He offered the pistol to two of the audience; who successively refused the experiment. It was finally accepted by a gentleman, who loaded and handed the pistol to one of the Cirque servants. The man, as desired, fired en Dr. Epstein. He immediately exclaimed "I am killed," and fell, blood pouring from his mouth; a gaping wound in his breast being visible to the audience as he lay on the ground. The ramrod, by inconceivable carelessness, had not been withdrawn, and had consequently been shot right through the unfortunate exhibitor's breast. The rod was broken by the shock, and so violent was the ricochet that a fragment bounded back and struck the person who had involuntarily caused the aceident. The andness of the scene was increased by the frightful grief of two women, who, on seeing Dr. Epstein fall, rose from their seats and rushed on to the stage. They were the wife and daughter of the victim, of whose life there is little hope.

THE GREAT PEACE JUBILEE AT BOS. Ton can no longer be considered as a doubtful experiment. Financially, its success has been placed beyond peradven-ture, while musically, the indications are more favorable than the most sanguine expectations of its originators. The great chorns, the largest the world has ever seen, is now full, and the orchestral ranks are rapidly filling up. The super-intendent of chorus has found it necessary to issue a circular stating that no more choral organizations can be accepted, and that societies already accepted must make no more additions to their numbers.
