Allegheny Councils meet next Thursday night.

The Firemen's Association meets tonight at their Hall in City Building.

Leg Broken.—Saturday afternoon a carpenter fell from a scaffolding on the lower side of the Allegheny Diamond, and had his leg broken.

Paid the Penalty.—H. & J. Elkin, charged before the Mayor with selling liquor on Sunday, paid the penalty of fifty dollars and the costs on Saturday.

Mayor Drum had twenty-one drunken cases before him yesterday. Business in this line is increasing, especially on Sundays. Troy Hill furnished a great majority of the cases.

Assaulted Him.—Justice Barker, of East Birmingham, on Saturday committed John Hughes to jail on a charge of assault and battery preferred against him by John A. Parks.

The question relative to the further occupancy by the Allegheny Library of a room in the city buildings, will probably be decided at the next meeting of the Allegheny Councils.

Committed.—Michael Hagerty, committed an assault and battery upon Frank McGart, according to Frank's statements, on Saturday. Alderman Lindsay arrested and committed Michael to jail for a hearing on the charge.

Lecture to Gentlemen.—Dr. Gleason will deliver his first chaste and appropriate private lecture to gentlemen at Lafayette Hall this evening, splendidly illustrated with a great variety of anatomical models, specimens, &c.

Matrimonial Infelicities.—Alderman Taylor on Saturday issued a warrant for the arrest of Bernard Charlesworth, charged on oath of his wife Anna, with whipping her in a brutal manner. The parties reside in the twelfth ward.

Mayor's Court.—From the number of drunken men found on the streets Saturday night, we suppose the whisky shops must have done a thriving business. At the Mayor's Morning Court, yesterday morning, there were thirty-two cases disposed of, the majority of them being for drunkenness.

Whipped His Son.—Edward McDermott alleges John Ford, a stout, strong man, attacked and cruelly beat his son, James Ford, aged twelve years. According to the allegations the offense was committed without provocation. The parties are engaged in a rolling mill in the Ninth ward. Warrant issued.

Mayor Drum is endeavoring to put a stop to all Sunday business, and yesterday his police closed a number of retail tobacco stores and soda water fountains in the drug stores. The movement was advised by Chief Hague, and that officer is determined to see it executed to the fullest letter of the law.

Slight Fire.—Saturday afternoon about one o'clock the roof of a one story brick building on Try street caught fire from sparks from a chimney. An alarm was sounded from box 37, corner of Second avenue and Try street, which brought the steamers in the district out. The fire however, was extinguished without their aid. Damage slight.

Appealed to Court.—Alexander McGann was arrested in Allegheny yesterday afternoon, for loafing on the steps of the Western Pennsylvania Railroad Depot, Federal street. Mayor Drum imposed upon him a fine of five dollars and costs. He refused to pay the amount, and appealed to Court, giving bail in the sum of one thousand dollars.

A Canary Bird.—Saturday afternoon John Canary entered the saloon of Adam Geis, in the Fifth ward, Allegheny, and in a short time succeeded in stirring up a row between himself and the proprietor. The Canary was arrested and taken before Mayor Drum, who imposed on him a fine of five dollars and costs for disorderly conduct. He paid the fine and was set at liberty.

The Beloved, estimable and accomplished wife of Joseph Ross, Esq., was yesterday consigned to her final resting place in the Allegheny Cemetery. She was a lady of more than ordinary merit, and was widely esteemed for her many virtues and Christian qualities of head and heart, and will be deeply mourned by a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

Body Recovered.—The body of John A. Proper, United States Engineer on steamer Tidioute, drowned by falling overboard near Wheeling, on the 16th ult., was found at Powhattan, twenty miles below Wheeling, on Friday of last week, and the fact communicated by telegraph to his widow, who resides in Allegheny City. The body will be interred from her residence.

Foot Amputated.—On Friday afternoon an employe of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad, while endeavoring to jump from a caboose car in motion, near Wood's Run, fell with one foot on the track, over which two of the car wheels passed. The foot was crushed in such a manner as to render amputation necessary. The injured man resided in Allegheny, but we could not ascertain his name.

Identified.—The body of the man found dead at the foot of Marbury street on Duquesne Way a few days since, has been identified as that of John Menger, of Louisville, Kentucky. He shipped as a deckhand on a steamboat at that place about two weeks since, and on Thursday, having arrived here a day or two previous, was paid off. He leaves a wife and three children, who we learn, are in destitute circumstances.

