

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

WASHINGTON TOPICS AND GOSSIP.

As soon as it became evident to General Grant that A. T. Stewart could not be retained as the Secretary of the Treasury, he immediately wrote a very interesting letter to George H. Stuart, of Philadelphia, tendering him the position, and urging him to accept. Mr. Stewart replied that his health was such as absolutely to preclude his acceptance.

The Surveyor General of Idaho is one of the many who walked ninety miles to get around the snow-blockade of the Union Pacific Railroad. He says the principal trouble on the line was in the cuts. Some of them, from one hundred to one thousand feet long, drifted full, and the snow was packed in them from ten to twenty feet deep.

The President's family will to-morrow begin the transfer of their effects to the White House, and will hereafter occupy at their residence.

Professor Bassett, a very intelligent colored man, connected with the Colored High School of Philadelphia, is here, an applicant for the position of Minister to Hayti.

Horace Greeley, Esq., this morning, had an interview with Secretary Boutwell. Subsequently the President sent for him, with whom he had quite an interview, the result of which was some of his friends say, that he came away with feelings akin to those which he retired from the inauguration ball.

Dr. Marks, Collector of the Port of Philadelphia, resigned to-day, as he would not take a position he could not hold permanently.

Senator Cameron was "that the President informed him he was in duty bound to forward all commissions executed by his predecessor, but that the recipient must not expect thereby to retain his position."

No action will be taken on the Georgia acts until the question is disposed of by the two Houses as to whether the State is entitled to representation. A Senate favor the project of creating a provisional government in Georgia, as the best means of getting rid of the present embassies.

Of the President's Secretaries, the Postmaster-General and the Secretary of the Treasury are most sought after by the office-seekers. Mr. Cresswell is literally torn down with applicants for post-offices. To-day a delegation of Congressmen called on him and made some demands for the appointment of women to office. Mr. Cresswell said he had no place for them.

The last appropriation will make it necessary for him to retrench, and he will have to decrease, instead of increase his salary. The Congressmen, who were finally of this manner, but persisted.

Finally Mr. Cresswell told them he had detailed a clerk, whose business was to make a record of all the Congressmen making such demands, and when the appropriation bill for his department came up in Congress for action, and fault was found with his administration, he would point to the list as an explanation of the Congressmen, and they immediately withdrew their unreasonable demands.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue will recommend the removal of all the Democratic collectors and assessors in Ohio this week, and will probably turn his attention to Pennsylvania next.

The law of 1890, defining the qualifications of Congressional Priests, probably any one who has an interest, directly or indirectly, in the publication of any newspaper, from acting. This rules out Clara, of Buffalo, who is both owner and publisher of a paper.

It seems to be generally conceded that the decision of the caucus of the Republican Congressmen from Pennsylvania has been decided by allowing each man to take his own course. Your very full report of last night's meeting will show where the case stands. To-day it is intimated that nearly every member has a candidate for every office outside of his own district, while those in the district are left to his undisturbed control.

The case of Hon. John Covode, who contested the Western District, was taken up this morning by the House Committee on Elections. They agreed to consider only the points referred to them by the House, as to who should be the sitting member during the contest. The further consideration of the case was then postponed until Thursday, when definite action will be had, and it is expected the seat will be given to Mr. Covode.

Gen. Banks has called a meeting of the Foreign Affairs Committee for the purpose of considering affairs in Cuba and St. Domingo. It is maintained by many Senators and Representatives that Congress ought to clothe the President with authority to recognize the de facto government in these countries. It is in his judgment, it is expedient to do so.

The question as to how far public men, particularly members of Congress, shall be censured in the disposition of the appointments has been the subject of more or less consideration by the President and several members of the Cabinet. At least three members of the latter expressed themselves on Saturday last, at an incidental meeting, that it was necessary for the success of the Administration independent of all party considerations, that the leading public men in the several districts should be advised with regard to all important appointments, and that their knowledge and experience should be made use of in determining the conclusions to be arrived at. The President is understood to have cheerfully and fully assented to this presentation of the case so far as consultation is concerned, and is acting on it every day. He, however, does not thereby surrender his own right of independent judgment. He will listen patiently and freely to all that may be said by those entitled to speak, and then in the light of the facts before him make up his own mind.

The President has said that in some localities he thought he knew who should be appointed, and that in such cases he would act accordingly. With such men in the Cabinet as Boutwell, Host and Cox, who are capable of fully appreciating the extent to which the demands of party necessity should be countenanced, the proposition to be proposed by the Administration may be of some benefit, but it is not likely to reflect credit upon the country, but only the more firmly than ever the foundations of the Republic are being laid.

Late letters from Brazil state that Lopez is steadily organizing his army from the remnant of his old force and the natives who fled before the allies at Cururo. He has issued a proclamation urging his people to go on to the aid of the allies, and they believe implicitly in all his advice. Not a native is to be seen in the towns occupied by the allies. An evasion was completely averted, as even the houses of foreigners were searched.

A dispute arose in E. A. Jassal's auction room on Randolph street, Chicago, on Tuesday, between a customer named James and John Jacobs, one of Jassal's auctioneers. Carmany applied an epithet to Jacobs, when the latter drew a revolver and fired at him. The ball inflicted a mortal wound. Carmany, a young Norwegian named Hans Roberson, passing through his lungs and inflicting a mortal wound. Carmany, at last accounts, was alive, but no hope is held out for his recovery. Jacobs made his escape, and has not yet been arrested.

In the Superior Court of Hartford, Conn., on Wednesday, William White, alias Dave Kently, the notorious burglar, was sentenced to five years imprisonment in the State Prison, for committing a burglary in Hartford, Conn., in 1887, and a burglary in Plainville. He is already in prison serving four years for a burglary in Plainville. He is now in the State Prison, and has heretofore served sixteen years in all. He has heretofore escaped from Michigan, Ohio and New Jersey prisons, where he was sentenced to serve. In getting away from Michigan, he froze both feet and had them amputated near his knees. He pleaded his own case at Hartford and said that he might have curiosity to know how he rebel shelled on the bloody deck of the burglar, Charles Retsoff, arrested with Wilson, and in four years, was also found guilty of burglary, but was not sentenced.

An Address to the Christian World, by John M. Kee, is the title of a pamphlet of fifteen pages, left on our table, with request, by the author, to notice. We select a few extracts: "Calvinism stands on a proud eminence, as high as heaven above our systems; it is the compass that will direct the Christian to the celestial world, to the threshold of Jehovah's stately palace. This is the true truth and there is no other system of truth; you can destroy Calvinism only by destroying the Bible."

"Any church that erects a cross upon its site is not Christian; any man or woman that wears a cross about his or her neck is not Christian." "It is crosses, beads and triangles that is sinking this country into hell." "Any man that believes in Arminianism, Poyntism, Mormonism or Universalism, let him be damned; any man that says the children of believing parents should not be baptized, let him be damned; any man that says the negro has no right to vote, let him be damned; any man that says women have any right to vote or speak in public, let him be damned. No Democrat should be permitted to be a member of the Christian Church, and any minister that permits them is permitting Satan to enter his high heaven. Christians, we are severe, but God's laws are hard against the wicked."

We don't know exactly what to say or propose about this pamphlet. One at our elbow suggests that it be filed with the archives of the Westminster Assn. We rather incline to advise the reference to the author and book to some Committee on Reconstruction.
