Improvements.-Wylie street and Web ster avenue are being opened out, an omence to assume, in the new dis tricts, a very improving appearance When graded and paved these will form magnificent thoroughfares.

We are pleased to note that our young friend, W. H. Graham, son of Senato Granam, has been appointed to a clerk-ship in the Allegheny Post Office. Mr. Graham is a very worthy young gentle-man, and in this, as in former positions, is certain to win the confidence and re-spect of all with whom he comes in contact.

Another Raid.—The police made a raid on "Fort Smith," a den on Roberts street, in the Eleventh ward, where they arrested six men and four women, two of whom were black. The entire party were locked up, and yesterday they were fined from five to twenty dollars. This is the third time this establishment has Ladies' Meeting.—Another meeting of ladies will be held in City Hall at three o'clock this afternoon, to make arrang-ments for Decoration Day. A cordial in-vitation is extended to all ladies in sympathy with the movement to be present. We hope there will be even a larger at-tendance than at the last meeting, that the good work may have many willing laborers to urge it forward.

Lay Delegation.—The meeting to be held this evening, in Smithfield M. E. Church, to consider the question of Lay Delegation, promises to be one of unusual interest, and will undoubtedly be argely attended. Bishops Simpson and Kingsley will deliver addresses—an evidence that the question will receive that careful and able attention which its importance demands.

Belligerant.—Charles Snyder and Jas. SYNODICAL PROCEEDINGS.

Celeral Synod of the Reformed Preslayterian Church at Cedarville, Ohio, AFTERNOON SESSION. Synod met at 3 o'clock and was opened with prayer by the Moderator. Minutes read and approved. It was moved by Dr. Wilson, and seconded by Peter Gibson, Esq., that the paper from the Philadelphia Presbytery bytery until she "lays down her arms." Carried. The unfinished business was suspended to take up papers in the hands of Rev.

apers to Synod.

Objections were raised to receiving or hearing the papers unless the parties presenting them recognized the General Synod of the Reformed Presbyterian Church.
Finally, the papers were read. They recited the act of suspension passed by some members of the Pittsburgh Pres bytery in June last. The last paper was a memorial, and set forth that a Presbytery having the right to send delegates or not, as she pleases, to General Synod, they had concluded not to send delegates this year, and that they had been constrained to suspend their relations on account of the suspension of George H. Stuart. It contained a prayer for the removal of the suspension pronounced on Mr. Stuart.

Dr. Wilson moved that the papers be laid on the table, until the parties pre-senting them "lay down their arms," submit to this Synod in the Lord, and give signs of repentance for their hasty

Dr. McLeod was opposed to the motion on account of its severity.

Rev. A. G. Wylie was in favor of it, because he wished to treat the suspen-sionists in the Pittsburgh Presbytery in the same way the Philadelphia Presbyery had been treated. Rev. Mr. Wylie raised a point of order Rev. Mr. Wylie raised a point of order that inasmuch as the Moderator had decided that the motion was carried, distinct the motion was carried, distinct the motion was carried, distinct the committee on Devotional Exercided that the motion was carried, discussion and amendment were out of or

The Moderator decided that the question had been re opened by the call of Dr. McMaster for a decision.
Dr. McLeod moved that all after the words "laid on the table" be stricken out. A division of the question was called

The following motion was then offered by Dr. Wilson:

Resolved, That the papers just read by Rev. John McMillan be laid on the table, at that Synod does not thereby shut the door against the petitioners being admitted when they make application for it.

The Committee on Union stated they would be ready to report to-morrow norning.
The Committee to answer the Protests, reported they had discharged their duty. Report adopted and Committee discharged. The paper presented in the morning, endorsing the action of the Synodical Commission, was then taken up and dopted. A communication was read from the and placed on file.