Boy Drowned.—Thomas Glenn, a little boy, seven years of age, residing with his parents at the corner of Fourteenth and Etna streets, was accidentally drowned Saturday afternoon about half-past one o'clock. It appears that he and several other small boys were playing on a raft in the Allegheny river, near the foot of Fourteenth street, when the unfortunate boy stepped upon a loose log which turned with him, throwing him into the water, under the raft. The body had not been recovered at a late hour last night.

Alleged Illegal Appropriation.—L. C. Hall, a boarder with L. Garfield, on Grant street, alleges his landlord entered his room and illegally appropriated two trunks filled with valuable clothing, the property of a friend. Hall states he owes the landlord nothing, and cannot understand his strange action. The trunks were removed during his absence and without any intimation of the matter having previously been given him. Alderman McMasters arrested Garfield on an information for larceny as bailee. He gave bail for a hearing.

NEW STREETS.

Important Action of the Survey Committee of City Councils.

Agreeably to announcement, the Survey Committee of City Councils met on Saturday morning, at nine o'clock sharp, at the Oakland waiting rooms of the East Liberty and Oakland Passenger Railway, for the purpose of going over the grounds of the new districts to select and lay out new streets and avenues, asked for by petitions addressed to the body they represent, and by which referred to them. There were present Messrs. R. G. Herron, Dr. A. H. Gross, F. Torrence, T. J. Craig, John McMasters, Frank P. Case, Thomas P. Houston and the Chairman, John Chislett, Jr. The Committee were accompanied by the Civil Engineer, W. H. Kennedy, who has charge of the City Survey Corps, and Messrs. Hallman and Murdock, of Select Council, and a number of property holders of the new wards. The whole day was expended in visiting the woods and wilds, plains and hills, streets, alleys, lanes and roads of the new districts, and the occasion, although full of downright labor and hard work, was as pleasant and enjoyable as a May picnic or pleasure excursion. The day was beautiful, being balmy and cool, with a bright sun and clear sky overhead.

FORBES STREET.

The first important question to be decided upon was a proposed changing of the original plan of the great sixty foot rival of Fifth avenue, which according to the map was to strike and unite with it at a point near Dithridge street. The Committee went over the ground, struck bee-lines in the air with their optics, and after mature deliberation and full exchange of thoughts concluded to change the location so as to have Forbes street run independently of Fifth avenue, and nearly parallel with it, from what was formerly known as East Pittsburgh, by a nearly straight line through the estate of the late Thomas Little, Esq., and from thence on eastwardly towards Wilkinsburg, in the rear of the estates of Faber, Howe, Berry, and others. At Little's place there is a ravine of considerable depth which will have to be bridged, but the grades on both sides are favorable to the easy erection of such a structure. After crossing the bridge a slightly inclined plane is reached, but the grade will be hardly as heavy as that on Sixth avenue, between Smithfield and Grant streets. This grade is only about one thousand feet in length, when an open table land is reached, which continues to the end of the road, as broad, smooth and level as the face of a flat-iron. This change, any one who has knowledge of the topography of the place will admit, was a wise and judicious one. It opens a broad and valuable strip of territory which has no outlet save private alleys and lanes. The action of the Committee at least doubled the value of miles of territory thus afforded outlet by a broad and proud avenue. The Committee were unanimous in their decision, and we presume no objection can or will be made to the proposed change by Councils.

A MODEL PUMP.

After deciding on this important business the Committee were invited to the elegant residence of Mr. Lloyd, to inspect a patent pump, a St. Louis manufacture, which had won much credit in our country while on exhibition in Paris at the Great Exposition. The pump is small in height, has a bread base and tapers to a genteel point. The cap for excluding air is highly ornamented in silver, and is held firmly to its place by delicate wire cords. When wanted to be used the wires are drawn aside and the air forcing its way downwards creates a pressure upon the outside of the pump, which is already charged, and the fluid flows freely. The Committee took pleasure in drinking the water, several times, from so elegant a pump, and were so enraptured with the pretty piece of American manufacture that we heard conniseurs in other matters, pass judgment even on the water, using such epicurean adjectives as "its crémant," "highly effervescent," "diuretic and strengthening," "agreeable sweetness," "full flavor," "delightful aroma," and "endearing boquet." These pumps cost rather heavy but all well ordered families should have them in—the wine cellar. A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Lloyd for the generous use of his model pumps, and the Committee, refreshened, proceeded to inspect the ground for

A NEW STREET.

