman, with extortion. He arrived in the city on his way to St. Louis, Missouri, Thursday evening, and it appears was informed by John that the Union Depot was some distance away, and was induced by him to take a cab and ride over. John furnished the vehicle and conveyed the boy and his baggage, a small valise, to the Union Depot, only two squares distant, for which service he charged McPher-son four dollars and twenty five cents.

McFerson, in order to get his baggage, paid the bill, but instead of leaving on the next train remained, and made information as stated. Hancock was arrested and brought before the Mayor, who fined him ten dollars and costs for a violation of the ordinance regulating the rates to be charged for carrying passengers and bag-gage within the city limits. The ordince fixes the rates for each passenger at fifty cents and for each trunk twenty as may comes and for each trunk twenty-five cents, and further provides that all hacks; carriages, omnibusses and other vehicles used in conveying passengers for pay to and from railroad depots, standards half dealling the shall

Iron City College. Severe Accidents-Narrow Escape. Yesterday afternoon about five o'clock Mr. Walter Warden, Assistant Yardmaster at the Cleveland Railroad Freight Depot, Pittsburgh, met with a severe accident in Alleghenv while on his way home from work. He got on a freight train to ride over from the yard to Allegheny, and when the Federal street cross-ing was reached he attempted to jump off. By some means, however, he made a miscalculation in jumping, and instead of alighting with both feet on the ground, he feil heavily upon the cobble stone pavement, with one leg under him, which was broken below the knee by the force of the fall. Several persons in the vicinity ran to his assistance and carried him into the passenger depot, where Dr. Huselton, who had been summoned, attended his injuries. Besides breaking his leg, he received other severe bruises his leg, he received other severe bruises upon different parts of his body, none of which, however, are of a serious charac-ful instruction received at the College. ter. After receiving medical attention, he was conveyed to his residence in the Second ward, Allegheny. About an hour after the injury to Mr. About an hour after the nurry to Mr. Warden, an accident, somewhat similar in character, but likely to prove more serious in results, happened at the same place. Jhonny Fisher, a lad about thirteen years of age, jumped upon a freight train which was moving out of the yard alongside of the Federal Street Station. Failing to secure a permanent position on the platform of the car, while passing on the platform of the car, while passing through the gateway his back struck against the post, and he was knocked off to the ground. In falling, one foot caught in a ring bolt in the car, and he was dragged, lying on his back, half way across the street before he succeeded in extricating himself from the perilous position. As soon as the foot be-came released from the bolt it dropped right under one of the car wheels, which passed over and crushed it in a terrible manner. The boy was picked up by the watchman on duty at the gate and carried into the station, when the and carried into the station, when the services of Dr. Huselton were again procured. The foot was found to be very badly smashed; but the Doctor thought he might, with care, be able to save it. The boy was also severely bruised upon the back and shoulders by the fall, but these injuries are not considered dan-gerous. After his wounds had been dressed he was removed to his home at Spring Garden, Seventh ward, Alle-

The Iron City College of this city, so well and favorably known, both at home and abroad, is one of the established institutions of Pittsburgh which enjoys a national fame and reputation. It has now been in continued and successful operation some fifteen years, and its patronage coming from all parts of the Union, composed of all ages, from boys of sixteen to men of forty years of age, including not only young men from the farm, the workshops and the schools, but gentlemen of mature age, many of them the heads of large business houses, perhaps surpasses that of any other com-mercial institution in the country. Many . bank of our most successful merchants ers and business men took their first steps here, and do not hesitate to attrib-

Its present high standing, in many res pects an enviable one, the result not of one but of many causes, is attributable in no small degree to the excellence of its course of study and system of instruction, which secure to its students struction, which secure to its students not only all the advantages of a thor-ough and comprehensive knowledge of the theory, but such a familiarity with the practical details of business as to in-sure proficiency in the branches taught. Further, the skill and acknowledged ability of the Principals, Messrs. J. C. Smith. A. M. author of the National ability of the Frincipals, measure, to be Smith, A. M., author of the National Accountant, and A. Cowley, anthor of Cowley's System of Practical Penman-ship, both teachers of long experience, and alike distinguished in their respec-tive departments of instruction, baye and alike distinguished in their respec-tive departments of instruction, have contributed not a little to its fame. An-other circumstance, and one which has tended greatly to its popularity is, that its managers are careful not to hold out inducements which cannot be realized; they do not propose to accomplish the labor of months in so many days, but give their pupils to understand that merit alone is the passport to positions of responsibility and trust. The conse-t quence is a superior class of graduates to ductors a subjection schools which purport to be able to impart to inexperienced youth in the short space of four or five weeks a complete knowledge of mercantile science and practice. To persons desirous of acquiring a thorough business education, we can safely say that a school with better facilities, mulished and devoted instructors than the Iron City College, is not to be found.

Go to Holtzheimer's, Fifth avenue, next door to the Postoffice, for a good meal at any hour of the day. His tables are always equal, if not superior, to those spread in the first class hotels, while the prices charged are not near so heavy. Fresh oysters from Baltimore, Philadel-phia and New York are daily received by express and served up in all the desira-ble styles. A first class ale and wine bar is attached to the diming rooms, which is kept bountifully supplied with the finest table wines, ales, porter, beer and tem-perance beverages to be found in the city. . His remains will arrive in this city to-day.

A Neat Table.

To ensure neatness in the appointments of the household table, one of the most important requisites is that of a project supply and choice of Queensware. So well is this fact known that good housewives would rather pay almost two. prices than purchase inferior articles. This, however, is rendered altogether unnecessary now, as the goods manufactured at the Keystone Pottery are fully equal to the demands of the times, and equal to the demands of the times, and are sold at prices which placethem with-in the reach of all. Any of our readers in need of articles of Queensware would do well to call at No. 363 Liberty street and test the truth of our observations by an examination of the stock on hand.
