BUTLER HOMICIDE TRIAL.

some length. He looked upon the examination as a preliminary hearing by magistrates, who had the right to call witnesses, could have called them a week after, or any magistrate might have done so six months afterward. Had testimony been taken against prisoner and the witness had since died, the deposition could have been offered here in evidence against him, and he recognized that the defence had the same rights which would be accorded to the Commonwealth.

Court overruled the objection, and humanity thanks God and takes courage. "The world does move," Judge McGuffin's friends may thank God for him that he has taken one good step forward.

At the request of the Court, Mr. Thompson read the record of the inquest. Before reading the deposition Commonwealth renewed objections. More arguments and explanations by the Court. Deposition was read to Court and jury.

[Reporter has already sent this deposition, and it has appeared in the GAZETTE's published reports. It will be remembered that English swears positively to having seen Taylor in church the evening of the murder.]

Mrs. Jane G. Swisshelm, sworn—Examined the wad taken from the muzzle of the gun, and all the scraps found in prisoner's carpet sack. All but two she believes to be fragments of the New York Tribune, of the day or week of July 5th, '64; thinks so because one scrap has a portion of the account of the dedication of the Gettysburg Cemetery, and other scraps, portions of other matter of general public interest at that time; because the quality of paper, degree of discoloration, and injury from wear are similar; the width of columns, variety of type, and style of composition, and making up are that of the Tribune. The two exceptions are scraps of the American Citizen. No one of the scraps shown can be any part of the Pittsburgh Dispatch. Examined the bloody wad and compared it with the Weekly Dispatch of Feb. 2, '61. Wad is a fragment of that issue. Type appears smaller than in the bound copy, but this is caused by the shrinking of the paper in being cut and dried and much crumpled. Of all the scraps shown this bloody wad is the only one that is any part of any number of the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Cross examined, and nothing new elicited.

A. Wiseman, sworn—Lives in Butler. Is a watchmaker. Keeps a store. Has pistols for sale. Has a revolver with him, such as he sells. Had that kind for sale last summer. Calls them Sharp's revolvers. [Compares his pistol with the one proved to belong to prisoner.] Had them to sell last September. Was absent then, but on his book finds entry of such a pistol sold by his clerk. [Produces his book.]

Ferdinand Weigand, sworn—Was living here in September with Mr. Wiseman; he was away then; witness tended store for him; sold a pistol 10th of September; a four shooter, Sharp's revolver. [Examines prisoner's pistol.] Sold that kind of pistol; a young man bought it; about twenty or twenty-five years old; had light colored hair; points out prisoner as looking like him. [Prisoner stands up.] Is about his size; believes he is the man; he made the entry in the book; never saw the man before or since, but believes that is the man.

Cross-examination elicits nothing.

Andrew Strawnick, sworn—Is a gunsmith. Has worked off and on at it for the last forty years, and steadily for the last twenty years. [Pistol called for and is not in the house. Witness retires.]

S. W. Shannon, recalled—Says the paper used as a wad on top of the powder in prisoner's gun appeared to him as being a part of the same paper from which the stopper in the muzzle of the gun was made.

There was quite a suspense in Court waiting for the large pistol which some one had carried off. The jury had five minutes recess.

