Gill, who was recently admitted to the firm, is a gentleman equally well ac-quainted with the trade, and has had previous connection with a well known carpet house and upholstery establish-menf of this city. The firm will con-tinue to pay marked attention to the up-holstering business, and if any evidence of their skill and neatness in such work be wanting, the attention of the Second United Presbyterian Church, Allegheny, (Rev. J. B. Clark's,) which has just been re-opened, will furpish it, as we have seldom seen more elegant work-manship displayed. Public halls, churches, boats, botels and private resi-dences are fitted out on most reasonable terms in the best and most endurable upholstery work, while carpets and oil cloths will be laid promptly to order. We conneend this house to the custom and patronaye of our readers, and be-speak for it an increase of the large trade hitherto directed towards it.