They decided to run a street parallel with Craig street from Forbes to Allaquippa street. It will run quite close to the Bellefield church but take in none of its property. When opened it will be sixty feet in width and will prove one of the finest avenues of that portion of the city. It will cross at nearly right angles with Fifth and Centre avenues.

WIDENING OF SHADY LANE.

Shady Lane was next visited. The committee decided to make it from a forty-foot street, which it now is, a sixty-foot street, running between Fifth Avenue and the Greensburg pike. Several objectionable angles and serpentine turns were taken out of the line, and with the improvements decided upon, the avenue will merge into a delightful road, one which must largely enhance the value of the property through which it passes. The change in the width will entail little or no hardship on private interests.

After they were through with their labors in this direction, the Committee were cordially invited to the picturesque residence of our public spirited fellow-citizen, Frank Sellers, Esq., for dinner—an invitation which was readily accepted, and the clever host can rest assured that his guests felt duly grateful for the hospitable reception at his hands, all the more appreciated since the action of widening the lane into an avenue took more than an acre of very valuable property for public purposes, off the real-estate of Mr. Sellers, who willingly acquiesced to the hardship entailed.

ANOTHER NEW ROAD.

The Committee next visited a private lane at the toll gate or top of the hill, and decided to open it into a fifty foot street, through from the Pike to the Frankstown road. This will not interfere with property to any extent and will secure a much needed new avenue, affording outlet to a large number of real estate owners.

THE PUCKETY ROAD.

The Puckety road was next visited. It was decided to take out several ugly angles and to make it from thirty-three feet to a fifty foot avenue. Its extension was also decided upon through to the Allegheny river, but that will hardly take place for many years.

After accomplishing this much, the Committee adjourned and reaceed their homes about six o'clock. The Surveyor will at once go to work with his well organized corps to lay out the lines decided upon.

Disorderly.—Theodore Paul alleged before Justice Ammon, of Birmingham, on Saturday, that Christian Nevergall, in direct contradiction to his name, had been acting in a very disorderly manner, much to the disgust and annoyance of the neighborhood in which he resides. Christian was arrested, and in default of a ten dollar fine was committed to jail for ten days.

SATURDAY, May 8.—A petition was presented asking for the division of Versailles township into two districts, one to be called North and the other South Versailles. The dividing line as proposed, will start at the Westmoreland county line, near the house of John Ludwick, and running thence by the road, near Jas. Black, Sr., to the Monongahela river above Saltsburg. The Court ordered the petition to be filed, and appointed Messrs. P. Clugston, Thos. McMasters and Thos. Penney, Commissioners, to inquire into the matter and report.

A Novel Electrical Performance.

To-day the last rail connecting the Union Pacific and Central Pacific Railroads will be laid, and thus finish the grandest enterprise of the century—that of binding with an unbroken iron band the Atlantic to the Pacific ocean. A distinguished gentleman connected with the enterprise will drive down the last spike. With every stroke of the hammer driven home, a signal wire, attached to the rail, will convey the sound into all parts of the country over the Western Union Telegraph wires. The arrangements for this city are to let the current started run into the instrument at the Fire Alarm Telegraph office, and from thence to the great bell. Thus, as the click of the hammer striking the spike is heard on the spot where the connection is being made, over two thousand miles from here west, the same moment the heavy toned bell will ring out a te deum from the Court House tower. The very instant the stroke is given in the heart of the Rocky Mountains, the peal of the bell will be heard resounding in Pittsburgh. Our citizens will be prepared for the signals, and not be troubled to account for the unusual sounding of the bell, and unless the firemen want a run of several thousand miles to the place from whence the signals come, they will unheed the alarm. The bell will be struck at about eight minutes past two o'clock this afternoon, if the signal be given promptly at noon by Salt Lake City time, as Pittsburgh time is two hours and eight minutes faster.

To be Reorganized.

