Snively, Esq., Recorder, ten o'clock the Allegheny police made a raid on a disorderly house, No. 240 Federal street, Third ward, succeeding in capturing the entire party of inmates, five men and three women, and convey-ing them to the lockup. The proprietor of the establishment, Harry Hatch, and of the establishment, Harry Hatch, and his wife, were committed for frial, in the sum of $500, on a charge of maintaining a disorderly house. Two of the men paid fines of ten dollars each. The other two men and two women were sent to jail. The information upon which the arrest was made, was lodged before the mayor was made, was loaged before the mayor by James Porter (colored), residing in the immediate vicinity. The house has been the source of considerable annoy-ance to the neighborhood for some time past.

To be Repaired.

The Directors of the St. Clair street Suspension Bridge design making extensive repairs and improvements in that structure during the coming season. Among the most noticeable will be the laying of an entire new floor on the cartway, the old one having almost worn through. There is some talk of laying the Nicolson, as the new floor, but there is fear that this kind of paven ent would not be practicable, owing to the spring-ing of the bridge between the piers, when travel is heavy. The contempla-ted changes in the toll houses, of which we have spoken heretofore, will be made at the same time the new floor is laid. It is designed to commence the work next month and finish it as rapidly as
