Gen. Purviance moved to amend by adding the words, "and of this Diocese," Mr. Brunot said he opposed the resolution. He had all confidence in the Bishop, and felt that he, in reference to the matter, would do right. But he had no confidence in a congregation which no confidence in a congregation which had departed so far from the customs, usages and doctrines of the Episcopal Church as the parish in question. They might for a time conform to the rules re-tion could not do away with the responsi-bility in this matter. It was their duty to act upon it and settle it themselves. They could not a settle it themselves. They could not shirk their duty by placing the whole question in the hands of the Bishop, and thus compelling him to bear a burden which should be borne by the Convention itself. He had attended the services in All Saints Church, and could not have told that it was a Protestant Episcopal or any kind of Protestant Church had he not been so informed. He strongly favored the resolution.

Rev. B. F. Brown did not wish to vote merely on a sweeping assertion, that any parish was not eligible to union with the Diocese, because of non-conformity with its doctrines or usages. He wished the

He then reviewed at considerable length the service and practices followed in All Saints Church, as had been witnessed by himself, and said he had not observed any departure from the cardinal rules and ordinances of the Protestant Episcopal Church-The only departures, so far as he had observed, were merely slight variations which were merely matters of taste, and not liable to condemnation. If, however, in teaching the dostrines there were heresies, the guilt did not rest upon the peo-ple but the Rector, and he was so surroun-ded by the Presbyters, whose duty it was promptly to report such misdemean-ors, and demand a trial before a proper ribunal. The gentleman continued at considera-le length to examine the question in all its bearings, and finally, at one o'clock. with the provision that he was entitled to Several motions were here made in ref-the floor at the reassembling of the Con-

> AFTERNOON SESSION. Convention reassembled at three o'clock, Bishop Kerfoot presiding.

DISCUSSION RESUMED. 🤏 Rev. Mr. Karcher, who had the floor at the adjournment of the morning ses-tion, resumed his remarks in relation to the difficulty of All Saints Church. He said during the intermission he had had further time to consider the question and the more he reflected the more fully convinced he became that the resolution offered, referring to All Saints Church, would not meet the issue, and that the shortest way was to receive the lay deputies from the Church, and then if any connected, either clerical or lay, had offended, let them be promptly brought to trial before a proper tribunal. Let us look at this question in the light of pure and simple justice. He contended that in settling the question, it was but proper to refer to the usages and practices in the apostolic churches, and compare those earlier churchs customs with those of the present day. He then read selec-from Kuitz's, Mosheims, Hagenbaugh, and other church histories in support of the idea that the early church was far in advance of the present organization in inculcating and conducting their government by the practices now so strongly condenined, and if the sentence of heresy were written upon the parishes now persisting in these practices, then the same sentence must be written on the parish not being admitted.

The yeas and nays were: Clerical, yeas 7, nays 24; Lay, yeas 2, nays 24.

The question was accordingly decided in the negative. So the matter ended, the Parish not being admitted. the church of the early fathers. In recapitulation the speaker said he had been charged with being a ritualist, a charge which he emphatically denied.

Mr. Cooper now obtained the floor, but ielded it to Rev. J. S. Miller, Rector of All Saints Parish, who said he wished to make a few statements in order to close the discussion, which was already pro-tracted at too great a length. He then reviewed the act of a previous Conven-tion in admitting the Parish, which came before them with the same charter. the same government, the same usages and practices as on the last Sunday morning. He was willing now to conform to the law of the church when that law was properly and legally expressed. He did not wish the laity of the parish to suffer at all. They were not at all responsible fulfils acts, and upon him rested the responsibility of departing, if there were any departures, from the Church law. He did not, however, on this point concede the right of the Convention to try him on his doctrines or beliefs. In the matter of the services he contended that was simply following out the principles and practices of the early Church-and expressly denied that any such services had been conducted or any such doctrine taught in All aints Parish as had been charged. In onclusion, he asked the Convention to lisconnect him with the Parish and take direct vote on the question of admitting the Parish.

Mr. Cooper, resuming the floor, moved that in all future discussions the speeches be limited to ten minutes, and that the discussion relevant to All Saints Church be closed at five o'clock, the vote to be then taken. The motion was amended, limiting the speeches to live minutes, and carried.

Mr. Purviance again called for the reading of the Bishops address in reference to the matter in dispute. Rev. Mr. Thorp next obtained the floor, and corroborated the arguments might for a time conform to the rules required, get admitted into union with the Diocese, and then resume their old practices. He therefore opposed the resolution.