Mr. Strawnick, re-called—Was called on last night to superintend some experiments in firing a pistol. Put in one inch of powder and a paper wad on top; counted forty grains of No. 2 shot; put that in and a paper wad; had a paper the size of a person's head and set it up at a certain distance. [Recognizes the paper head.] Set it as eight feet distance; had a window sash with glass; had the head eight feet from the glass, and beyond it, at a distance of nineteen feet, a door of inch poplar; held the pistol within two inches of the glass and fired through at this paper head; nine shots went through; aimed for the temple and most of the shots went below the head. There were twenty-six shot in a space of twenty-two inches on the door, twenty-two inches from the centre; saw no shot that went deep; only three penetrated the door so as to stick in it. There were a good many marks on the door. The second shot charged as before and held the pistol close to the glass. [Shows the paper head at which he aimed.] Fourteen shot went through it, and scattered from crown to chin. A third shot, with the same charge, fired six feet from the glass; no shot struck the head. The door was twenty-five feet back from the pistol. The shot had struck far and wide, and none had penetrated the door. The first shot, two inches from the glass, blackened the sash around, and broke two parts of the pane out. The second, close against the glass, tore it about the same and only blackened it a little; held the muzzle against the glass. At six feet the shot struck the corner and took out a part of the sash. Had the sash firmly fixed and aimed, each time, at that part of it corresponding to the broken window at Mr. Candless'. The pistol was loaded to give it its best effect. Put in an extra charge. Thinks a charge fired from this pistol might penetrate a head. If two or three shot went together it might make a hole like a bullet-hole. When using common caps, had trouble to get the pistol off. She went off better with water-proof caps. Unglazed or half-glazed powder rammed in tight will soon spoil, but glazed powder not tightly rammed, in a clean gun, would stay good for three months. Has unbreached guns loaded for a month, and the powder poured out as good as from the horn. In a gun loaded immediately after firing, in the evening, the powder would be dry in the morning. After the gun had sweat, to load it, powder would stick together in the morning. The gun begins to sweat in two or three minutes after firing. Has seen caps after being on a gun three or four weeks that were perfectly bright. As long as the cap is kept dry it will be bright. Water-proof caps will corrode sooner than the common G. D. cap.

Cross-examined—Slugs will make a larger hole than round shot of the same weight. Slugs would be more likely to go together than round shot. A charge from this pistol might penetrate a human head, in some thin part. This pistol scatters more than usual. [Examines the gun.] Is a smooth bore; is made for shot or ball; a charge from the gun would have a much greater effect than from the pistol; would scatter less. At twenty feet it would hardly begin to scatter; will not say what effect a pane of glass would have on it.

Court adjourned.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

THE GAZETTE is furnished in the city the six days of the week for 15 cents per week; by mail, $8 per annum: 3 mos., $2.

Federal Oil Company.—Elsewhere, by advertisement, it will be observed that the Federal Oil Company has just declared a dividend of ten per cent. on each share of stock.

Personal.—Mr. William Semple, the well known dry goods merchant of Allegheny city, and family, intend leaving about the first of June for an extensive tour through Europe.

Dr. Gleason, of Philadelphia, will deliver a free lecture, in Lafayette Hall, on Monday evening, May 3d, on the laws of physical culture and the art of acquiring health, strength, &c. His lectures will be illustrated with a fine collection of models, &c.

Committed For a Hearing.—Jas. Guert, arrested on Tuesday, an account of which we published yesterday, was committed to jail yesterday in default of two thousand dollars bail, for a hearing. The hearing was postponed in order to have the prosecutor present, who it appears resides in the country.

The Evening Republic, a new and spicy little evening penny paper, has made its appearance on our streets. It is published as an afternoon edition to the Morning Republic, by Col. N. P. Sawyer. Altogether it is a spirited penny paper, and we trust the enterprise will meet with the merited measure of success.

Water Pipe.—The work of extending the twenty inch water main on Butler street, in the Seventeenth ward, will be resumed in a few days. It will be remembered the pipe was extended to St. Mary's avenue last fall, and it will be continued from that point to a point two squares beyond the Cemetery gate. The pipe are being delivered this week.

For Register.—The name of Joseph H. Gray, Esq., the present efficient, capable and courteous occupant of the Register's office, will be presented to the forthcoming Republican Convention for re-nomination for the second term. Mr. Gray has made an excellent officer, and it would be a fitting compliment to one who has ever faithfully discharged his duties to award him re-election.

Who Sells the Liquor?—Yesterday morning three boys, aged respectively ten, twelve and fourteen years, were found lying on the Allegheny wharf, in a beastly state of intoxication, and were taken to the lockup in a cart. On arriving at the watch house one of the boys, and he the only one sober enough to speak at that time, stated that they had bought a pint of whisky from a dealer on Smithfield street. Who is he?

A Move in the Right Direction.—Several accidents having occurred lately in consequence of persons carelessly leaving their horses stand on the streets unattended by any one, the Mayor determined to break up the custom, in order to prevent other accidents and to protect the public, and commenced operations yesterday. The following persons were arrested and required to pay a fine of one dollar and costs each, for allowing their horses to stand on the streets unattended. August Meyers, Robert Birch, John Simpson, C. From and Fred. Bannarch. The officers are directed to arrest every person offending in this respect.