A communication was read from Rev. Geo. N. Bioghamton, the delegate of the General Assembly of the Presbyte-rian Church, (N. S.) conveying the cor-dial salutations of that body to the General Synod. It was moved that the paper be rereived and published with the minutes. The Committee on the Signs of the Times presented their report. It represented the great increase of wickedness, that infidelity is now putting forth mighty efforts, and dead formalism is taking the place of a living Christianity and vital godliness. It recommended the observance of the usual days of Fasting and Tnanksgiving. Adopted.

The reports of the Eastern, Second Philadelphia and Northern Presbyteries Philadelphia and Northern Presbyteries were referred to the Committee on Presbyterial Reports. Synod then adjourned to meet next morning at 9 o clock, Rev. Dr. Douglas concluding by prayer.

THIRD DAY-MORNING SESSION. Synod met at 9 o'clock and engaged in devotional exercises for half an hour, Rev. S. W. Crawford, D.D., in the chair. The Moderator then opened the Synod by prayer. Minutes read and approved.
The report of the Fittsburgh Presbyte. ry was then read and set forth the seces-sion of certain members of Presbytery. It was accepted and referred to the Committee on Presbyterial Reports. The accompanying papers from the 1st Church, Allegheny City, were also read and referred to a special committee.

Rev. A. Thomson then presented the following paper, relating to the case

The Moderator responded in a few appropriate remarks, and cordially reciprocated, in the name of Synod, the frarocated, in the name of Synod, the fra-ternal greetings the respected delegate had conveyed to Synod.

Proceeded to the consideration had conveyed to Synod.

Proceeded to the consideration

Proceeded to the consideration of the report of the Committee on Union. Dr. McMaster read from the minutes of 1843, a report signed John Black and William Wilson, showing that it was agreed upon in the Convention, by Reformed Churches, that the name of the united church should be, "The United Presbyterian Church in North America."

Mr. R. C. Millar wished to hard the minutes of the united that the control of the united that the united Dr. McMaster read from the minutes of the effect of the rejection or adoption of the report would be.

The Moderator replied that the Court knew the effect as well as he did. Mr. Bratton offered an amendment, that Synod approve of what the Committee has done, and that it be continued or a new one appointed.

Dr. McLeod thought Synod should carefully consider whether the Commit-tee had done their duty, and could give its approval of what had been done. Mr. James Stewart, of New York, could not vote for the report, as the name "Reformed" was not to be in the official lesignation of the United church Mr. R. C. Miller thought Synod, after thirty years' negotiations, should be pre-pared to vote Union aye or no. His for-mer pastor, Dr. John Black, approved of the whole matter in relation to Union.

Dr. McLeod was of the opinion that Dr. Black did not approve of the whole mat-ter in relation to Union. Mr. Isaac Kirkpatrick believed Synod was prepared to do something now, and should do it. The matter of Union was most important. Too much stress perhaps is put on the name. The name is nothing without principle.

Dr. Douglas defended the Committee.

They had done all they could. Those who did not attend should not now com Dr. A. S. McMurray. Robert Guy and others, who adhere to Synod, are the First Reformed Presbyterian Congregation of Philadelphia, and, as such entitled to all the rights and in the synonym and the synonym a orously. There was not much in a name.
But he would retain the name "Reformed" if it could be done. If not prepared for Union now, after a courtship of thirty years, they never would be prepared. Union is necessary for the welfare and

Rev. A. G. Wylle offered the following substitute:

Resolved, That while General Synod approves of the action of the Committee so far as it has proceeded, as the best which could be secured in the Convention, and believing that the Committee have used their best efforts in the matter committed to their care, and assured that the basis, so far as matured of projected, is evidently the ultimatum that we may expect from that respectable body, (the U. P. Church) they hereby disapprove of such action as a basis of Union, as an entire abandonment of our whole position as a church, discharge the Committee, and hoping in the Head of the Church, and encouraged by the goodness of our cause proceed with unity and vigor in our own appropriate work.

vigor in our cause proceed with unity and vigor in our own appropriate work.

