OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, May 20, 1869.

The oil market was considerably stronger this morning, under the influende of the advices from the east, and at noon there was some little excitement manifested; in the atternoon, however, there was a slight reaction and the adthere was a slight reaction and the ad-vance established in the early part of the day was almost, if not entirely, lost. Notwithstanding all appears to be com-paratively calm on the surface, there is a violent undercurrent, which at times shows itself on the top, and there is a sensitiveness manifested to all close observers. The market is exceedingly figdety and unsettled, with a pretty strong pressure to force it both up and down, and many operators are complete-4%c.