The Friendship Hose Company of Allegheny is to be reorganized. Our readers will remember the difficulty which resulted in the disbandment of the Company a few weeks since, by the Committee on Fire Engines and Hose of the City Councils. On Saturday the preliminary steps toward a reorganization were taken by the appointment of Mr. Benjamin Clark, one of the most experienced firemen in the city, as Foreman and driver of the hose carriage. The hose carriage has been returned to its old quarters, and a temporary arrangement made with some of the firemen from the other companies to man it, until a permanent organization can be effected, which will be accomplished as soon as possible. The new company promises to be even more effective and reliable than the old one, which was considered one of the best in the city.

New Gateway.

Superintendent Chislett, of the Allegheny Cemetery, yesterday kindly permitted us to inspect the designs for the new lower gateway, now being erected, a large force of workmen being employed in the labor. The entrance will, when completed, be a model of architectural beauty, and will eclipse anything in the way in America. The stone, an elegant quality, with fine grain and compact, is being brought from Massilon, Ohio. The present gateway will be converted into an elegant stone edifice, for office purposes. The Cemetery was never in such good order as at the present time, and in its neat beauty reflects much credit to the zeal, care, taste and ability of Mr. Chislett, who devotes his constant time and attention towards keeping it in order.

Allegheny City Expenditures.

The following statement exhibits the amounts expended in payment of all city employees of Allegheny, during the past month, as shown by the pay rolls presented to the controller from the several departments named. This does not include any expenses outside of wages. There are other expenditures for city improvements which cannot be definitely ascertained until the next meeting of Councils, but which will more than double the amount here given.

FIRE AT M'KEESPORT.

Disastrous Conflagrations—Six Buildings Destroyed—Loss $40,000.

A disastrous conflagration occurred in McKeesport about half-past twelve o'clock Sunday morning, by which the National Hotel, the Masonic Hall building, three dwelling houses and a stable were totally destroyed. The fire originated in one of the rooms of the hotel, shortly after twelve o'clock, when an alarm was given, but owing to the limited facilities for extinguishing fires and the rapid progress of the flames, which had gained considerable headway before they were discovered, all efforts to suppress them or prevent the fire from extending to adjoining buildings were unavaling. The stable attached to the hotel and situated a short distance in rear of it next took fire, and being frame, was soon consumed. The flames then spread to the Masonic Hall building, a large three story structure adjoining the hotel on one side, and to a frame building on the opposite side, and from the latter to two brick dwellings, all of which were consumed. So far as we have been enabled to ascertain, but little of the furniture in any of the buildings was saved, and the loss will not fall short of $40,000, upon which there is only a partial insurance.

While the fire was in progress the burgess of the borough telegraphed to the Chief of the Fire Department of this city, Jno. H. Hare, to send a steamer to their assistance. Mr. Hare, with his usual promptness, repaired to the depot of the Connellsville Railroad, and made arrangements for transporting a steamer and the company, and had the Duquesne engine ready to ship, when a second dispatch was received, informing him that it would not be necessary to send the engine, as the fire had expended its fury and was now under the control of the citizens.

This is the second hotel burned in that place within a few months, and within the past year over a half a million dollars worth of property has been destroyed by fire, a great deal of which might have been saved by a proper fire department. We presume the borough authorities are by this time convinced of the necessity of a steam engine, and other necessary fire apparatus, to protect the property of the citizens.

Fire in Allegheny.

Sunday about noon fire was discovered issuing from the roof of a two story frame house, No. 256 Western avenue, Second ward, Allegheny. Owing to the difficulty in procuring a key it was some time before an alarm was sounded, which was finally struck from Box 13, located at the corner of the avenue and Bidwell street, about two squares distant from the fire. The fire department responded promptly, but when they arrived on the ground the flames had partially destroyed the building, the roof and the greater portion of the upper story being burned. By great exertion, the family in the house succeeded in saving about one-half of their household effects, the rest falling a prey to the devouring element. The house is located next to T. H. Nevin & Co.'s lead works, and for a time fears were entertained for the safety of that building. The fire communicated to one of the windows on the second floor, but the firemen promptly directed a powerful stream of water in that direction and extinguished the flames. This portion of the building was thus deluged by water, but the stock was for the most part contained in ten cans ready for shipment, and the loss thereby will not be great. There was another frame house, adjoining the burning one, in great danger, but it was saved from ignition by the efficient labors of the firemen.