Mr. M. A. Woodward said the Conventage of Christianity. If these wars heretics, he expressed a wish men were heretics, he expressed a wish to be forever classed with them. Mr. Hay moved that the portion of the address referring to Christ Church, Meadville, be also read. Lost. Rev. Mr. Karcher moved for the reading of the correspondence relative to All Saints Church between the Rector of the same and the Bishop. Ruled out of

Mr. Purviance's motion was then taken up and carried.

The Bishop then read the portion of his address as desired.

Rev. Mr. Eagar thought the question rested simply upon a question as to admission of the Parish, not upon the doutrines or abything else taught in the Discose, because of non-conformity with its dootrines or usages. He wished the charges proven first, and then he could vote intelligently. If the worship and dootrines as alleged were not in accordance with the principles of the Protestant Episcopal Church he would as readily, as any member of the Convention, vote for its expulsion.

Admission provided in admission provided in the process of anything else taugus and church. The Parish applied for admission with a proper charter, agreeing to shide by all the rules of the Protestant of the Episcopal Church, and in a well respectively. its expulsion.

Mr. Hay rose to a point of order. He contended that the Rector of All Saints Church was a member of the Convention and was sione responsible for the doctines taught in the Parish, and not the members of the Parish. The Convention, therefore, could not discuss this matter pending the admission of the Parish to the Dicesse.

Rev. Mr. Ten Brocek said the arguments had thus far been made on a wrong basis. The charge of false practices had been made on a wrong basis. The charge of false practices had thus the laity, and that the Church could not after an admission into the Dicesse, reach the parish unless by expulsion. In auch a case, he compel all Saints Church to desist from the Bishop ruled the entire question the practices now, before granting it ad-able for this state of affairs. This might receipts during the year were $4,489.29; be law, but he certainly did not want it called the law of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

Mr. Toiman thought there was a discrepancy in the two resolutions offered thus far in the matter. The first in substance declared that the All Saints stance declared that the All Saints Church was not wanted in the Diocese. In making his resolution he had endeav-ored to so word it that this difficulty might be avoided, by granting authority to the Bishop to admit the Parish as soon as he was satisfied that it conformed in all respects to the discipline of the church. Mr. Brunot thought the Parish asked for admission as a corporation—Rector, Warden and vestry—and that as such, where the corporation in some of its provisions did not meet with the proper constitutional requirements, he thought the Convention might very consistently, and without injuring any one, decide uron the question at once.

Mr. E. S. Golden distinguished between the Rector and laity of a parish. and he thought the parish should not be convicted for the irregular usages and practices in doctrine of its Rector. When the parish as a corporation asked for admission, and presented a charter which was found to be in accordance with the Constitution, the request should be granted, in all justice. He was in favor of conducting things in an orderly and lawful manner. If the Rector of All Saints was on trial practices in doctrine of its Rector. When now, it was a very informal proceeding, and he did not wish to sit on such a case. Rev. Mr. Miller again claimed the loor, and stated that he had refused to obey the Bishop, because he regarded is in the light of a penal punishment.

The Bishop stated that no official admonition. in the sense of a penal punishment, had been served. The adr was simply a requirement for the future. and had no reference to the past.

Mr. Thos. M. Howe closed the debate Mr. Thos. M. Howe closed the debate with a few remarks, in which he stated that his objection to the admission of All manifested a contumacious spirit in re-fusing to receive the admonition of the Bishop. While that was the apart of the parish, for the Rector was a part of fawards the constitutional While that was the relation of the parish, towards the constitutional authorities, it would be wise to postpone the matter indefinitely. THE BALLOTING. The hour of five o'clock having arriv ed, the Bishop announced the order of the day to be the vote on the question of postponement of the subject according to Mr. Purvlance's amendment. The year

The amendment to Rule 3d in the Constitution was the first in order, proposing to insert in the rule the words "for more than one year." The rule would then read, "No Parish shall be entitled to representation in the Con-vention which shall have falled for more than one year to pay the assessmen made by the Convention." After some discussion, Mr. James M.

Cooper moved to lay the amendment on the table. Carried manimously. The second item was relative to a pream le and resolutions offered by Rev. Mr. White, at the last Convention, instructing the Finance Committee to assess the interest on the sums, rated to the noncontributing Parishes, as long as those sums remained unpaid, and that the de-ficiency needed for the maintenance of the Episcopate be assessed Parishes.
