PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE. FRIDAY, May 28, 1869. The markets in a general way are duli and devoid of any new or important characteristics. The demand for almost everything continues very limited, beng confined entirely to supplying immediate wants, and the volume of business in the aggregate is light. The season is now very close at hand when dull times usually set in, and we have already had a foretaste of what is coming; still, with every prospect of an abundant harvest, there is no cause for being dis-significant while compared, with, yesterday, prices are without important change. It is reported, and we have good reason to believe that it is true, that the sales yesterday were much lar ger than those we had reported; At is sold some fifty thousand barrels, about one half of which was bought by Pitts burgh. What the object was in suppressing the sales, we cannot say; possibly it was apprehended that it might have a bad influence on the market, and that the interests of the parties concerned would be better subserved by keeping it safe to infer that they sold "short." CRUDE. There were but two sales reported, 3,000 bbls seller until 20th June, (40 to 46) at 13; and 1,000 spot, (40 to 45) at 13, As a general thing, there were but very few buyers at 13, and quotations may be fairly given at 1234 offered and 13 asked.
