NEARLY thirty-five thousand applications for office have been registered in six of the Executive departments since the present administration came in. About one half of thi number were to the Post Master General.

Gov. Hoffman, in refusing to sign the Registration act passed by the New York Legislature, has furnished fresh evidence of the fact that there, as well as everywhere, fraud at the ballot box is the best hope of the Democracy.

Ir is understood that the negotiations between the Pennsylvania and Fort Wayne Companies are not yet fully concluded, as to details, but that the proposed lease is substantially agreed to, and will be announced in a day or two.

FOUR HUNDRED families, all silk-weavera by occupation, are about to emigrate from England to this country, their occupations being gone since the Cobden treaty has been in force between England and France. Thousands of others, too poor to emigrate, are left behind, in con-stant dread of the poor house. This is a forcible chapter in favor of home pro-

Capt. Hugh McKelvy, the outgoing Postmaster, bears with him into retiracy, the best wishes of all citizens. He made an excellent and efficient public officer, discharging his duties with honesty, tact and ability.

By PROCLAMATION of President GRANT the eight hour law passed by Congress, employ of the Government, has been properly interpreted to mean that the alotted measure of time is a full day's work, and consequently no reduction in pay can follow. If the law contemplates a reduction in wages in ratio to the reduction in time, no good to workingmen could possibly result from its passage. A similar law is in force in this State, but employers have the right to hire as they choose, either by the hour or day. If by the latter, they must make their calculations on eight hours daily services obtained, no more. THE arrangements for Decoration Day are favorably progressing, and we can predict that the old spirit of loyalty and patriotism, which made conspicuous our city and county in the dark hours of rebellion, will render the occasion one worthy the sacred memory of our countless fallen heroes. We cordially invite our country friends to visit the city and participate in the exercises, assuring them that either as individuals or as delegations they will meet with hearty welcome. A movement is on foot to have the day observed as a general holiday, and we trust our merchants and nanufacturers will not hesitate to suspend worldly callings, and afford all an opportunity to pay tribute to the memory of the sleeping patriots. WE have in our eye, at this writing, trio of such newspapers. One of them, in the heart of the Commonwealth, is printed by a precious set of worthies, of whom one is said to have an unpleasantwhom one is said to nave an unpleasant-ness about his accounts as a public of-ficer, and the other has, within a year, been foiled in a deliberate attempt to swindle $4,000 from the State Treasury.

ELSEWHERE it is announced that the New York Tribune will commence, in weekly chapters, on the 1st proximo, the publication of a series of articles from the pen of Mr. GREELEY on Political Economy, elucidating and defending the policy of Protection to Home Industry. In view of the vigorous efforts now being put forward by the Free Traders to poison and corrupt public opinion and lead it into their way of thinking, these essays, fresh from the pen of one eminently qualified to meet and refute their pernicious doctrines, should be carefully read and studied by every citizen in the country. and especially by those who make up the laboring classes, and whose interests are directly involved in the issue. While the promised articles are running through the columns of the Tribune its circulation should be increased ten fold in Western Pennsylvania, where the great majority of voters are arrayed against Free Trade believing that their personal welfare is largely dependent on a proper protection of their labors.

Undoubtedly, he meets, in this way, the real desires of those proprietors also, since it is well known that they have their secret revenges to gratify, against an organization which they can no longer use for their personal advantage.

It is not because the Commercial is now edited by a consistent and bitter enemy of having reference to workmen in the the Republican party, who makes no private concealment of his political opinions. that its recent course is most objected to In point of fact, its present editor is a vast improvement, in the way of intellectual capacity, upon any of his predecessors in the conduct of that journal. Its proprietors have a right to employ whomever they think proper; but they have no right to practice a political fraud, by imposing the opinions of a Democrat, under an assumed Republican cover, upon a Republican community.

It is only necessary that Republicans should know precisely who it is, that is just now assuming through the Commercial's columns to shape the sentiments and guide the policy of the party:-how hollow, insincere and at heart really hostile, the conduct of that journal in fact is toward the Republicans of the county and State-to deprive the Commercial at once of its last remaining claims upon the confidence of our political friends. We have faithfully done our duty in making this exposure, which stands, as it will stand, wholly uncontradicted. And so that journal can do no more mischief.

THE NEW TREASURY POLICY. The gold-gamblers begin to feel, and with severity, that the Treasury is able and willing to defend the credit of the Government against the speculators who would destroy that credit, if left unchecked in the accomplishment of their designs. Already the gold quotation has gone down four per cent, from the highest point which, under an unnatural excitement, the market reached early last week. The decline is likely to continue, and the speculators are cracking, like bursting balloons, in all directions. Bonds are firm in price, with large purchases for foreign account. The Secretary will double his sales of gold, and unless pre cluded by the express terms of existing law, will also double his purchases of from circulation unless he can return it the market in purchases of bonds. His receipts from customs, in gold, are very large, having increased his balance four millions between the 10th and 20th of May. The internal revenue receipts are also very heavy, promising to be fully $17,000,000 for this month. The Treasury is stronger than it ever wes, and quite able to inaugurate the financial policy to which the Secretary has now committed himself, and which will be fruitful of so much solid advantage to the true fluancial interests of both the Government and the people. It is gratifying to know that Mr. Bourwell will hold steadily to this policy, regardless of the interested protests of certain journals which are apparently manipulated by the gold-gamblers, and which, not without good cause, see the ruin of their pernicious traffic, in these wise steps for the maintenance of the public credit, and for the restoration of a healthier state of things in the finances and business of the

One of the most striking changes introduced into the prison laws in various parts of this country, is that of rewarding convicts for good behavior by a systematic reduction of their sentences. This is all that the prisoner has to hope for. Would it not be better to take advantage of the experience of other States, and adopt a regular system of commutation and reward?