The fire was caused by a defective flue, and originated between the rafters and roof. The destroyed house was owned by Messrs. Nevin & Co., and occupied by Mr. Robert Smith, driver for the firm. The loss of Messrs. Nevin & Co., will reach about eight hundred dollars, upon which there is a full insurance. Mr. Smith could not estimate his loss, but he had no insurance.

An Enterprise Thwarted.

A Mr. Odonbaugh, an enterprising young man from Middletown, Washington county, went to the borough of Washington on Saturday and hired a pair of horses and a buggy from John Myers, proprietor of a livery stable, for the purpose, as he alleged, of driving to Canonsburg, a distance of seven miles and return. He started with the team but did not return at the time appointed, and Mr. Myers on making inquiry ascertained that he had passed through Canonsburg, and had several times along the road offered the team for sale. Thinking it probable that if the fellow wanted to sell the team he would come to this city, Mr. Myers telegraphed to Chief of Police Hague, describing the team and man, and requested that he be arrested and detained until he arrived in the city. Mr. Myers then started for the city on horseback, arriving here late Saturday night, and yesterday morning officers Long and McCready captured Odenbaugh driving the hired team down Liberty street. He was placed in irons and taken back to Washington, where he was probably committed to jail.

Runaway at a Funeral.

At the funeral of Mrs. Joseph Ross, Sunday afternoon, a runaway occurred, causing considerable excitement, but fortunately with no very serious results. The funeral had reached the Allegheny Cemetery, the grave ceremonies had been performed, and those in attendance were about re-entering carriages, when the horses attached to one hired of Spencer & Willison, in charge of a driver named Reynolds, took fright and started off at full speed. They had not gone far before they encountered a tree, and taking different sides were checked up by the carriage coming in contact with it. The driver was thrown from his seat, and considerably bruised, and the carriage literally demolished. We may state the fact that the carriage referred to was not one of those under the control of the undertaker having charge of the funeral arrangements. The runaway was occasioned by a carriage of Jackson & Devore's running against that of Spencer & Willison.

Renegade of the Potomac.

A new national drama, in five acts, under the above caption, will be presented for the first time at the Academy of Music this evening, under the auspices of Posts 35 and 88 of the Grand Army of the Republic. The piece is written in good style and is full of interest, being based mainly upon facts and incidents connected with the late rebellion. The piece has been in rehearsal for several weeks, and the persons sustaining the several roles are said to be well up in their parts, and a pleasant entertainment may be anticipated. The object of the entertainment is to provide means to assist the widows of deceased soldiers and educate their children. This, of itself, should induce many persons to attend.

Distressing Affair—Five Children Poisoned—Fatal Result.

On Saturday morning a very distressing affair occurred in Allegheny, resulting in the death of a little son of Mr. Geo. N. Miller, residing on Water street, near Sandusky, Fourth ward. It seems the little fellow, in company with a younger brother and sister and two other children, was playing in the yard attached to his parents' residence when one of them picked up what he supposed to be a piece of licorice and which he divided among his playmates. A short time after eating the stuff the children came into the house, where Mrs. Miller, observing something peculiar in their actions, questioned them and discovered the finding of the supposed licorice. From their appearance the lady concluded something was wrong, which was confirmed in a few minutes by one of the children, little Georgie suddenly falling to the floor in convulsions. As quickly as possible physicians were sent for, and in response Drs. Mahon and Rankin came to the house. They at once, from the symptoms, pronounced it a case of poisoning and administered every available remedy, but without affording any relief to the principal sufferer. He lay from the time of calling in the physicians—about noon Saturday—until seven o'clock yesterday morning, all the time unconscious and working in spasms until death came to his relief. The other children revived somewhat under medical treatment, and yesterday were considered out of danger.

The little victim was but four years of age, and the oldest of the others was less than six.

One of them handed to the physician a small piece of the stuff which had been eaten, and which upon examination, proved to be belladona, one of the most virulent poisons. Subsequently another small piece of the stuff was picked up in the yard at the place where the children had been playing.

The yard is common to five or six tenements, and it is supposed that some persons, either through carelessness or ignorance threw out the poison, where it was found.

Coroner Clawson was notified of the sad occurrence and impannelled a jury yesterday morning but adjourned the inquest until to-day.

