A SAD STORY is told of the sufferings endured by the crew of the barque China, which was lost at sea in December last. After a succession of heavy gales and storms of rain and sleet, one morning a tremendous sea broke over the vessel, sweeping two of the sailors into ocean graves. Before the rest of the men could VELOCIPEDES have become so plentiful save themselves in the fore-rigging, another terrible sea plunged down on the doomed barque and swept off the fore-castle houses, and carried the captain and four of the sailors after their unhappy companions. As the cargo completely filled the hold, and the cabin and forecastle houses were tossing in fragments on the sea, the only shelter left these horrorstricken men was under a little forecastle deck, beneath which they crept as soon as they dared risk themselves on the clean-swept maindeck, over which the seas were rolling mountainshiph. LAST week, after a fall of two inches of snow, countless numbers of black worms, about three-fourths of an inch long, were found on the top of the snow such precious drops as they could squeeze steward, who seemed to have how the most strength of any of them, had to be hanled up the barque's aide, and could only exclaim in pitcous tones, as he was lifted over the rail, "My God, Capt. Le-wand, fourteen days and nothing to eat." The mate died from utter debility within two hours after his rescue, notwithstanding the strenuous exertions that were made to restore him to consciousness and life. All the men were not only as thin as skeletons, but were covered with boils caused by exposure to the salt water, and which added greatly to the other miseries of their hard lot.

A MARVEL OF A MAR. - The London Times thus speaks of one of the notables of the reign of Elizabeth-a reign during which appeared some of the most remarkable of the intellectual giants of England Says the Tiues :

"The more we meditate over the career of Sir Walter Raleigh the more we wonder at the marvelous many-sidedness of the man. In this respect he far excelled his compers' Shakespears' and Bacon. A most sweet and tuneful post, a profound and philosophic historian, an accor ed courtier, a skillful navigator and ship builder, a gallant warrior both by sea and land, an ardent planter, horticulturist and botanist, an earnest student of chemistry, and, lastly, to omit many other of his dis tinctions, a hold preacher of free trade doctrines in the House of Commons near, ly three hundred years before such doc-trines were ordinarily accepted-truly.