SOUTHERN POLITICS.

Tennessee holds a judicial election this week. The schism in the Republican Conservatives, Democrats or ex-rebels different names for the same common opposition—present no nominations of their own, but will support whichever of the Republican nominees whose success would be least beneficial to the Republican cause. The same State will elect a Govenor and other State officers in August, the canvass for which offers precisely the same features. The Republican State Convention, held last week at Nashville, to nominate a ticket, split into two factions and adjourned without agreeing upon their candidates. Col. STOKES and Acting Governor SENTOR, representing the discordant elements, will run against each other, with the chances in favor of SENTOR, both from his present official position and from the general inclination of the Conservative element in his favor. An exebel, in Tennessee, hates STOKES as a matter of course. The election is likely to result in a considerable modification of the proscriptive policy, toward that class, which at present controls the State affairs. The elections in Mississippi and Texas, inaugurating their reconstruction under new Constitutions, are each to be held in September. The President has not yet ssued his proclamation therefor, but it is inderstood that such is the decision which has been come to. It is even possible that the elections may be fixed for August, if the registrations now in progress shall be seasonably completed. It conceded, in all quarters, that these elections will result in the adoption of the Constitutions, with or without certain clauses which may be submitted to separate votes. Virginia elects on the 6th of July, with the prospect at present favoring the success of the Wells, or Radical ticket, and no argument either for or against rebel of the Constitution without its test oath enfranchisement, merely stating and disfranchisement clauses. The effort to secure a separate submission of its provisions relative to county organizations was engineered in the rebel interest, for the purpose of excluding the black population from the benefits of the school-laws. This effort falled to secure the approval of the President-and so much to the rebel disgust, that it promises to repel a large number of their vote from the support of the WALKER, or Conservative, ticket.

The country is to be congratulated upon the prospect, at present so flattering, that the reconstruction of these three States will be completed before the close of the summer, and that Congress will, in December, be prepared to approve the claims of their respective delegations to seats in Go your own way, see if the rebels that body. > RE-NOMINATION OF GOV. GEARY. EDITORS GAZETTE: I thank the Second Ward Republican Club for its endorsement of Governor Geary and its influence in behalf of his re-nomination. I have several reasons therefor, not so generally known as they should be.

Of course all loyal men are grateful for his efficient services during the late war, but a greater meed of gratitude will be awarded him for his noble deeds as Governor of Kansas, by all lovers of Liberty, Justice and Law, than for all the heroism and executive ability which have so signally illustrated his course since that critical period in our national history. > PITTSBURGH, May 22, 1869. EDITORS GAZETTE: A correspondent in your paper of the 21st very kindly refers to a street rumor "that Joseph Dilworth would, if nominated by the Republican Convention, accept the candidacy for County Commissioner and devote the salary of the office, if elected, to the poor fund of the county. You remark thereon that you know nothing of the truth of the rumor, but know that it is in circulation and that Mr. Dilworth can set the matter at rest by stating what he proposes to do.'

I have only to say I do not ask for or seek the office, but believing as I do that there should be reform, I am willing to serve, should the Convention see proper to nominate me, and I will donate the salary of the effice, if elected, to the poor fund of the county.

Universal Amnesty—Its Political Ex-

The Wheeling Intelligencer says: Short y before the last session of the Fortieth Congress, it will be remembered, the New York Tribune came out in advocacy of an amendment proposing Mr. Greeley's plan of "Universal Suffrage and Universal Amnesty." Being sincerely desirous of seeing Congress propose an amend-ment enfranchising the blacks, and believing if the measure also included the rebels it would not pass Congress, or if it did would fail of ratification, we wrote a private note to Mr. Greeley simply for nformation, stating that an amendment enfranchising the negroes only would doubtless be ratified by our Legislature, while if it also enfranchised the rebels it would be sure of rejection. We offered grounds on which we were sure the Reblicans in the Legislature would vote against such a measure. Mr. G. however, seems to have understood us to state these positions as our own. He replied

Every year one thousand of your rebels die, and one thousand (or more) of their sons become of age. You can't disfran-chise THEM. You have now five thou-sand majority. Six years at the farthest will convert this into a rebel majority of one thousand, then the rebels will be enfranchised in spite of you, and the Blacks will be left under foot-and you under-estimate these at two thousand

I speak from a wide experience when I tell you that your house is built on the sand. It cannot stand. Every year will see the passions of the war cool, and the demand for amnesty strengthened. Now you can amnesty the rebels. Soon Shall they amnesty the question will be. Look at Kentucky and Maryland and read your certain fate in theirs. HORACE GREELEY. Yours.