A Complaint Heeded.

In Saturday's GAZETTE a correspondent severely censured the President and officials of the Oakland & East Liberty Passenger Railway Company for a neglect to keep his word in supplying a car to bring in the visitors who had visited an exhibition at East Liberty on the previous evening. We are glad to receive the following statement from an official and perfectly reliable source:

The President of the Company kept his promise, and through the Superintendant ordered a car to leave East Liberty after the performance, with positive instructions to the conductor to carry all passengers through to the city to Washington street and to collect only the usual fare. The conductor not having complied with his peremptory orders, was promptly discharged, and thus the complaint of the correspondent was heeded and respected.

This statement entirely relieves the officers from responsibility, as they cannot be held responsible for the disobedience or dishonesty of their agents. The officials of the road use every exertion in their power to accommodate the public, and their words of promise are in every instance rigidly kept and respected, and we are glad that in the present case the President is fully vindicated, as he is a gentleman of truth and honor.

The Drama on Troy Hill.

Yesterday afternoon the frequenters of Troy Hill were treated to a new Sunday amusement in the shape of a dramatic and musical entertainment. Some enterprising lover of the Thespian art, without the fear of law, either moral or human, before his eyes, secured the large hall in one of the well known gardens of that locality and attracted an audience of about two hundred persons, old and young, male and female, by what purported to be a sacred concert. Our informant being not well versed in the German language, could not speak as regards the sacredness of the affair other than from observation, which led him to entirely different conclusions. Tickets for the entertainment were sold at the entrance to the garden, while inside the nut brown beverage was freely quaffed. The audience was one of the most enthusiastic and never failed to manifest its approval of the performance by hearty demonstrations. It is quite probable that as this is the first it will also be the last performance of the kind.

Complimentary.

We find the following in the Louisville Courier complimentary to our friend, Oliver B. Doud, Esq., who was such a popular leading man during last season at the Opera House:

"A perfect ovation was accorded this fine young actor on his appearance at the Opera House last evening. His Don Cæsar de Bazan was a sprightly and truthful portraiture. Both the actor and the man received the very highest marks of appreciation. Mr. Doud had the unusual honor of being twice called before the curtain. At the close of the piece he was applauded into a good-bye, address, in which he said many good things about our city and people, and expressed the sincerest gratitude for their manifestations of favor toward him. On withdrawing he said that within an hour he would start for New York to enter upon an engagement of two months. His success in the great metropolis will, we have no doubt, be as signal as it has been here and elsewhere."

For Commissioner.

The name of George Hamilton, Esq., the present able, zealous, efficient and courteous County Commissioner, will be presented for renomination at the forthcoming Republican Convention. He has, for a term of years, faithfully discharged his duties, and his record is one of which any citizen might be proud. If renominated and elected the people can rest assured that their interests will be carefully guarded, and that the duties of the office will be discharged in the same highly creditable manner as in the past. Commissioner Hamilton is a gentleman too well known and esteemed by nearly all our readers to need any further commendation at our hands.

Childrens' Quarrel.

Mrs. Rose McGarew and Mrs. Mary Shannon, neighbors residing at Eliza Furnace, near Soho, had a quarrel a few days since which naturally engendered feelings of bitter hostility between them. This hostility finally extended to the youthful progeny of the respective combatants, and as a result a pitched battle ensued, the Shannons, it seems, coming off conquerors. The next scene in the play occurred at Alderman Lynch's office on Saturday, when Mrs. McGarew presented herself, and made information against Mrs. Shannon for assault and battery and surety of the peace. Warrant issued.

Unwarranted Attack.

A single glass, too much, of liquor had the effect of depriving Daniel Nultis and Joseph Berger, residents of the Fourth ward, Allegheny, of their freedom, and causing them to be lodged in the county jail. It happened thus: After imbibing at a saloon on Friday evening, at a late hour, they started for a promenade down Ohio street in that condition which afflicts people spoiling for a fight. Happening to encounter in their travels three young men, who endeavored to avoid them, at once they commenced to exercise their pugilistic propensities. Fortunately, the police happened along just at this juncture, and the fighting twain were escorted to the lock-up. Saturday morning Mayor Drum fined them each twenty-five dollars, in default of which they were committed to jail.