Happy Termination—Wedding at the Mayor's Office.

An incident occurred at the Mayor's office, last night, slightly out of the usual routine of business transacted there. Tuesday evening Miss Ann Elizabeth Morgan, a young girl residing in East Liberty, made information before the Mayor, charging Ulysses Stewart with seduction. She stated that she was only sixteen years of age, and that she had been seduced by Stewart under a promise of marriage, and was the mother of a child. She stated further that Stewart had requested her to meet him at Oakland at eight o'clock with the child. Officers McCready and Long, to whom the warrant was given, prevailed upon the girl to keep her appointment with her seducer, and they accompanied her and arrested him. He was brought to the lockup and declined a hearing, stating that he would enter bail for Court. Yesterday afternoon, however, he changed his mind and demanded a hearing, after the girl had returned to East Liberty, and positively refused to marry her. Last evening he again changed his resolution and concluded to make good his promises to the girl, and she was accordingly sent for and Mayor Brush performed the marriage ceremony.

The Execution To-day of Lane, the Wife-Murderer—The Scaffold Erected—Arrangements, etc.

The scaffold on which Louis Lane is to be executed was erected yesterday. It is very complete, and we dare say the best ever used in this Commonwealth to carry out the dreadful extreme penalty of the law. Sheriff Cluley, a gentleman of large practical ideas, designed the plan, and Mr. Thompson, of Hazelwood, constructed the gallows. It was in good working order last evening, and a great many persons visited the jail to obtain a glimpse of the grim instrument of torture. Some few gained admittance, but much the larger number were permitted to enter without satisfying their morbid curiosity.

Lane was engaged almost all day yesterday in prayer with his spiritual advisers and Sisters of Mercy. He completely broke down and was unable to assume any other than a reclining position. He was greatly disappointed on receiving a telegram through the Sheriff from his son at Cleveland, stating that he could not be present at the execution. We will not be surprised should the prisoner have to be carried to the gallows to-day, as his spirits seem to have completely deserted him in these, his few remaining hours.

A few cards of admission were issued to members of the press and others yesterday, to enter the jail yard to witness the last scene. The sounding of the great bell at noon will be the signal for the moving of the procession to death, and half an hour thereafter Louis Lane will have stood before the throne of his God for judgment.

A squad of twenty policemen will be detailed by Mayor Brush to guard the approaches to the jail, who, together with the Sheriff's special officers, will be ample protection against the intrusion of uninvited curiosity seekers. The entrance for those holding tickets will be from the Ross street side of the jail.

In to-morrow's GAZETTE we shall furnish a history of the prisoner, an account of his crime, his trial, and the last sad scenes of the execution.

Patterson, favorably known in business circles here and in Cleveland, where he is engaged extensively in the coal trade, and Miss Bell French, daughter of Joseph French, Esq., Superintendent of the City Water Works. The hour announced for the ceremony was eleven o'clock, but it was not until nearly half-past eleven that the bridal party entered the church. During the interim Mr. L. C. Houghawout, organist at Trinity, performed some excellent music appropriate to the occasion. The ceremonies were performed by Rev. Mr. Scarborough, rector of Trinity Church, assisted by Rev. Mr. Ludlow, of New York, and were solemn and impressive. The happy couple left in the afternoon for an extended bridal tour.

Probably Fatal Accident.

