Dear Charles: The stockholders had this meeting to-day and my report was approved by a vote of eighty-two shares.

I am sorry to hear that you are ill. I hope you will get well soon. I am sure you can handle all the business of the Post.

On the 4th of February, 1893, Young wrote to "Dear Charles" as follows:

Philadelphia, April 25, 1893.—Dear Sir: Since Mr. Young assumed the duties of the position he now holds on the New York Tribune, he has repeatedly assured me that he would be happy to have me see your friends.

Dear Charles: I have been all in the dumps these few days about our poor little boy. Such a healthy child, if we had more milk.

I have many Tribune problems to solve this winter. After the election I think you should be in the Post exclusively. Old fellow, we have had many hard passages in life.

I am sure you can handle all the business of the Post. I am sure you can handle all the business of the Post.
