KANSAS FILLING UP.

[Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazett .] PERRY, KANSAS, March 26, 1869.

Probably none of our new States ever filled up so rapidly with population as Kansas is now filling. Men are coming in continually, and running to and fro looking for locations for permanent that city. They have now under contract three blast impacts capable of manufacture of pig iron at their mills in that city. They have now under contract three blast impacts capable of manufacturing 195 tons of pig metal daily. (that was) a splendid body of land thirty miles square, has been purchased by the Atchison and Pike's Peak Railroad Company, and was thrown open to purchasers last week. The Kansas Pacific Railway (formerly known as the Union Pacific Railroad, E. D.) runs directly across this reservation from east to west, while the Atchison and Pike's Peak Railroad crosses the Kansas river at Topeka, a short distance from its eastern border. Some of that land, yet in a state of nature, is appraised as high as twenty-five dollars per

The Atchison and Pike's Peak Railroad begins at Atchison, on the Missouri river, some twenty miles above Leavenworth, and runs in a southwesterly direction to Topeka, where it crosses to the south side of the river, and thence bears off in the same direction indefinitely. The bridge at Topeka is nearly finished, and they are pushing the work on the south side vigorously. No work has yet been done between Atchison and Topeka, and for a while this road will be but a southwest branch of the great Kansas Pacific Railroad, with which it will form a junction at North Topeka.

The country south and west of Topeka, which this road will traverse, is for many miles one of great fertility and beauty, and already pretty well settled. About eighteen miles south of Topeka it reaches the first yein of coal, which is rather thin and the coal of inferior quality. Still it is at present worked to a considerable ex-tent, and some of the coal is hauled in wagons to Topeka. It is used by blacksmiths, and to some extent in stoves. It burns freely and makes hot fires. But when the road shall be made some thirty miles from Topeka it will reach a six toot vein of coal, of a quality greatly superior to the other. When the coal mines of this State shall be fairly developed, and railways constructed to them, as they soon will be, I see no reason why manufacturing industry may not be extensively prosecuted. The distance of this region in the eastern States and in Europe will operate as a permanent protective tariff. Wool may be grown here to any extent, and here, better than anywhere else, it is too dry.

Beyond Fort Harker, say about one hundred and seventy miles west of this point, or two hundred and twenty miles west of the Mississippi river, settlement for agricultural purposes will cease; but beyond that, for hundreds of miles, stretches a magnificent pasture, where millions of cattle and sheep may be raised at very little cost. That pastoral region, therefore, the order of things to which we are accustomed is reversed—the further a man goes west the nearer he is to market. Hence it is that the Potowatomie lands, which lie from fifteen to forty-five miles west of this, are held at so high figure. The effect of all this will be, that population, unable to roll its wave much further, will PACK, and this eastern half of Kan ras, which is just about as large as the entire State of Ohio, is likely ere long to be-come one of the most densely populated parts of our country. Its fertility, salu-brity and central position, its unfivaled beauty of scene—valleys, bluffs, swells, knolls and perpetual alterations of wood and prairie, mark it as the home of very numerous small but thrifty proprietors.

Moreover this State is directly on the line of the great thoroughfare between the Atlantic and Pacific slopes of the continent. This is just as sure as that this line passes through a region mild and snowless, and rich in pastoral and mineral wealth, while its almost completed rival on the north traverses a country which, for twelve or fifteen hundred miles, is unfit for settlement, destitute of resources of any kind, a region of Kansas road will soon be pushed on to Denver-that part between Cheyenne, Wells and Denver being considered a branch. By the time that is accomplished. the superiority of this route will be so universally felt and acknowledged, that the main line will be sure to go on under

THE Chicago Rolling Mill Company has recently determined to commence the manufacture of pig iron at their mills in that city. They have now under contract three blast curnaces capable of manufacturing 125 tons of pig metal daily. The ore which will be worked into pig metal is taken from about forty miles northwest of Milwaukee, and from the northwest of Milwaukee, and from the shores of Lake Superior.

Louisa Murhlbach writes every day enough to fill a whole printed sheet. She begins at 8 in the morning and stops at 4 in the afternoon. In the evening she receives her literary friends in her sumptuously furnished salon, or attends a performance at the theatre, where her goodlooking and talented daughter Theodore is playing. Despite the large copyrights which the authoress of "Joseph the Second" and "Louisa of Prusaia" has received for her works, she has not saved any money, and is still writing for her daily bread

A WOMAN with a child entered a photographic gallery in Newburgh, N. Y., the other day, and previous to placing it for a picture the woman subjected the child to a vigorous spanking. OF LAMARTINE it is said that the original manuscripts of all his works are in the possession of his family, and through-out the whole of the immense collection prosecuted. The distance of this region of manuscripts scarcely an erasure or corfrom the principal seats of manufactures rection is to be found. This is specially may be manufactured. ARRANGEMENTS were completed on Saturday, on behalf of the Eric Railroad Company, and the Michigan Southern and Northern Indiana Railroad Company for tremendous snow drifts, which, in defiance of human power, will cause an annual interruption of all traffic. This Erie a lease of the right to run their cars over the Michigan Southern line until October 10th, 1869, with the privilege of a renewal of the right after that date at option, on condition that the Erie would construct a road from Akron to Toledo, Ohio, a distance of ninety miles. The conditions were assented to and the survey of the proposed new link will be com-menced immediately, thus securing the unbroken broad gauge line to the metro-polis of the West. This connection was previously simed at and the agreement entered into, but was restrained by an in-iunction in the Schell suit. granted by AY COOKE, Chairman Fixance and Executive junction in the Schell suit, granted by the Supreme Court. This suit has since HENRY D. COOKE, Vice President, been compromised.

A GREAT MANY PEOPLE are about to pack up and go to Florida, so glowing are the accounts of the remarkable productiveness of that State.