Yesterday morning an accident occurred on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad, near Jack's Run, which will probably result in the death of a bohemian, whose name is unknown. Between ten and eleven o'clock, as the express train (No. 20) on the Cleveland road, coming east, approached the point named, the engineer noticed a man walking on the track, whereupon he sounded the alarm whistle, and the man stepped off the track to one side, and the train proceeded until it was within twenty or thirty feet of him, when he again stepped on the track immediately in front of the engine, and before the engineer had time to sound the whistle the train had struck him, knocked him down and passed over his legs and one arm. The train was stopped and the wounded man, who was still living but insensible, was placed in a baggage car and taken to the Allegheny Depot, where he was left in charge of the depot master. Dr. Bucham was immediately notified and saw the patient within twenty minutes from the time the accident occurred, and decided that the injured limbs would have to be amputated. The left leg was almost severed immediate above the ankle joint; the bones in the right leg were crushed from a short distance below the knee joint to the foot, and the left arm was crushed and broken at the elbow. The unfortunate man, being still insensible, was removed to the basement or cellar under the "May Flower" saloon, on Federal street, opposite the depot, where he remained until half past six o'clock. At which time, Mayor Drum, having heard of the occurrence, sent a number of his officers and had the injured man removed to the Mayor's office. He searched for the city physician, but failing to find him he went Dr. Buchannan, not knowing that he had been called in the case. The Doctor, it appears, had been endeavoring to find a suitable place for his patient, but failed, as none of the hotels would agree to take him in, because he was poor, we presume. Drs. Buchannan and Hazlet, we learn, amputated the limbs of the injured man last night, but it is hardly probable that he will recover, as it is thought he has received some internal injuries. He will be removed to the city poor house to-day if he is able.

A Compliment.

Few of our home artists enjoy so high reputation throughout the country as Mr. George Hetzel, and none are more worthy the bestowal of honor. Speaking of pictures on exhibition at the "Academy of Fine Arts" the Philadelphia North American says: "Of American scenery, we observe No. 74—View of Panther Creek, Cambria county, Pennsylvania—by George Hetzel, the celebrated Pittsburgh artist, one of the best landscape painters in America."

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—"The Lottery of Life" was again presented at the Opera House last night. It will be repeated to-night.

THE RINK.—Owing to the decided success of the masquerade on velocipedes at the Rink a few evenings since, the manager has been prevailed upon by a number of persons to give another exhibition of that character, which will take place this evening. In addition to the usual amount of amusement to be derived from the masquerade, an exciting double race, on velocipedes, for one mile, will take place. Admission fifty cents, children half price.

PITTSBURGH THEATRE.—There is no abatement in the attractions at the Pittsburgh Theatre, and the attendance continues as large as usual. Miss Annie Gibbons is the favorite this week.

Meeting of the Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance.

Magerigan, presented a report of the proceedings of the order in this jurisdiction during the past year, as follows: Number of divisions in operation, one hundred and nine; number of members initiated, two thousand two hundred and fifty-three; number suspended, three hundred and eighty-three; expelled for violation of pledge, three hundred and sixty-nine; whole number of members, eight thousand five hundred and sixty-nine; increase during the year, four hundred and sixty; whole amount of receipts, twenty-seven thousand seven hundred and eight dollars; cash on hand and invested, thirty-nine thousand nine hundred and twenty-one dollars; number of temperance tracts distributed, fourteen thousand one hundred and ninety; public temperance meetings held, two hundred and four.

A public meeting was held at Mozart Hall, in the evening, at which Grand Worthy Patriarch John Shallcross was selected President. The meeting was held under the auspices of Division 42, at which addresses were made by Mr. Lee, Mr. Kerr, Mr. Shallcross and a number of other well-known temperance orators.

Mayor's Court.

On account of the excitement in the jail yard, to-day, the jail will be closed to every person, except those holding passes from Sheriff Cluley, and in view of this fact the Mayor held a Court last evening so as to prevent the necessity of keeping any prisoner in the lock-up all day, as he would necessarily have to do should there be any to commit to jail.

The first called up was that of W. F. Smith, a gentleman from the rural districts, who had been arrested during the day for disorderly conduct. The alleged disorderly conduct consisted in abusing his horse in a cruel manner. He was required to pay a fine of five dollars and costs.

John Simmons was the next victim, and was charged with drunkenness. He stated that he was a stranger in the city, having been here but three or four days, and feeling lonesome he had taken several drinks. He was required to pay a fine of one dollar and costs.

Richard Jackson was next called up. He had been arrested for drunkenness, and was required to pay a fine of one dollar and costs.

The irrepressible Sadie Freel, alias Robinson, &c., was brought in just as the court was about to adjourn. Sadie had, as usual, been indulging freely in intoxicating liquors and was exceedingly drunk. She was sent up for thirty days.

ST. LOUIS.