The substitute was not entertained.

Rev. J. K. Martin moved as a substitute that the report be taken up article by article. Not entertained. A special Committee was appointed to make arrangements for the publication of the minutes. The Committee are Revs. W. S. Bratton, Dr. A. S. McMurray and Isagas A. S. McMurray and Isagas Michael 12.

MESSRS. EDITORS: The week just elapsed has been replete with musical interest. Crowded audiences welcomed once more the great Norwegian violinist, and did themselves as much credit as they did justice to Ole Bull, in receiving his wonderful performances with an appreciative and flattering enthusiasm.

If, however, there is a certain fullness of delight in seeing the sun in the unblemished glory of its noon, it cannot be denied that the timid tints of dawn, beside their intrinsic beauty, offer to the ohilosophical mind the additional charm of a promise, the mystic grace insepara-ble from all beginnings. All Pittsburgh could read last Wednesday the omega of art at the Academy of Music. To a few art at the Academy of Music. To a few privileged ones, and I am glad to have been of the number, was it given last Tuesday evening to spell the alpha of art at the soiree given by Mr. Henry Kleber in his own house.

As a spur to study for his young family; and, I dare say, as a recreation for himself, Mr. Kleber conceived the idea of taking the other side of the opera idea of taking the other side of the opera idea of taking the other side of the opera glass in order to reproduce in miniature Offenbach's operetta of "Lischen and Fritzchen," which was performed here a few months ago by Miss Galton's troupe. Little stage, little decorations, little curtains, little foot lights, little pro-gramme, little singers. Great perform-

Miss Ida Kleber, ten years old. Ten years old Miss Emma Manns. Both pretty, both beaming with intelligence. Ida Lischen, much smaller than her lit-tle lover, Emma Fritzchen, which should be, of course, in all perfect matches. You know now the actors. The libretto and music of the opera belong to the first manner of Offenbach, before he was induced by some deplorable accident of popularity to prostitute his talent to vulgar uses. The melodies are fresh, sprightly, but somewhat difficult on account of the blunt modulations which succeed one another in quick tempo.

If I were simply to say that our two little singers did not make the slightest mistake in the dialogue and music, and rendered their parts without any hesitation, the praise assuredly would be suf-ficient for children; but I would not feel justified in my own eyes for chronicling this kind of juvenile success in your columns. The place of babes—be they ever so cute—is the nursery. But theirs was a complete, absolute success, and their performance, particularly Lischen's. such an one as to disconcert all the notions of dramatic experience and musical training entertained by old teachers and artists.

Where did little Ida take that vivacious grace, so free from mannerism and affectation, and that familiarity with the taxing requirements of the "boards"? How can she give such a knowing stress to words foreign to her mind and heart? What has she ever learned of the fitness of things, of the workings of passions? What power of discrimination makes her catch the scenic effect at the right place?
Whence can possibly come the emotional faculty which subdues her voice with a touching tremulousness when she sings the parting "farewell"? Perhaps she was taught by her talented parents? No, the best lessons in the world cannot accomplish such varvels. And, in fact, teaching was apparent only in one or two of her gestures, one of which, point-ing to heaven, shows itself to have been but an interference. Instinct probably was her educator. Pshaw!
Instinct belongs to monkeys and parrois, and is too eften extended to men by puzzied ignorance, when anxious to account elation of genius, that Divine gift second only to the creative flat of God Himsel That little girl is a striking instance of the bewildering immensity contained in some children—multum in parvo. She

They will find that neighborhood, not long ago a rural district, closely built up, and improvements going on in all directions. Perhaps the most noticeable improvement is the elegant, stylish and first-class new drug establishment of Mr. Fred. J. Hauck, No. 233 Centre avenue. It is a model of neatness and thoroughly complete in all its departments. The walls and ceilings are exquisitely painted and frescoed, the shelving and counters of tasteful patterns and designs, and the other furniture is in equal good taste.