The Grain Association—Troops Moving—Soldier Killed—Suicide.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, April 28.—A cable dispatch received to-day from Budgett & James, of Bristol, England, announces their desire to take one thousand shares in the St. Louis Grain Association, and directs the proper person here to draw on them on sight for the amount.

The towboat Mohawk and barges, with one hundred and seventy-five thousand bushels of grain for St. Louis, passed through Rock Island Bridge to-day. Dispatches from New Orleans say that tonnage for New York and Liverpool is abundant at this port. Freight, in bulk grain, per steamer to New York, is ten cent per bushel, and to Liverpool eight pence. The Merchants' Exchange here have established the grades of spring, superfine, extra, double and treble extra flour, the same as New Orleans standard. A prominent merchant of New Orleans, now here, says sufficient money can be raised in that city to fully co-operate with the Grain Association here in its efforts to divert the grain trade of the north west to the Missouri River Route.

The 7th United States infantry, 776 strong, which arrived here last night from Florida, left this forenoon on the steamers War Eagle and Colorado for Omaha, where it will be consolidated with the 36th infantry. It will then proceed to the forts on the Missouri river. While Henry Appo, a private in Co. K, of the 7th infantry, was cleaning his rifle, this morning, on board the steamer Colorado, it was discharged, the ball entering his stomach, killing him in about an hour. His remains were taken to the National Cemetery at Jefferson Barracks for burial.

Frederick Arnold, a German, committed suicide last night by shooting himself in the mouth with a revolver.

SCRANTON, Pa., April 28.—The coal miners of Hyde Park, in this city, were to-night invited to join the movement for a general suspension of work by the thirty thousand miners in the anthracite coal fields.

The Fifth Avenue Bank of Pittsburgh

Through the untiring exertions of an indefatigable and enterprising fellow citizen, Mr. R. A. Schnabel, nearly all the remainder of the capital stock of the above new bank was yesterday taken by a splendid class of subscribers. But a few more than three hundred shares yet remain untaken, and we again urge our readers who have capital to judiciously invest to take advantage of the opportunity presented for subscription. We made a slight mistake yesterday in stating that one tenth of the subscription would be required at the time of subscribing. The terms are ten dollars per share to be paid when called in by the Directors, and one dollar per week on each share, until all is paid up. The probabilities are that all the subscribed amount will not be called upon.

The books will remain open for subscription at the following times and places till the next meeting, which is called for next Tuesday night, at the room where session was held last night.

We wish to call particular attention to SEWARD & BENTLEY'S Constitution Bitters, advertised in our paper this week. Their Bitters are said to be the finest tonic and most agreeable stimulant for the weak and delicate, of any Bitters heretofore in use. They have been used in many localities with the most gratifying results, and are highly recommended by Physicians for the preventive of Fevers, Fever and Ague, and all malarious diseases. They create a healthy appetite, and strengthen the whole system. We are glad to have them introduced in this section, and hope they will take the place of all the poisonous compounds heretofore palmed off on the invalid as Bitters. From what we have heard said of them by those who ought to know, we are satisfied that a fair trial will convince all that they are as represented—a superior medical preparation. They are sold by all Druggists.

One of the features of Appletons' Journal is a series of beautifully-executed steel engravings, from paintings by our leading artists. The second of the series, called "The River Road," from a painting by Bellows, accompanies the sixth number. The execution of the engraving is of the finest, and the subject a delicious landscape with far-off mountains, a summer lake, and shady groves. Other pictures by Cassilear, Durand, Church, James Hart, Darley, and others, are to follow. It is designed to present the purchasers of the Journal with one of these steel plates every third or fourth number, between which times the illustrated features of the Journal will be pictorial supplements and large cartoons. Victor Hugo's romance, and a well-made-up series of stories and illustrated articles, complete the literary contents of the Journal.

Deliciously Medicinal.—This is the universal verdict pronounced upon PLANTATION BITTERS by all who have tried them. The well-known health-promoting ingredients from which they are made, and their invaluable merits as a remedy for indigestion and all its consequent ailments, and the preventive qualities against diseases arising from climatic changes, miasmatic influences and imperfect secretions, are so widely known and so honorably endorsed, that we trust no one will forego the advantages of their use.
